

Subscribe to Print Edition | Sun., May 08, 2005 Nisan 29, 5765

Israel Time: 21:29 (EST+8)

HAARETZ.com

Back to Homepage

Search site

Know. No
Haaretz Arc
Click Her

ForWhat's
Go
UNDERGRO

Print Edition Diplomacy Defense Opinion National Arts & Leisure Anglo File Sports Q&A
Magazine Week's End Travel Business Underground Jewish World Real Estate Shopping Singles

Odigo says workers were warned of attack

By Yuval Dror

Odigo, the instant messaging service, says that two of its workers received messages two hours before the Twin Towers attack on September 11 predicting the attack would happen, and the company has been cooperating with Israeli and American law enforcement, including the FBI, in trying to find the original sender of the message predicting the attack.

Micha Macover, CEO of the company, said the two workers received the messages and immediately after the terror attack informed the company's management, which immediately contacted the Israeli security services, which brought in the FBI.

"I have no idea why the message was sent to these two workers, who don't know the sender. It may just have been someone who was joking and turned out they accidentally got it right. And I don't know if our information was useful in any of the arrests the FBI has made," said Macover. Odigo is a U.S.-based company whose headquarters are in New York, with offices in Herzliya.

As an instant messaging service, Odigo users are not limited to sending messages only to people on their "buddy" list, as is the case with ICQ, the other well-known Israeli instant messaging application.

Odigo usually zealously protects the privacy of its registered users, said Macover, but in this case the company took the initiative to provide the law enforcement services with the originating Internet Presence address of the message, so the FBI could track down the Internet Service Provider, and the actual sender of the original message.

Today Online

The pullout and Israel's defeat in the Palestinian uprising
Responses: 38

Israel's image: Can PR 'pros' help?
Responses: 32

Blocking the road map by demanding PA confiscate guns
Responses: 31

Print

Send to a friend

Send response

More Headlines

21:19 Mac TA beats Tau for 2nd Euroleague title in 2 years

20:51 Mofaz approves administrative detention for rightist activist

21:25 Israel freezes release of 400 Palestinian prisoners

21:11 Pollard says U.S. jailers tortured him, asks to be Prisoner of Zion

16:56 Comptroller: Israel's greatest threat - government corruption

18:08 Iranian hard-liners say nuclear talks with Europeans futile

18:14 Panel okays easing Israeli-Palestinian family unification criteria

Previous Editions

Select Day

Home | Print Edition | Diplomacy | Opinion | Arts & Leisure | Sports | Jewish World | Underground |

Special Offer

Advertisement

Study in Israel
Study for your B.A. in Israel in English. Scholarships available

One click away
The Ultimate Mission in Israel

Connect with Ameinu
Support peace, social justice & a progressive Israel. Click >>

Shopping Service
New for Haaretz readers: top Israeli brands on our site. Go >>

10million.org
We'll give you $10 million if you give us information leading to Ron Arad's secrecy assured.