

Login

user: _____

pass: _____

Remember me

[register | I forgot my pass]

RU EN ES

- User Menu
- Home Page
 - «Mirror of the World»
 - Support the Site
 - Contacts
 - Iraq-War board rules
 - Articles
 - Iraq News
 - Around the World
 - Historical analysis & facts
 - Current analysis
 - Economics
 - Hot News
 - Rankings
 - Forums
 - Image Galleries

Weather

Baghdad

SA, 17/09
+41..+43 °C
NW, 3 m/s

Basrah

SA, 17/09
+40..+42 °C
NW, 3 m/s

Calendar-Filter

< Sep > < 2005 >

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30
Today

Venezuelan leader lashes at US in UN speech (added)

By: Jeff Haynes, KIM GAMEL on: 16.09.2005 [00:51] (1883 reads)

President Hugo Chavez of Venezuela displays a note calling him to terminate his speech after his five-minute allotment

Baku Today
September 16, 2005,
02: 12 gmt

(7869 bytes)

UNITED NATIONS (AFP) - Venezuela's President Hugo Chavez called the United States a "terrorist state" and said the United Nations headquarters should be moved away from New York.

Venezuela's President Hugo Chavez called the United States a "terrorist state" and said the United Nations headquarters should be moved away from New York. The outspoken Chavez littered his speech to the UN world summit with anti-US comments which were strongly applauded. The ally of Cuba's President Fidel Castro followed this up with a press conference at which he accused the US administration of supporting terrorism.

Tensions have been mounting between the United States and Venezuela for months.

President George W. Bush's government has accused Chavez of becoming a destabilizing influence in Latin America. Chavez has in turn threatened to cut off his country's valuable oil supplies to the United States.

Their dispute has been spiced up by a call from US conservative evangelist, Pat Robertson, for the United States to assassinate Chavez, a comment he later apologised for.

Chavez told the UN General Assembly that the United States was "a country that does not respect the resolutions of this assembly."

To loud applause he took up the call of Latin American revolutionary Simon Bolivar for the UN headquarters to be moved to "an international city" in the southern hemisphere.

"It is time to think about an international city," he said, just before being told that his speech had gone beyond the allotted 15 minutes for each of the 170 heads of state and government leaders at the summit.

Chavez took the opportunity to fire a new assault at the US leader, claiming that Bush had been given 20 minutes.

At a press conference after his speech, Chavez said that the United States was a "terrorist state" because of its actions in Iraq, Robertson's assassination call and for harboring Luis Posada Carriles, who is wanted for the bombing of a Cuban airliner.

"It is a terrorist state. It is a government that violates all rules and behaves shamelessly," he said.

"The United States is the champion of double standards. The United States' government defends terrorism. They talk of the fight against the terrorism, but they commit terrorism, state terrorism," said Chavez.

The Venezuelan president said the United States had used napalm in Iraq and protects Posada Carriles, who is being held in the United States on immigration charges.

The Venezuelan leader arrived in New York on Thursday morning having kept in doubt whether he would attend the summit at all.

Chavez charged Tuesday that the United States had denied visas to his security and medical teams. He also complained that his presidential jet had been ordered to an airport far from the UN building.

Stepping up the diplomatic hostilities, as Chavez arrived, the US administration released a report saying that Venezuela had "failed demonstrably" to meet its counternarcotics obligations over the past year.

link

Chavez says U.N. to move to Jerusalem

By KIM GAMEL, ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez denounced the U.S.-led war in Iraq on Thursday and told world leaders they should consider moving the U.N. headquarters out of the United States because of it.

The leftist leader said the fact that the war was fought without U.N. authorization showed that Washington has no respect for the world body.

"There were never weapons of mass destruction but Iraq was bombed, and over U.N. objections, (it was) occupied and continues being occupied," said Chavez, who appeared to step up his frequent criticism of U.S. policies in his speech to the General Assembly at a U.N. summit.

