Stephen Harper meets with the global elite.

BinkyClowner Writes: Conservative Party of Canada leader, Stephen Harper, is on the left of the picture meeting with members of the Zionist Bilderbergers. Harper resides in Canada's oil capital, Calgary, Alberta. Halliburton, Shell, Husky Oil, just about any bigwig corporation has its headquarters in Calgary.

A Call to action to bring an issue to light.

What is Stephen Harper, Leader of the Official Opposition and the Alliance Party of Canada doing at a super-secret elite meeting of the Western world's central bankers, defense experts, press barons, royalty, prime ministers, international financiers, industrialists and government officials?

Over the weekend of May 15th -18th, the annual gathering of the Bilderberg group was held at the Trianon Hotel, near Versailles, France. High level plutocrats gathered away from the public eye to discuss matters of global economic, financial and geopolitical strategy and policy. The Indymedia Norway site published an official attendance list, originally obtained by Tony Gosling of <http://www.bilderberg.org> from Richard Vadon, a BBC radio 4 correspondent who is doing a documentary of the event due out in July. Solan Gunderson of the Norwegian Indymedia site has actively covered the Bilderberg Meeting, and published the guestlist there: <http://www.indymedia.no/news/2003/05/10326.php> Until recently, the only coverage of the meeting was done by James Tucker of American Free Press, and Gunderson has published his article at <http://www.indymedia.no/news/2003/05/10176.php> The only Canadian coverage of these meetings was done by John Deverell, a business write for the Toronto Star in 1996.

"Bilderberg takes its name from the Bilderberg Hotel in Oosterbeek, Holland, where the first meeting took place in May 1954. That pioneering meeting grew out of the concern expressed by many leading citizens on both sides of the Atlantic that Western Europe and North America were not working together as closely as they should on matters of critical importance. It was felt that regular, off-the-record discussions would help create a better understanding of the complex forces and major trends affecting Western nations in the difficult post-war period "Source:

<http://www.nexusmagazine.com/Bilderbergers.html>

The 2003 guest list includes names such as David Rockefeller, Richard Perle, Klaus Schwab (World Economic Forum), Henry Kissinger, the King and Queen of Spain, Paul Wolfowitz and a host of other bankers, corporate heads and royalty. Some Canadians in attendance included Conrad Black, Mark Steyn (National Post) Heather Reisman (Chapters-Indigo), Anthony Fell (RBC Dominion Securities) and Stephen Harper, Leader of the Opposition. Other past Canadian participants, as shown in the guestlists posted at <http://www.bilderberg.org>, have included Ralph Klein, Paul Martin, Preston Manning and Jean Chretien.

Pepe Escobar's article for the Asia Times http://www.atimes.com/atimes/Middle\_East/EE22Ak03.html highlights several important points concerning the elite group. Specifically, they do not invite leaders from Latin America, the Middle East or Asia. The Bilderberg meetings are a king-making process, as Tony Blair and Bill Clinton showed themselves at the annual meetings in the years leading up to their elections. Escobar also suggests that the Bilderberg meeting is where the G8 agenda is formulated; hence, the G8 is turned merely into a rubber-stamping mechanism for policy formed by individuals meeting in the capacities of private persons. If this is the case, then protestors are railing against a dead duck.

Several Canadians who have attended in the past include Ralph Klein, Preston Manning, Paul Martin and Jean Chretien. Klein's attendance was reported in the May 29, 1995 issue of the Report <http://www.bilderberg.org/cocktail.htm> [One can only speculate that Harper's appearance has been due in part to his pro-war stance, a reward from Conrad Black or other Neo-conservatives in Washington.]

These meetings are suffering an absolute blackout in the Canadian presses, as the editors of the Globe and Mail, National post and CanWest all have affiliations with this secretive group. Part of the problem is that, in order to gain admission to the club, one has to pledge secrecy.

Most Canadians have never heard of the Bilderberg group, let alone realize the significance of Mr. Harper's attendance at the meeting. For a good background reading, please see <http://www.nexusmagazine.com/Bilderbergers.html> Perhaps the global elite have their bets placed on a sharp 'right' turn in the upcoming federal election.

