Hal Turner website taken down by FBI

By: TerraHertz on: 27.12.2006 [09:58] (20 reads)

Internet radio show host Hal Turner

(4249 bytes) [c]

As of 27th December, 2006, <http://halturnershow.com> redirects to <http://www.fbi.gov/>

Another link on the FBI page solicits tips from the public regarding crimes: Submit a Crime Tip Where the heading states: "While the FBI continues to encourage the public to submit information regarding the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks, this form may also be used to report any suspected criminal activity to the FBI."

Well, not that their ears are actually open, apparently, since if they were we all know there'd have been plenty of real progress with the 911 case by now. Given the vast amounts of highly incriminating evidence that has piled up, implicating very many people in the US in those crimes. However, perhaps its worth letting the FBI know what we think of their non-efforts.

Here's my 'tip to the FBI'. What do you have to say to them?

I laugh at your mention that this form may be used to submit tips related to the Sept 11 2001 mass murder. Since the FBI's own managers were so busy in the months before, suppressing honest FBI investigators looking into the perpetrator's agents, employed to place the breadcrumb clue trail pointing to 'al Qaida' (which you know perfectly well is a CIA cutout organisation.) We couldn't have the 911 plot foiled before the event, now could we?

Sorry guys, the game is up. There is nothing you can do now to save your necks - you and every other 911 conspirator in the US Administration, TLAs, judiciary, Congress, etc. Eventually, you will all stand before a free, uncontrolled court, and be judged for your crimes. Which are very, very many and serious. Just listing them would take pages.

Don't even bother trying to argue 'its all a conspiracy theory'. There's too much hard evidence against you now, even if the non-internet reading public don't know it yet. Go look at the photos of the plane engine in a NY street for instance. Whoops! Wrong sort of plane, and there goes the entire government lie. Hey, why don't you try tracking down what happened to that engine - if you wanted to do something actually useful and crime-fighter-ish. Perhaps you might even earn your name again, instead of being the Federal Bureau of Interference. FB of Incompetence?

Funny you haven't made a single successful arrest over 911, after five years, isn't it? If you'd like to make a start, may I suggest Rabbi Dov Zakheim, financial comptroller at the Pentagon during that time, and previously CEO of a company that produced remote control flight systems for the US military. Or perhaps Rudi Giuliani, the guy who's command center in Bld 7 managed the tower's demolition, before it too was explosively 'pulled'. Not to mention his remarkable speed (preparation?) in having the forensic evidence shipped overseas to be melted down. Or Larry Silverstein - what remarkable precience with the leasing and insurance contracts, eh? Too bad he admitted live on TV that he'd had bld 7 'pulled' - and what luck that it was already all wired with explosives!

Meanwhile, you can harrass (and arrest or whatever you've done) as many Hal Turners as you like - the only difference it will make is to add to the list of your crimes, and make people even more angry with you by the time you are brought to justice. Do you even understand how many people have become as angry as Hal, and for good reason? Do you know what happens when that dam bursts? I'm really glad I don't live in America, its not going to be pleasant there when the rage bursts out.

But of course, you know all this, and probably much more than any of us know. You know perfectly well who did 911, and you do nothing. You know it, we know you know it, you know we know, etc.

So I guess all I expect to achieve by writing this is to stand up, and say screw you. Screw every single one of you murdering, corrupt, lying, fascist bastards. How the hell do you live with yourselves?