"That's why we propose to this assembly that the United Nations leave this country, which is not respectful of the very resolutions of this assembly," he said.

Allegations that Saddam Hussein had weapons of mass destruction were one of the main justifications by President Bush's administration for the war, but none have been found since the Iraqi dictator's ouster.

World leaders had been asked to speak for five minutes, and when Chavez kept talking, the presiding diplomat passed him a note that his time was up. The Venezuelan leader threw the note on the floor and said if Bush could speak for 20 minutes at Wednesday's opening session, so could he.

At the end, Chavez's remarks got what observers said was the loudest applause of the summit.

Relations between Chavez and Washington have become increasingly strained, though the United States remains the top buyer of Venezuelan oil.

Chavez, a close ally of Cuban leader Fidel Castro, repeatedly has accused the U.S. government of backing plots against him, and recently alleged Washington was preparing an invasion of his country.

U.S. officials strongly deny his claims but have expressed concerns about the health of Venezuelan democracy under Chavez, who was first elected in 1998 pledging a social "revolution" for the country's poor majority.

Bush criticized Venezuela's government earlier in the day, saying in a statement that the South American nation had "failed demonstrably" to make a concerted effort to block shipments of illicit narcotics to the United States and Europe last year.

Venezuela could have been subjected to a cutoff of U.S. assistance, but Bush decided to waive the provision because of national security interests.

A White House "statement of explanation" about Venezuela said 165 tons of cocaine moved through the country last year along with increasing quantities of heroin.

"Despite an increase in drug seizures during the past four years, it is our assessment that the government of Venezuela has not addressed the increasing use of Venezuelan territory to transport drugs to the United States," the statement said.

In early August, Chavez accused the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration of using its agents in Venezuela for espionage, and said Venezuela was suspending cooperation with the agency. The Bush administration denied the espionage charge.

Bush's designation on Thursday adds to the growing list of issues between the United States and Venezuela.

In his speech, Chavez, whose country is the world's fifth-largest oil exporter, also warned that the world is facing "an energy crisis without precedent."

In a form of oil diplomacy, Chavez has extended a preferential oil trade deal called PetroCaribe to 13 Caribbean countries in what he says is part of a plan to challenge U.S. economic domination of the region.

Under the plan, Venezuela will soon sell up to 190,000 barrels of fuel a day to countries from Jamaica to St. Lucia, offering favorable financing while shipping fuel directly to reduce costs. It is expected to help those countries save millions of dollars.

Chavez said U.N. headquarters should be moved from New York to international city "outside the sovereignty of any state," and noted that some have suggested Jerusalem.

"The new U.N. headquarters has to be in the South," which is home to most developing countries, he added.

On the eve of the summit, negotiations from the 191 U.N. member states agreed on a watered-down document for world leaders to adopt that takes some initial steps to meet U.N. development goals and reform the United Nations.

Venezuela and Cuba were the only two countries to reserve judgment on the 35-page document, which is expected to be adopted on Friday when the three-day summit ends.

Chavez said the document is "illegal" because it was delivered to Venezuelan delegates only five minutes before the summit started and only in English.

link

95 comments

Only comments

Article and comments

Comments per page 50

Hail Chavez

by eureka on 16.09.2005 [01:17]

This man is to be admired and respected; a man of honour; a leader who leads from the front; who is not afraid to call a spade a spade. It takes courage to do what is right in today's world and I want to salute you Mr Chavez for having that courage, that moral fortitude, to stand up and speak the truth.

May the remainder of your days be blessed. Viva Chavez; Viva Chavez.

Peace

International Waters

by Don Gaucho Americanus on 16.09.2005 [01:27]

The headquarters of the NEW institution that will replace the UN must be located in international waters, best in a man-made archipelago, with full jurisdiction. The UN headquarters in Usandal territory? It is like setting surgery ward in a toxic&infectious dump.

Viva Bolivar! Cruz del Sur.

