BUSH KILLED JFK Jr, by "jfkii.com"

The report of the National Transportation Safety Board came out on August 8, 2000, 13 months after the plane crash of JFK Jr. It contradicts many of the lies pushed in the media. For example, the L.A. Times reported,

"The accident that killed Kennedy was caused by an inexperienced pilot ...the NTSB concluded in its final report" (LA TIMES, 7/7/00, page 1).

In fact, the NTSB report shows that Kennedy was highly experienced (he had more than enough hours for an instructor's license), he was described by his trainers as "excellent", "methodical", and "very cautious." (NTSB report, page 3) The media say the visibility was poor. But the NTSB quotes the Tower manager at Martha's Vineyard, where the plane went down, saying that there were "stars out" and visibility was "between 10 and 12 miles" (NTSB report, page 5). Why did the media lie? Why have they always lied about the murder of his father?

Was John Kennedy Jr. murdered? Judge for yourself.

1) The rescue : This is enormously important.

FAA radar tracked Kennedy's plane crash. The U.S. Coast Guard has reported that Kennedy contacted the tower on his final approach.

THIS IS ENORMOUSLY IMPORTANT!!! It means they would have known his plane was going down before it hit the water. FAA regulations require that a search begin immediately when a plane reports itself on final approach and does not land within 5 minutes. Yet it took them 14½ hours to send the first planes and boats to Martha's Vineyard.

"Time gaps in early hours of search are beyond explanation" Jack Sullivan and David Talbot (Boston Herald, 7/20/99 )
WHY?

2) the plane: Kennedy's plane had autopilot, capable of flying itself to within 100 feet of the airport. All a "cautious and methodical" pilot had to do was sit back and let the plane fly itself. (NTSB report, page 18)

3) the sabotage: Kennedy's plane had a black box. No other private non-jet plane on earth had one. He knew they wanted to kill him and he wanted to make it hard. The NTSB, says the battery had been removed, destroying all record of conversation in the cockpit. (NTSB page 10)

All planes have an Emergency Locator Transmitter (ELT), which sends out a beacon signal in case of a crash. It took 5 days to locate Kennedy's plane. Why? Was it missing? Disabled? The report says nothing.

According to the NTSB report, the fuel valve had been turned to OFF (NTSB report, page 12). This valve had a safety device on it so that it could not accidentally be turned to OFF. Turning it off during flight would be suicide, since at top speed, the engine will die in 45 seconds!! Because the results are potentially deadly, the valve cannot be turned by accident. A safety-release button must be pushed down and held while turning the valve. This piece of evidence is the smoking gun. It is positive proof of foul play.

Was Kennedy committing suicide? If he wasn't, there can scarcely be any question but that he was murdered. So who turned the valve? Read on.

Kennedy's flight logbook is missing. (NTSB report, page 2) This will be seen as critical in one minute, because the logbook would have recorded the presence of a flight instructor on the plane.

The media talked about a "graveyard spiral" and various forms of disorientation. The NTSB report describes Kennedy's plane making two mild explainable maneuvers; and then the plane plunged drastically to the right and plummeted straight down, crashing 2600 feet in 45 seconds. It sounds like someone grabbed the controls and suddenly shoved the plane into the water. But this description of a suicide plunge is consistent with the "suicide" position of the fuel valve.

4) The flight instructor:

All of the early reports said there was a flight instructor on the plane (e.g. The New York Times, Saturday July 17, 1999). Then the flight instructor disappeared from the reports. Kennedy very rarely flew at night without a flight instructor. Out of 310 hours of flight time, and 55 hours at night, he had only 45 minutes at night without an instructor. He was very cautious. He had his wife on board. It is almost unthinkable that he would not have taken an instructor.

5) Egypt Air 990 :

Two months later Egyptian Air flight 990, with 30 of the highest ranking members of the Egyptian military on board, crashed. (It was big news for several days. The pilot's family and the Egyptian government objected to the NTSB finding that the pilot was committing suicide. "He was happily married. Moslems don't commit suicide" etc.) This pilot had walked into the cockpit, said, "Allah help me", grabbed the controls, and tried to force the plane to crash. Three other pilots, grabbed him, and there was a struggle; he gave up, turned around, and he turned the fuel valve OFF.

