The Israeli government has one by one approved the establishment of new settlements in the West Bank.

Today, the government passed 117 new related projects.

This is an open violation attempt of the "Road Map," which is an international project to bring permanent peace to the Middle East, it is termed and it is anticipated to receive much reaction from Palestinians. Israel, however, continues to announce settlement enlargements.

Israeli Education Minister Limor Livnat speaking on State Radio said that the enlargement should go on, but it should be done "silently" in order not to become the target of international community.