Mention Chavez to the average USan

by _merk_ on 16.09.2005 [01:42]

even if that USan stands neck-deep in shit delivered personally by his government to choke him, he will say: Oh my God, you're defending a COMMUNIST? This has happened to me so many times, I've given up.

the UN is as

by verve on 16.09.2005 [01:53]

useless as tits on a bull. The Iraq war, and the lies they trotted out before it, made it complacent, every leader there was as guilty as the 'house boy' and his fake yellow cake and viles of toxins (excuse my racism, but how else do you explain him, he a supposed General, of supposed intelligence, valour and honor; prick).

hey, _merk_

by verve on 16.09.2005 [02:04]

you're jokin', right? Chavez, a communist? Are you sure they called him a communist, that's like, almost giving them credit for intelligence. Sorry, but I find it impossible to beleive that US citizens know who Chavez is, let alone his politics. Are you sure they didn't confuse the question and thought you were talking about George Lopez?

and you gotta

by verve on 16.09.2005 [02:09]

give Hugo credit, he's got big balls to walk into GW's back yard and call him/his country a 'terraist', in NY City no less, Hugo, you da man!

Verve,

by _merk_ on 16.09.2005 [02:26]

guess what, I had to google George Lopez ROFL

Most may not know exactly who Chavez is, but know that he's not approved by the FDA (ha) .. so he's gotta be something bad and un-american and "communist" is about the worst thing they can imagine.

I once spoke with a high school science teacher and mentioned Wolfowitz (when he almost got his butt blown off in Iraq) The guy asked me "Who's Wolfowitz?" The same guy had served in the first Gulf war. Yeah, there isn't much hope. But I got to be honest .. the older USan's aren't so stupid. It's just that nobody listens to them.

Lopez?

by USAn on 16.09.2005 [03:16]

Who the hell is George Lopez?

Courage or foolhardy?

by USAn on 16.09.2005 [03:21]

Sometimes I wish Chavez-Frias could be a bit more subtle with the truth.

Yeah, i know, he would just get CIA-assassinated anyway, like Torrijos and Allende did.

But, who is George Lopez?

bayside

by bayside on 16.09.2005 [03:41]

Mr. Chavez is partially correct. The USA has become, not as Mr Chavez stated as a terrorist state, but as a fascist government advancing anti-democratic terrorist (al quiada) to promote the US's own form of corporate democracy through pre-emptive invasions, restrictions on constitutional rights and secret agendas. The majority of foreign "insurgents" in Iraq and Afghanistan are from the US or the UK. And now they are in New Orleans and will soon to be in any town,city or country close to home when dissent bears her beautiful feet. It is far past time for us to march against the neo-cons, sell your US dominated stocks and force the impeachment of the shrub and his neo-cons that have destroyed the global community.

U.S. fascist

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [04:00]

quote bayside: " . . . but as a fascist government advancing anti-democratic "

Mussolini defined fascism as the merger of state and industry. In the U.S. there is such a close connection between state and corporation (Chenney and Haliburton, for example) that the U.S. can rightly be called a fascist state according to Mussoloni's definition. Besides, it seems to me that Capitalism ultimately leads to fascism before it turns the masses into serfs and then collapses from within.

The U.S. is also not democratic because the corporate influenced two parties control by diktat who shall be allowed to run for office and then the corporations dole out campaign contributions to their favorite candidate to use in the corporate owned media.

Essentially the corporations decide who runs for office and then they decide which of those few will get the best campaign publicity.

Even with its disqualifications, Iran allows more candidates to run for president than the USA.

After all that, it is not even the voters who decide who becomes president in the USA; it is the electoral college. So, the Diebold machines don't matter anyways since the last word is with the electoral college.

The USA is fascist and it is undemocratic. The evidence bears that out plainly.

Chavez and Chairman Mao

by pdove on 16.09.2005 [04:02]

I think what Chavez is to Latin/South America is what Chairman Mao is to China. I admire him, and wish him and his people all the best.

But I am fearful of his safety, as Criminal Bush will take him out at first opportunity. We know US government can do anything to achieve their goals. That is why US barred his medical and secure team.