Both pilots, Kennedy's flight instructor and the Egyptian, were programmed, using hypnosis or other mind control, to act in exactly the same way. The CIA has settled lawsuits by victims of their mind control experiments, the MK Ultra program.

One of the physicians, Dr. John Gittinger, Chief Psychologist of the CIA, tortured by his conscience, has come forward to expose the existence of these programs and their purpose: to create walking, pre-programmed human time bombs, set to go off on cue, taking out their intended victim.

Kennedy's emergency locator was removed, the cockpit recorder was disabled, the flight log was taken, and the body of the flight instructor was removed. (But they forgot to return the fuel valve to ON!!) They delayed the rescue 14 hours to do it. They were waiting in the water for the plane to crash. Who was? Who indeed?

But why would anyone want to kill John Kennedy Jr.?

He was planning to run for National office according to Newsweek and People. He told friends he would have run for Senate in New York, but let Hillary Clinton run instead. And he would have won. He was the most popular man in the US. And for good reason. He was a great guy. But he was the only Kennedy to ever acknowledge a conspiracy in his father's death. He not only acknowledge it, he published an article by Oliver Stone, in his magazine, George, about assassination, conspiracies, and lying history books. Who would want to kill him? The people who killed his father had to kill him. Kennedy Jr. was going to go after them.

So, who killed his father? George Herbert Walker Bush. There's a ton of evidence at JFKII.com Here's some.

(If somebody tells you Lee Harvey Oswald did it, show them the Zapruder film. Abraham Zapruder was standing on the sidewalk filming when Kennedy got his brains blown out the back of the limousine. Oswald was in back. The shot had to have come from in front. It is very very obvious. You can find the Zapruder film at JFKII it's also in the last twenty minutes of the movie, JFK, and it is available for $20 at Amazon.com. Nobody can watch it with you and tell you Oswald acted alone! Try it.)

Bush didn't pull the trigger, but he supervised E. Howard Hunt, who did.

1) E. Howard Hunt: Hunt was the leader of the Watergate burglars, a band of CIA-funded Miami-based anti-Castro Cuban terrorists and assassins. In 1978, Spotlight magazine published an article saying that Hunt was in Dallas the day JFK died and had murdered Kennedy. Hunt sued and lost!! The jury decided he did it. (Mark Lane, Plausible Denial, 1991, Thundermouth Press, page 332)

2) Five days after the Kennedy assassination, J Edgar Hoover, the head of the FBI, signed a memo PART A and memo PART B, naming "George Bush of the Central Intelligence Agency" as an apparent supervisor of the bands of CIA-funded Miami-based anti-Castro Cuban terrorists and assassins. Bush acknowledges the memo is real. The title of the memo is

"Assassination of President John F. Kennedy". Why would J. Edgar Hoover name it that?

3) George de Mohrenschildt was an important witness in the first Kennedy assassination. He got Lee Harvey Oswald the job in the School Book Depository. He was murdered the day he was supposed to testify about the assassination. Found in his phone book were George Bush's name, and Bush's company name.

4) There is every indication that Bush recruited Hunt for the Watergate burglaries. Bush set up the slush fund that paid $1,000,000 in bribes to the burglars, his friends contributed the money, and he laundered it.

What about George W. Bush? Was he there?

Kennedy's plane went into the sea at 10:00 on Friday night, July 16, 1999. Bush was involved in a heated campaign, which he was losing in New Hampshire. He was constantly in public and constantly surrounded by reporters, so it's easy to figure out where he was. Right?

Wrong! According to the Omaha World Herald (7/17/99), on July 16th Bush was flipping pancakes Friday morning in Des Moines, but he boarded a bus and disappeared for the entire weekend. On Saturday, July 18th, reporters looking for a comment from Bush confronted a fumbling spokesperson who was unable to say when Bush would be available for comment. (Newsday, 7/19/99, A19)

Bush finally called a press conference on Monday, to offer condolences.

Do you think this evidence is too weak to accuse Bush of murder? As George would say, "We got more than enough here to hang a feller in Texas." George, you're our feller.

By involving himself in Kennedy's murder, George W. Bush was living out the legacy of his father and his father's father.

George Bush Sr. has always denied that he ever worked for the CIA before 1976 when he became its director. But the direct and circumstantial evidence of his membership in the CIA is powerful and plentiful, and his reason for denying his membership is critical to understanding the enormity of his evil.