[I might add a few historical notes about the origins of the Bilderberg meeting in 1952 under the visionary leadership of Joseph Retinger who with Prince Bernard of the Netherlands, whose vision was to great a supernational powerful organization to unite the world in peace. Except that the group has no form of accountability to the people of their respective nations.

Finally, several questions are worth note:

- Did Mr. Harper attend the meeting in the Capacity of a private individual or a public person?
- Who paid for his trip?
- How does his hobnobbing with the elite and neo-conservatives like Richard Perle square with his grassroots support base?
- If past Bilderberg meetings have made "kings" of Bill Clinton and Tony Blair, what are the expectations are the plans of the Bilderbergers for Steven Harper?
- How will the Bilderberg agenda impact his policy making?
- Does Mr Harper want Canada's political agenda to be set by Canadians, or by the global plutocrats?

Please call your local MP and have the address this issue publicly.

BinkyClowner writes: Harper was the last leader of the Canadian Alliance Party which was formerly headed by Stockwell Day, a Christian whose career and run for Prime Minister was sabotaged by the Jewish controlled Canadian media racket.

Stockwell Day & Holocaust "Denial"

On November 14th, Liberal (Canada's ruling party) Immigration Minister Elinor Caplan stated that Stockwell Day's Canadian Alliance Party has supporters who "are Holocaust deniers, prominent bigots and racists." She added that "You can tell who a person is by the people who support him." Caplan's rant was a response to the recent endorsement of the Canadian Alliance at a meeting held by a group lead by lawyer Doug Christie of British Columbia. Caplan applied some syllogistic reasoning and came up with the Stockwell Day/Canadian Alliance=Doug Christie/Holocaust deniers/bigots equation. The controversy has been playing itself out in the media for several days and has contributed to making this one of the ugliest election campaigns in Canadian history.

Some people think Stockwell was pro Zionist...I believe he is anti-Zionist.

Christie is one of the most maligned figures in Canada, largely because he's by far the biggest thorn in the side of Canada's censorship-happy crowd. He has very capably defended the freedoms of a host of politically incorrect people, including a number of Holocaust revisionists (Ernst Zundel, James Keegstra and Malcolm Ross). His main agenda is to get the western provinces out of the Canadian federation. This would permit the autonomous region to determine its own immigration policy, dump anti-majoritarian measures such as multiculturalism, official bilingualism, and the repressive "hate laws," and also abolish the vengeful "anti-racism" and "human rights" industries. It would also spell an end to having to deal with the constitutional demands of the primarily French province of Quebec, something that unfairly consumes an enormous amount of time, money and energy. Christie has also made it very clear that the assault upon European traditions would come to an abrupt halt in the new country (don't count on any "Holocaust Act" coming anywhere near the legislature!). If successful, this would make him the architect of North America's first formal European ethnostate, something that might develop into a trend. No wonder they're so scared of him.

Election.com has had other problems. In January 2003, during Canada's New Democratic Party leadership convention, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation reported, "Earl Hurd of Election.com said he believes someone used a "denial of service" program to disrupt the voting – paralyzing the central computer by bombarding it with a stream of data"...service was restored, then... "Toronto city councilor Jack Layton's victory on the first ballot surprised many, who had expected a second or even third round of voting before a leader was chosen from the pack of six candidates."

For election security experts, a strong and growing suspicion is that computer glitches or disruptions are actually vote rigging. A surprise election result should raise a red flag.

One could draw that conclusion. Here is BC, election "reform" is still a Liberal initiative even though it has been defeated at the polls. They are pushing the STV, a system that has already been tried here (in 1952) and turned out to be so complicated to tabulate the result that they could not announce the results for three weeks. Of course, now we have computers to do all these tedious calculations for us.

Looks like they want Martin out. From what I understand Kerry was actually the Rothschild pick to run America and without the vote fraud of the upstart Bush Crime Family, he would have won. So it could be that Chretien keeping Canada out of the war in Iraq was actually toeing the Rothschild line so the great white north is in fact even more under their control than the US is.

And there is gang war in heaven.