Be Careful, Our Hero and Light.
Heaven Bless Chavez!

WOW what a turn up for end times that would be !!

by Neal on 16.09.2005 [04:44]

Look at what he says ... this is really interesting stuff.

Chavez said U.N. headquarters should be moved from New York to international city "outside the sovereignty of any state," and noted that some have suggested "Jerusalem".

What was just said???

Venezuela's President Hugo Chavez has here acknowledged that Jerusalem in not within the boarders of any sovereign state.

How do we know this is true?

Because Israel is not a recognised legal state, it has no constitution therefore no law, Israel does not exist, and it cannot exist without a constitution and cannot have a constitution because it has "floating borders" ... that is to say the borders of Israel are not defined and without defined borders a nation cannot exist or have a constitution.

Want to look at "why that WALL?" again in this light??

It's simply Zionist using witchcraft in an attempt to force the existence of a state to their satanic Babylonian god.

Now to the article itself ... to have the "Head of The Beast" (spoken of in the book of Revelation) set up in Jerusalem would be oh so interesting ... especially as the EX American president "Clinton" will be the next Head of the UN/Beast.

That would put the UN /Beast with one of the anti-christs (All US Presidents have been anti-christs, Clinton and Bush will be the last) sitting right in Jerusalem ruling the world under the Iron Boots of the Roman Empire.

(Excuse me conductor, I'd like to exit the earth at the earliest convenience, I don't mind jumping)

A new look at my One World Government page (http://iron-clay.cloudnine.net.nz/one_world_government.html) and tell me I'm wrong now.

Great pressure for change in the UN is well under way .. and with very good grounds ... so good it looks like a setup...

Now this hasn't happened YET, but has support ... we should be watchful at this move.

Neal

Iranian-Shi'ite

by boardman on 16.09.2005 [04:49]

. . . the Mussolini brand of fascism — committee rule by the state, big business and labor — appears to be morphing toward a new triumvirate --- the state, big business and the media! (Organized labor in the USA has been decimated by decades of attacks, both within and from without, and is no longer a major factor.)

Joseph Goebbels' created much of the propaganda machine which became the model for those media tyrants succeeding him; however, the greatest unintended consequence in history — the internet — may yet save the day.

Bob

ps: Pray for Chavez

Thank's Again Mr. Chavez!

by Rubber on 16.09.2005 [06:26]

'*World leaders had been asked to speak for five minutes, and when Chavez kept talking, the presiding diplomat passed him a note that his time was up. The Venezuelan leader threw the note on the floor and said if Bush could speak for 20 minutes at Wednesday's opening session, so could he.

At the end, Chavez's remarks got what observers said was the loudest applause of the summit.*

And I am applauding him, right now!

I would like to nominate Hugo Chavez for President of all of America!!

Relocate

by Mike-Malaysia on 16.09.2005 [06:34]

OK, It'll stop the Unites Sheiks from eing able to refuse Visas and intimidate people. I think a central African state / middle east state would be a good place for it. Its 'kinda' central. Perhaps Itan?

Chavez

by spartacus11 on 16.09.2005 [07:58]

Im surprised at South America's history of producing once in a while the most admired revolutionary minds. Hugo Chavez is one of these few people.

God Bless the Guy and protect him. Salute!

Chavez is Pro-American

by profile on 16.09.2005 [09:52]

Hugo Chavez is Pro the American People and admires America(U.S Constitution-Bill of Rights). Chavez is Anti-U.S Administration and the Colonialism which has come with the Administrations the last 50 years.

Chavez made a speech which i remember was placed on this website some 6 months previous.The Words were.

"America is No Longer America,America is an Occupied Nation and the Good American People Need To Liberate their Own Country".