George Bush Sr. was secretly active in the CIA 12 years before becoming the head of CIA. The evidence for that begins with his membership in Skull and Bones.

Skull and Bones is a secret society on the Yale campus. Since the early part of this century, the men of the Bush family, have belonged. It is famous for its celebration of racism, deception, cowardice, and death: They meet, twice a week, in a tomb, to engage in black rituals using skulls, candles, and ceremonial group masturbation. Fun stuff. It's also a museum.

George W's grandfather, Prescott Bush, led a group who raided Geronimo's grave. The skull is on display here. They also have Poncho Villa's skull. They target the heroes of the people. It is a very safe bet that they have JFK's brain, which was stolen from the National Archives.

They celebrate evil. Their graduate division, known as The Patriarchs, are powerful within the CIA, and much of the world. They are powerful devils. (The New Yorker, Nov. 27, 1989, page 108)

<http://www.rhombus.com/artvt/artvt/56skullandbones.htm>

It was through Skull and Bones, and his father's connections, that George Bush Sr. was recruited to the CIA in 1960 or 1961. The idea for an organization like the CIA originated in 1945 with the recommendations of a War Department committee on post World War II intelligence. The Lovett committee was chaired by Robert Lovett, a business partner and neighbor of Prescott Bush. In 1960, the head of the CIA was a close business associate of Prescott Bush, Alan Dulles. Dulles negotiated many agreements between Bush's businesses and the Nazis. There are a number of warm letters between them (e.g. March 19, 1934; September 22, 1937, in the W. Averell Harriman papers in the Library of Congress).

George Bush Sr.'s membership in Skull and Bones is relatively well-known (e.g. The New Yorker, Nov. 27, 1989, p.108) From 1948 on, the year George Sr. graduated, the CIA was hiring and promoting former Skull and Bones members as well as Nazi's. George Sr.'s father, Prescott Bush, was a Nazi (see below). So we have important evidence of a match between the hiring practices of CIA and the background of George Bush Sr.

In 1960 former Skull and Bones member F. Trubee Davison was the director of personnel for CIA, and the idea that the personnel director (Davison) should hire an "old boy" (Bush) is cliché. But the relationship between Davison and Bush goes far beyond employer and employee.

Davison's son, Endicott Peabody Davison, is also an attorney representing both Skull and Bones and the Bush family. Endicott was, according to The New Yorker, in Bush's Skull and Bones class of '48. So that the CIA hiring director could, through his son, do a more complete, intimate, and discrete background check on George Sr. than the FBI could ever provide. In fact, real power in the CIA is based upon these connections.

Presidents come and go. They change their minds. They appoint new directors. But they exercise no real control over the CIA. The men the presidents appoint as directors of the CIA are front men who have no real idea what is going on in the field. The real backbone of the CIA is rooted in these family and old school ties. Under these circumstances, you cannot easily name anyone more qualified for a leadership role in the CIA than George Bush Sr.

George Bush Sr. helped supervise the CIA's disastrous invasion of Cuba at the Bay of Pigs. Again, George Sr. denies that he was in the CIA during the Bay of Pigs. It is a transparent lie.

In 1960, the CIA was planning the invasion of Cuba at the Bay of Pigs. The Deputy Director at CIA supervising the Bay of Pigs operation was Richard Bissell, who was a former employee of Averell Harriman, Prescott Bush's old boss. Bissell's older brother William was Skull and Bones. (Corn, David; Blond Ghost, New York: Simon and Schuster, 1994, p.69)

According to Nicholas King's authorized biography of George Bush Sr., Bush's oil company, Zapata Off-Shore oil, was concentrating its business in the Caribbean and off South America, at the same time and in the same area that the Miami-based anti-Castro CIA-funded paramilitary groups were active.

In 1957 Zapata was drilling forty miles off the coast of Cuba. No CIA front could have provided a better cover for the supervisor of these CIA activities. In 1959 the Bush family bought out George's partner in Zapata Offshore, giving George Sr. exclusive (and therefore covert) control of its activities. The CIA code name for the operation at the Bay of Pigs was: ZAPATA. Whether Bush's oil company is named for the operation, or the operation is named for the oil company, is of little importance.

The important question is "What kind of idiot would name his CIA operation after his cover, or his cover after his operation?" George Bush would.

During WWII Bush was a pilot. He named his first plane after his wife: the Barbara. He named his second plane after his wife: the Barbara II. (George Bush and Victor Gold, Looking Forward, (New York: Doubleday, 1987), p.36 )

But that's not all. Col. L. Fletcher Prouty was chief of special operations for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, charged with the military support of clandestine operations of the CIA. He was responsible for securing weapons and two US Navy craft suitable for carrying men and weapons to the invasion at the Bay of Pigs. The ships were sent to an inactive Navy Base in North Carolina where the CIA took over repainting them to disguise their US Navy origins.

According to Col. Prouty, new names were painted on the ships for their historic mission: the "Barbara" and the "Houston", Bush's wife and his new home town. (Prouty, quoted by Marc Lane, Plausible Denial, New York: Thunder Mouth's Press, 1992, p.332 a must read!)

As we mention above, Bush not only supervised E. Howard Hunt and his band of Cubans at the Bay of Pigs, he did it again during the assassination of JFK in Dallas, and he supervised them during Watergate. From the time of the JFK assassination on, George Bush Sr. was a "Made" man. From that point on, he lived a charmed political life, getting bailed out of every failure, being constantly picked up and set back on the road to the White House.

Membership in the CIA, or even Skull and Bones, does not explain the extraordinary events of Bush's political career, events that indicate support from an invisible and sinister power elite. George Bush Sr. became the Harris County Republican party chairman in 1962. It might be considered a useless provocation to observe that Hitler was an agent of German army intelligence when he was sent to organize the Nazi party (information which is available on Microsoft Encarta).

Except that the same wealthy family, (Thyssen) that helped to create Hitler and financed his rise to power was intimately connected with the Bush family. So that for George Bush to be working for the CIA and the Republican party at the same time would not be particularly original; and perhaps even predictable, given his family ties, and the wholesale recruitment of former Nazi intelligence operatives into the CIA at the end of WWII.

In 1963, weeks before the JFK assassination, Bush announced for the Senate. He won the Republican nomination for Senate, but lost the general election. That might have been the end of his political career. But in 1966, the darkest and most evil political figure in recent history (except for Bush), Richard Nixon intervened in Texas politics and helped secure Bush's nomination for a congressional district so solidly Republican he could not lose (according to that radical font of conspiratorial rantings, Microsoft Encarta).

How would Nixon, the two time loser from California, have even known Bush, who by his own account had spent the previous fifteen years running around the Caribbean? How do they connect? And why should Nixon choose to help Bush in a fight with other Republicans for the party nomination? These are reasonable questions. Nixon was touring the country in 1966, attempting to secure the support of the right-wing power elites for his 1968 presidential campaign. That is, he was selling himself; promising to be the loyal servant of the darkest forces on the planet.

So, the apparent connection between Bush and Nixon in 1963, is that Nixon wanted to prove the value of his services to these dark forces, and those dark forces wanted Bush promoted. So Nixon promoted Bush. But why? What had Bush had done to earn the commitment of those dark forces to his political ascension? It's a fair question. And it is a question that will come up over and over again. Because Bush AGAIN ran for Senate in 1970 and AGAIN he lost. And again Nixon resurrected him, this time making Bush United Nations ambassador, and then ambassador to China. With no credentials. With no proven abilities except as a loser. Why? Again, common sense demands an explanation of what Bush had done to earn the commitment of those dark forces to his political ascension, despite all the failings in his career.

The obvious answer is that he played a sufficiently important role in the JFK assassination to win acceptance by a real dark power elite. This is supported, as we have seen, by a wealth of information. One solution answers all questions. George Bush Sr. killed Kennedy Sr. as his initiation into this dark circle of devils. The devils promised him he would be president of the USA. They didn't lie.

Let's talk about initiation into inner circles. If I am going to let you into my super secret society of killers, where we are going to reveal our darkest secrets and discuss our future and past crimes, your initiation has to include committing a crime at least as serious as what you're going to learn about us; so that we have as much on you as you will have on us. Two-way blackmail is no mail.