What happened then was that Chavez has booted out RDP Royal Dutch Shell owned by Holland/Belgium.Taken back Land owned by Non Venezuelans which was held mainly by Europeans.Then introduced his own T.V Station Telesur.With This Hugo Chavez words were."Latin America needs to get away from Euro-Vision dominating L.A".That was a direct pop at Europe.As were the land seizures/booting out EU conglomerates and U.S Ones.

@Neal

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [09:56]

...A new look at my One World Government page and tell me I'm wrong now...

I wonder why Bible prophecy is such a rage among you anglosaxons. In Bizanitim the national intellectual sport was discussing the sex of angels, i don't know which o th 2,000 factions had it right.

Concerning biblic prophecy, your 2,001 version of a Bible-based future might just as well be the right one. It's a number game and as the crowd of wanna-be Bible luminaries increases some fool necessarily gets lucky and takes his luck for an intellectual accomplishment. We'll se if it's you the one. Good luck!

profile anti-EU lies again

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [10:01]

... Hugo Chavez is Pro the American People and admires America(U.S Constitution-Bill of Rights)...

Hugo Chavez never approved a US Constitution written by slave owners to protect their "rights". If this is your interpretation of his words ..America is No Longer America,America is an Occupied Nation... then you are totally wrong!

...Taken back Land owned by Non Venezuelans which was held mainly by Europeans...

if the main losers are Europeans as you pretend, then how come all the noise and threats come forn the United Sodomites of AmeriKKKa? You're lying through your teeth again, profile.

The US Constitution

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [10:09]

When the US Constitution was written, slaveowners not only insisted that their right to own slaves be guaranteed. They insisted on being politically rewarded for practicing slavery. The Founding Fathers, the most eminent of them being slaveowners themselves, obliged. They created a federal system in which slaves were treated as property, not human beings, except for certain explicitly defined political purposes. In those cases, and those cases only, our Founding Fathers decided, would slaves be treated as human beings-though only partial ones. As the very first article of the US Constitution put it, each state's representation in the House of Representatives "shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other Persons."

That "three-fifths of all other Persons" provision of the US Constitution meant that the more slaves a state had, the more members of Congress it got. How many more? The US Constitution set up a mathematical formula right out of grade-school arithmetic class. Count up all your slaves, boys and girls. Now multiply them by three, and divide by five, and there is your answer.

Chavez Words

by profile on 16.09.2005 [10:38]

Chavez less than a month ago made a speech part of that speech read."Venezuela will Never Become Anyones Colony Again".

Those Words bring right into play Spains/Portugals (Europes) historical Colonisation and abuse of L.A people.Pit those words together with Chavez Saying "Venezuela/L.A need to get away from Euro-Vision in L.A".Along with Words "America is No longer America,America is an occupied Country and the good America people Need to Liberate their own Country."

All of the above are just words,But look at Chavezs Actions which accompany those words. Created the L.A independant T.V media company Telesur.Booted out RDP Shell and other European/Companies and Retook unused land owned by Europeans (Non Venezuelans).

Those are all tell tale signs of what Chavez really thinks what is going on.

profile licks US boot again

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [10:48]

...Those Words bring right into play Spains/Portugals (Europes) historical Colonisation and abuse of L.A people...

Wrong again, profile, the United Sodomites of AmeriKKKa consider Venezuela a colony of theirs, the United Sodomites of AmeriKKKa consider it has property rights on Venezuelan oil, the United Sodomites of AmeriKKKa organized and financed a "coup d'état" against Chavez that went sour... so why do you hide those facts of the present and try to sell us a Spanish colonial picture that belongs to the 19th century instead?

Let's se the opinion o the readers

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [10:56]

profile thinks Latin America is a colony of Europe, not of the United Sodomites of AmeriKKKa. He believes the CIA is run from Paris, and the Death Squads in Guatemala run from Madrid. Profile also thinks Spain bombed Chile's presidential palace killing elected President Allende to make room for Pinochet. Europe must be destroyed, preferably by China's warehouse nukes. What do you people think?

Xuma:

by profile on 16.09.2005 [10:58]

So Xuma:Why has Chavez Booted out European companies ? Why ?
Why has Chavez Re-patriated Venezuelan land that are owned by Europeans ? Why ?