Bush killed Kennedy. They made him president. You may have noticed that George Bush Jr. has, since the death of JFK Jr., led a similarly charmed life. Despite his stunning lack of experience, despite his drug and alcohol-ridden past, despite his previous losses in his first run for congress and then in New Hampshire, despite an opponent in John McCain who is incomparably strong where Bush is weakest, despite all his personal and intellectual failings, George Bush Jr. is clearly the anointed candidate of a fabulously wealthy power elite. But again, why was it worth hundreds of millions of dollars to support Bush over McCain? What could he have done to win such commitment from the dark forces of oil, tobacco, and guns? WHAT??? How's this for an answer?

He did the same thing his dad did to win a charmed political life: He helped kill a Kennedy. Bush Sr. killed JFK Sr. in order to prove himself a true fascist and worthy of the support of wealthiest fascists in this country. George Jr. was required to do likewise. (Note, Bush is also a licensed pilot and would have known how to sabotage Kennedy, Junior's, plane with no difficulty.)

More Bush and CIA

When he was vice-president, Bush surrounded himself with CIA "experts" in mass murder. He could have surrounded himself with naked interns. It was a choice. He made it. It counts. It has meaning. Donald Gregg, Oliver North, and Felix Rodriguez worked out of Bush's office and answered directly to him. They supervised a wild campaign of murder, sabotage, and terror against the civilian populations of Nicaragua, Honduras, and El Salvador, slaughtering hundreds of thousands of innocent civilians, including Jesuit priests, nuns, and archbishop Romero. Corroborating Evidence

This is really no small point. Donald Gregg, Felix Rodriguez and Oliver North were all veteran CIA officers from Operation

Phoenix in Vietnam. Operation Phoenix involved snatching, virtually at random, a "suspected" communist sympathizer from the population and interrogating them to death. CIA admits that no one ever survived these interrogations. Any one or any village that a "suspect" named while being tortured would become the new "suspect." Bush not only brought these butchers to Central America, he brought them to the White House and installed them in his office.

Bush claimed he was "out of the loop" of Iran-Contra (ridiculous!). However, Bush's appointment calendar revealed 17 scheduled meetings with Felix Rodriguez. Neither Bush nor anyone else at CIA can explain the intimacy of the relationship between these two men. They cannot explain it, because their relationship developed during the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, when Bush was Rodriguez's immediate supervisor. To explain the relationship would be to expose Bush's perjury, when he testified before Congress in 1974 that he had never been in the CIA.

In this case, the smoking gun of the Hoover memo resolves a major enigma in the circumstances surrounding Bush's vice-presidential relationship with Felix Rodriguez: they were war buddies from the Bay of Pigs, if not from the Kennedy assassination.

POINTS OF INTEREST Who is the CIA? Not all rich people are completely evil. They don't all see mass murder of the population as an acceptable option when poor hard working people demand justice. However, the multi-billionaires who control the CIA are clearly fascist. And who are they? Probably the best way to get a true answer is to ask, "Who does the CIA serve?"

For example, who was the CIA working for when they overthrew Mossadeq, the popularly elected President of Iran in 1952 and replaced him with a king? Whose interests were the CIA serving? Not the democratic people of the United States. Certainly not the people of Iran. They were working for Standard Oil and Chase Manhattan Bank, which is to say that they were working for the Rockefeller family, which controls both. They wanted to control the oil and they did, at an enormous cost to the people of Iran. .

Who's interests were the CIA serving when they overthrew the President of Guatemala in 1952, and replaced him with a bloody military dictatorship? United Fruit company, largely owned by the Rockefellers.

When the CIA killed the President of the United States, who were they working for? They were working for devils. And every time we let them get away unpunished, we pay an enormous price. America has been haunted by a murderously evil specter for at least 40 years. JFK was murdered, 80% of the American people think it was a conspiracy, but we can't do anything about bringing the murderers to justice.

Malcolm X, Martin Luther King, and Bobby Kennedy were murdered, but no one who studies the facts can conclude that the murderers have been brought to justice. There are mountains of credible evidence that the CIA flew plane-loads of cocaine into the US and funneled it into the inner city. But no one has even been investigated, although hundreds of thousands of Black and Latino street dealers and users are rotting in prison.

It is time to drive a stake through the heart of the dark family of vampires that have been sucking the life-blood of America. This article is a step in that direction.

elected. I sat back and watched Nixon win. And then I watched him wage war against the civilian population of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. 1,000,000 dead.

I refused to help Carter and sat back and watched Reagan win. And watched him wage a massive war of extermination on the civilians of Nicaragua, El Salvador, Guatemala, and Honduras. 100,000 dead at least.

I sat back in 1988 and watched Bush win, and watched him wage a drug war on the black and brown people of Los Angeles, flying it in cocaine in transport planes, directing it into the inner city, training the dropouts to make crack factories, and driving the murder rate up ten times.

George W. Bush's grandfather, Prescott Bush, was associated with Nazis and Nazi-supporters in nearly every aspect of his life and work. Before and during WWII, Prescott worked so closely with the Nazi banking establishment that on November 7, 1942, his assets were seized under the "Trading With the Enemy Act", as Nazi assets. That is, the federal government determined that he was working so closely for the Nazis that stock held in Bush's name, and the entire company for which he was the director, were Nazi assets.

The order specified: "all of which shares are held for the benefit of ...members of the Thyssen family." (Office of Alien Property Custodian Vesting Order Number 248, signed by Leo T. Crowley, Alien Property Custodian, executed October 20, 1942; F.R.Doc. 42-11568; filed November 6, 1942. 7 Fed. Reg. 9097 (November 7, 1942) Cited in, The Unauthorized Biography of George Bush found at

<http://www.padrak.com/alt/BUSHBOOK.html>

The Thyssens were the earliest and most enthusiastic of Hitler's supporters, aiding him even before he was the leader of the Nazi party. (Fritz Thyssen, "I Paid Hitler", 1941, reprinted in Port Washington, N.Y.: Kennikat Press, 1972. p.133)

There are real forces of evil in the US. They helped bring Hitler to power. And Prescott Bush, George W's grandfather, was right in the middle of the plans to create Hitler.

The history of the robbers barons that the Bushes serve is almost ridiculously evil. They were war profiteers during the Civil War. General Custer, who was a genuine hero of that war, was under their influence, diverted from fighting for democracy in Mexico and sent to slaughter Native Americans for the benefit of the mining and railroad interests. They turned machine guns on American women and children during the Homestead strike.

Recent scholarship (available in nearly any recent-edition encyclopedia) has revealed that while Hitler was in the army, he was recruited by German army intelligence as a secret agent. He was sent to school and taught anti-Semitism. (He had to be taught since his father was half Jewish. This is not radical scholarship. It is the most basic stuff.) and given intensive speech lessons. He was then sent to organize the Nazi party.

Fritz Thyssen, the German industrialist who paid for all of this, was conducting intimate conferences with Averell Harriman at this time. Harriman was not only a fabulously wealthy banker, he was also the employer of Prescott Bush (and later, his son George Bush Sr.), as well as Allan Dulles, the future founding head of the CIA. And he put all of them to work helping finance the Nazis. The Duponts, Rockefellers, Fords, and Harrimans were huge in establishing the racist eugenics movement in this country, directly providing Hitler with pre-fabricated racist propaganda supported with phony "science."

While people were literally starving in England, France, and the USA, General Motors, Ford, and Standard Oil built factories in Nazi Germany, which gave an enormous artificial boost to the Nazi economy, allowed Hitler to appear an "economic genius", and all of them cranked out war materiel at top speed.

Hard to believe? You ain't heard nothin' yet. The Rockefellers, through their German subsidiary, funded the elite SS from its birth and into 1944, while the SS was supervising mass murder at the death camps. There are numerous references to the fact that Hitler feared the SS. And with good cause. Shortly after Hitler came to power, the SS wiped out the leadership of the Brown Shirts, Hitler's oldest friends and supporters, his working class henchmen. Hitler survived at the pleasure of the SS.

And whose interests was Hitler serving when he allowed the SS set up the death camps? Not the Nazi's. Transporting Jews was a serious detriment to the war effort. The amount of resources, coal in particular, consumed in firing the ovens, is astounding. It is unthinkable that Hitler would begin diverting such resources at the very time when it first appeared that he might lose the war. If he won the war, he could dispose of the Jews at his leisure. But he jeopardized the war effort. Why?

After displaying apparent "genius" in his rise to power, rebuilding a destroyed economy and war machine, and conquering most of Europe, he suddenly went nuts? Here's a hint.