The U.S is most certainly part of the problem in L.A but obviously not the whole problem in Chavezs mind.

Because Chavez would NEVER have booted out European companies and repatriated Venezuelan land owned by Europe,would he.?

NO Xuma,Chavez would not have done that,if Chavez thought Europe was NO problem for Venezueal and L.A.But Chavez like many L.A Leaders Understand their own countries History.Europe Historically abused L.A,which No doubt is why Chavez is acting the way he is.

profile needs to address his pro-US bias

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [11:07]

...The U.S is most certainly part of the problem in L.A but obviously not the whole problem in Chavezs mind. ...

Wrong, the United Sodomites of AmeriKKKa are MOST of the problem, that's why Chavez is LASHING AT THE USA (read the title and the article) and not at Europe as you pretend to make us believe.

Certainly there are European multinationals exploiting Latin America, but they are not backed up by MILITARY THREATS AND MILITARY PRESENCE as the US multinationals are. The US threat is real, the European threat exists only in your hateful mind.

always takiing blame off the US back

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [11:20]

profile''s moves on this board always lead to the same result: shift the blame from the US/UK/Israel to EU-RUssia-China, in the face of obvious accusations like the ones voiced by Chavez.

Profile pretends he admires Hugo Chavez, but then he shows up here and presents him (like he does with China) as an enemy of Europe with a "secret" love for the US people.

more profile's hogwashing of the USA

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [11:27]

...Because Chavez would NEVER have booted out European companies and repatriated Venezuelan land owned by Europe, would he.? ...

this is more of your BullShit, Chavez issued a law that gave land owners a period of time to pput unproductive land back into production, and confiscate the land if they didn't. Most of those who didn't and lost their land were VENZUELANS themselves, not Europeans as you want us to believe. Why do you constantly lie, profile, and why does the US image always benefit from your lying?

Xuma:EXPLAIN

by profile on 16.09.2005 [11:35]

Xuma: EXPLAIN WHY Chavez of Venezuela has Booted out of Venezuela certain European Companies and repatriated all Venezuela fallow land owned by Europe.? Explain it ?

EXPLAIN THIS TO ME ? (YOU CANT).Because you fail too open your eyes and see what is really going on.The facts/events speak for themselves.Chavez tars Europe the same as it does the U.S.The Facts/Events and Outcome of Chavezs Policies SHOW this.and it is OBVIOUS.

profile explain this

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [11:42]

...EXPLAIN WHY ...

Chavez issued laws that EVERYONE had to follow. The interesting thing is that even if the interests of US owners, European owners, Asian owners, African owners or Oceania owners were hurt in the process... all of them respected Venezuela's policies EXCEPT THE GODDAM USA... even though ever continent got hurt, it is ONLY THE UNITED SODOMITES OF AMERIKKKA who are issuing the THREATS.. explain that, mothr.fkr!

European imperialism

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [12:57]

Europe was practicing imperialism up until the time that France was booted out of Algeria and Indonesia.

Since then, most of the international imperialism is coming from the U.S. with England riding on its tail.

However, I do think that Washington often takes its orders from Tel-Aviv.

Chavez admires the U.S. constitution

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [13:02]

Well, I also admire the U.S. constitution and the Bill of Rights. That doesn't mean that I'm pro-USA. The problem is that those excellent documents are applied prejudicially and selectively.

The same holds for the Bible and the Quran. They are excellent documents (authored by God) but some of the people who apply them do so incorrectly and narrow-mindedly.

sorry Xuma

by verve on 16.09.2005 [13:05]

but the USA is a colony of Britian, so by extention, a colony of Europe. Treaties signed in the 1600s, the 1700s the 1800s the 1900s between the USA Britian and various European states still are in effect today. Only BRAINDEAD yanks believe they live in a 'free' country, the dumb fucks haven't a clue how much of their money (their begging hat in hand right now) goes to the Rothchild coffers of Europe. Once a colony, always a colony. See: Argentina, re. the Faulklands. They may publicly remove her from figurehead status, as a publicity move to calm the freed massesd, but her fucking head is on every goddamn coin in the realm. Go figure, eh. And though her head ain't on any US coins, she still gets her share of every penny spent there. See; Wall Street. Who bought Enron's US assets? BP. Who owns BP?. You need to do more research on WHO controls the US's purse strings, and it ain't Yanks.

@profile. The land Chavez gave to the poor was state land, he did not expropriate any land from private owners, European or otherwise. And he isn't booting oil companies, he raised the net exporting tax from something like 4% to 16%.

boardman

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [13:09]

The U.S. Capitalist Fascists were finally able to break the backs of the labor unions in the U.S. when they outsourced U.S. jobs to poorer countries. The syndicates had nothing left to bargain with after that. If they made a general strike, the big bosses could just close the factory in Michigan and re-open it in Mexico. The U.S. workers then had to beg the big bosses to oppress them so that they wouldn't starve.

The media talking heads then told the workers that the workers' poverty was because of the workers' laziness and that workers should just lift themselves up by their own bootstraps and stop blaming others for their problems (a favorite guilt tactic of Capitalists).

The workers were alienated from their labor, and then made to feel proud of the nation that alienated them, and then made to feel guilt for their own poverty.

That is the power of the media in modern Capitalist fascist societies.

Verve

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [13:17]

Good point about Chavez giving away stateland.

But just because BP bought Enron's assets doesn't seem to say much considering that China bought IBM's PC capability. That doesn't evince that China controls the USA.

And treaties signed over the centuries go both ways. Remember, it was the U.S. military in Western European bases; and it was Western Europeans who were begging Kennedy to protect them from Kruschev during the Cuban missile crisis.

@verve

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [13:30]

...the USA is a colony of Britian, so by extention, a colony of Europe...

The extension you propose of Britain = Europe is unacceptable, since the UK is the main force opposing European integration and the UK is in no way representative of the rest of Europe.

USA is a colony of Britain, full stop, USA/UK/Israel is one entity, the Zionist entity.

@ Iranian-Shi'ite

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [13:33]

...The same holds for the Bible and the Quran. They are excellent documents (authored by God)...

I don't know about the Quran, but the Bible is a selective collection of books written by men, and the selection was done by a Roman emperor and its final composition voted in the council of Trento. I can't see divine intervention in there, but rather a sectarian struggle between catholics and other contemporary competing religions like Mitraism.

To Iranian-Shi'ite...

by kamau on 16.09.2005 [13:41]

...U.S. fascist
by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 00:00.

You hit the nail onthe head, brother!!! Keep it up!

To Iranian-Shi'ite...

by kamau on 16.09.2005 [13:41]

...U.S. fascist
by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 00:00.

You hit the nail on the head, brother!!! Keep it up!

PS...

by kamau on 16.09.2005 [13:42]

...sorry for the double posting.

The U.S. a colony of Europe?

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [13:45]

One would have never guessed that from Thomas Jefferson's purchase of the Louisiana territory from Napoleon Bonaparte; or from Mckinley's invasions of Spanish territory in Cuba, the Philippines, and Guam; or from the huge debts that England owed to the U.S. from the two world wars.

Also, oppression of Latin America has in recent decades been more of a U.S. act.

Support of the Nicaraguan Contras and the mining of Nicaraguan harbors was under the Reagan oppression era.

Invasion of Noriega's Panama was under Bush the Senior. Noriega was installed into power by the U.S. to begin with. The Panama story seemed like a miniture Iraq.

The Bay of Pigs invasion was done under the Kennedy administration. Support of the Batista bastard came from the USA.

While Europe may have traditionally oppressed Latin America, it appears to me that most of the modern oppression of Latin America has come from the USA.