According to the L.A. Times of 5/15/99, the Paris offices of Chase Manhattan Bank (the Rockefellers) "froze Jewish accounts before the Nazis ordered them to do so." The Rockefellers advised Hitler to "order" them to freeze the assets, and Hitler complied. And when the Jews died, the banks and insurance companies kept the billions of dollars these Jewish people had invested. So what did Hitler get out of the costly extermination? Well, he got to avoid being murdered being murdered by the Rockefeller funded SS like the rest of his comrades in the Brown Shirts. And on top of that he either got a) nothing, or b) the Rockefellers (owners of Chase Manhattan and Standard Oil and Mobil and partners with IG Farben at Auschwitz) and their fellow Nazis in the USA promised that in return for the Holocaust, they would use their influence over the US government and the military to prevent an invasion of Europe for nearly two and one-half years. Which they did.

The only evidence for that "promise" is circumstantial. But how else do you explain Hitler's suddenly insane diversion of resources, his sudden reversal of his ten-year old policy of deporting Jews (actually, deportations continued on up to the very end of the war), and the 2.5 year delay by the US in invading Europe??

As mentioned above, Standard Oil's contributions to the Nazi war effort were absolutely vital. After Roosevelt's death, these monsters took control of the State department, the military and the CIA. (Charles Higham, Trading With the Enemy, N.Y.: Delacorte Press, 1983, pp. 20-22) (Anthony Sutton, Wall Street and the Rise of Hitler, Seal Beach: '76 Press, 1976)

Hitler literally could not have made war without the help of his allies/creators in America. Hitler received enormous, indispensable, and really unbelievable support from the most powerful elements in the country including Ford, Dupont, and GM. The Rockefellers' Standard Oil provided Hitler's war machine with a patent for synthetic rubber, which was kept secret from the US military even after Pearl Harbor. The US was desperate for such a formula. Standard Oil provided the Nazi's with numerous other patents critical to their war effort, and owned a half-interest in the death camp at Auschwitz, together with their partner, IG Farben.

A 1943 IG Farben special report pointed out that without the gasoline additive tetraethyl supplied by Standard Oil, "the war effort would have been impossible." (Charles Higham, Trading With the Enemy, N.Y.: Delacorte Press, 1983, p.216)

Bush Sr. Was Involved in the JFK Murder !

Outstanding JFK Video

This video really helps you understand every aspect of the evidence. I would love to see the reaction of someone who takes the official line on this.

Bush Link to Kennedy Assassination Alex Jones 911 Conspiracy

A thorough, documented, criminal indictment of George Herbert Walker Bush, establishing beyond a reasonable doubt his guilt as a supervisor in the conspiracy to assassinate John F. Kennedy.

3) George de Mohrenschildt was an important witness in the first Kennedy assassination. He got Lee Harvey Oswald the job in the School Book Depository. He was murdered the day he was supposed to testify about the assassination.

De Mohrenschildt had a very interesting life - altho he was the virtually the sole source for most of the interesting details. He knew the Oswalds as neighbors and evidently introduced them, in 1962, to the Dallas Russian-speaking community. But he did not claim to have helped Oswald get his job at the Schoolbook building and there was no evidence that he did. Before the assassination, de Mohrenschildt and his wife had left Dallas for Haiti, where he was involved in some investment business.

Contrary to the claim that he was "murdered the day he was to testify about the assassination", he did indeed testify at the Warren Commission and was interviewed by the FBI and other govt investigators. He lived until 1977 - more than a dozen years after the Warren Commission finished its work - and committed suicide in his home, with a gun .... and a tape recorder taking down his last words and the sound of his suicide!

The Warren Commission noted that de Mohrenschildt, in his several interviews and depositions, contradicted himself on some crucial details and did not appear to be terribly important to the Commission's work.

That is a very long post. Could you summarize it for me? I glanced through it and it looks like it is a "Bush is a Nazi friend of Hitler" thread. Those were the rumors they put out with the last election and I had hoped they were true so I voted for him.

Haven't you said he is a Jew? So which is it? Is he a Nazi or a Jew?

I think if you google, Bronfman Canada JFK, and OSWALD you might come up with a different picture.

Someone let Jack Ruby out of jail, someone paid his way, and someone met Oswald in Canada that had a Middle Eastern accent. Oswald spent much time in Soviet Russia.

Soviet Russia_____Canada_____Bronfman.

Bush was a drinker and party goer, I hardly think he had time to read the Talmud, learn Hebrew or Russian and figure anything out or had the desire.