Xuma

by Iranian-Shi'ite on 16.09.2005 [13:51]

Yes, the Rabbis did decide which books would be canonical for the Torah; and Constantines pro-Athunasiats Bishops did decide which books would be canonical and which books would be apocryphal in the council of Nicea in 325 A.D.. They chose books that opposed the Arian heresy.

And yes, the Gnositics, the Trinitarians, and other Christian sects in the first century did alter the writings to suit their own theology.

So, there was much orthodox corruption of scripture in the Torah and the New-Testament.

But I say that they were authored by God because despite the centuries corruption, much of the original message still remains in my opinion.

Of course these stories can also be found in pre-Biblical epics such as Gilgamesh; but I think that is only because God needed to communicate to people based on stories that they were already familiar with.

@ Iranian-Shi'ite

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [13:57]

...I think that is only because God needed to communicate to people based on stories that they were already familiar with...

funny explanation, as if deus-ex-machina could explain anything. The weak point in your theories that imaginary entity where people dump anything they can't explain or feel too lazy to investigate. Those stories are similar because of the simple fact that sects that share the same geographical location copy one another. The same phenomenon happens in America, where all indian nations share similar stories. This does not prove the existance of gods or tooth fairies.

What was voted out of the Bible

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [14:02]

The books the Council of Trento voted out of the Bible were gospels depicting the human side of Jesus, like he having kids with Mary Magdalene and such. The Catholics wanted him to be divine, therefore labelled Magdalene a prostitute and banned those gospels out of the Biblical mess. Hardly a work of any god.

To Verve (Land seizures)

by profile on 16.09.2005 [14:03]

Here is a link of Land Seizures by Venezuela of European land holdings. It is regarding one farm. That list if you do some digging, goes on and on. Chavez is MOST certainly redistributing European land holdings in Venezuela.

<http://washingtontimes.com/world/20050913-120234-4781r.htm>

LOL @ profile

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [14:09]

... Here is a link of Land Seizures by Venezuela of European land holdings...

LOL ... it was a BRITISH farm!

Mr. Roja is one of the hundreds of rural poor who have been awarded 15-hectare (37-acre) lots from the El Charcote cattle ranch — a British-owned, 32,000-acre tract that was recently expropriated by the government.

how cool of profile to use Britain to smear the Europeans... everybody except profile is aware that Britain is the main obstacle to the European Union, so much that there's talk in the EU about kicking the British out...

Britain is also a member of the inseparable Zionist Entity USA/UK/Israel.

Lie and spin profile mothr.fkr!

Xuma Idiot.

by profile on 16.09.2005 [14:14]

BRITAIN CREATED THE European Union along with France+Germany. Those 3 Countries RUN Europe. Britain+France were the Founding members of the U.N.

Britain is a European Country NOT an African or Asian one.

to the mongoloid

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [14:16]

... Britain is a European Country NOT an African or Asian one...

Russia is both European and Asian, and you seem to come from Outer Mongolia paraphrasing our mongoloid...

by Xuma100 on 16.09.2005 [14:20]

... Britain is a Trojan Horse too the EU, the moment the EU has an issue With the USA Britain stabs the EU In The Back, there is no way for France and Germany not too Know who Their enemy Is...

... LOL

Xuma

by profile on 16.09.2005 [14:32]

Russia is a Colonial Country. Russia is NOT Asian, that land that holds Asians it was Stolen by Russia by Colonial Conquest.

That area around Siberia is Hu, Manchu and Mongol which are Sino Races Not Caucasian. Around 1840 Colonial Russia took by force those lands From CHINA. And CHINA will want that back in the future. Russia may look at that land as Russian, the Chinese will see that land Stolen from them by Russia.

In the same way Russia joined the war against Japan 4 days before the End of WW2 and then Stole 4 Islands off Japan, The Japanese will want those Islands back at some stage.

Russia is a Colonial Country,the land it has stolen in the past was from Colonial Conquest.

Page: 1/2 [next]
1 2

Posting comments:

You should be registered AND logged in user to post comments here.

Min	Max
24712	27963

