House votes 397-21 for "Iran Freedom Support Act"

21 comment(s).

As if Iraq isn't a big enough mess, the House of Representatives has just voted to 'hold Iran accountable and support a transition to democracy'. Sound Familiar? Only this time Iran is a democracy. They just held an election where their president was actually elected by the people. How refreshing.

After everything that has been exposed...the lies, the profiteering, the long list of war crimes, 397 'Representatives' gave Bush the go ahead on attacking Iran. Only 21 Patriots voted Nay. Sad to say but these are the only people we can trust...

Baldwin, Blumenauer, Boyd, DeFazio, Duncan, Flake, Hostettler, Jones (NC)
Kucinich, Leach, McDermott, McGovern, McKinney, Oberstar, Obver

Paul, Rahall, Snyder, Stark, Taylor

The most disappointing aspect however is the fact that so many of our 'progressive' leaders in congress voted for this lie. John Conyers voted yay. Maxine Waters, Murtha, Bernie Sanders, Lynn Woolsey, Barbara Lee all voted for it. On the hill today the Progressive Caucus is hosting a hearing on Iraq...

Congresswomen Lynn Woolsey and Barbara Lee will host a hearing on the Iraq War next Thursday, April 27, 8:30-11 a.m., in 2325 Rayburn House Office Building. The two Co-Chairs of the Congressional Progressive Caucus are continuing to do what the "leadership" of both parties does not, respond to the demands of the majority of Americans, who disapprove of current policy.

Lynn Woolsey and Barbara Lee just voted yay on giving the green light for war on Iran. I can assure them that the demands of the majority of Americans are not in accordance with their vote on Iran. We are supposed to believe that these representatives 'can get fooled again'? Are they merely posing as the opposition in order to stall for Bush?

At least we have a small vocal group speaking out...

Rep. Ron Paul, Texas Republican, said the measure reminds him of a 1998 congressional resolution that called for regime change in Iraq, which he thinks was the first step to the "very unpopular, expensive" Iraq war.

Rep. Earl Blumenauer, Oregon Democrat, noted all lawmakers "hate this regime," but he favors "strong, smart, constructive, diplomatic efforts" - characteristics that he says are not present in the bill.
"I am very worried about where this all ends," he said.

"It is bad for Iran to have a nuclear weapon, but there are things that are worse," such as giving the country a reason to use one, said Rep. Jim Leach, Iowa Republican.

Rep. Dennis J. Kucinich said the Bush administration has "made a mess of international relations," with the war in Iraq. "Don't we have enough problems in Iraq to clean up before setting the stage for another conflict with Iran?" the Ohio Democrat asked.

How is it possible that Bush is still getting away with promoting lies about Iran. How is he even still in office?

Wardance has already begun. Iran is another scapegoat trying to win the midterm elections. But we see also the support from the Democrats. Those Democrats should be removed from the party.

< These democrats should be removed from the party >.

Yes, yes and yes. They just CALL themselves "democrats" and "republicans"

Truth be known, it's a "two party dictatorship" ...

oh NOW I get it...

"Pro-Israel lobbyists on Capitol Hill are cajoling members of Congress to support the Iran Freedom Support Act, which would expand the existing American sanctions on companies that invest more than $20 annually in Iran's oil and gas sectors. The bill would tighten sanctions on companies that invest in Iran's energy industry in the hopes of blocking money that could be used to produce nuclear arms.

The bill also provides for assistance to pro-democracy forces within Iran, and funding for independent media broadcasts to the country. The House of Representatives' Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, a Florida Republican, and Howard Berman, a California Democrat, are sponsoring the proposed legislation. The sponsors of the Senate version are Rick Santorum, a Pennsylvania Republican, and Evan Bayh, an Indiana Democrat."

what they think is power. If all incumbents were sent packing can you imagine the profound shock waves that would send through DC?! If would make a statement, and more terrifying to the elites, it would show that we can work together as one. This is the single most terrifying thing for the powers that be. Count on it.

I sure hope the american people to realize that when the time comes you need to storm the white house.. overturn the people who have led the american ideal astray and smeared it internationally for years to come, committing atrocities and criminal acts against sovereign nations while lulling the masses with lies and deceptions - manufactured reality to support their motives. bush is so innocent and does what he believes is good to do, but who creates his reality ? there are places in the us where children get killed by stray bullets and schools have reinforced windowless walls at ground floor for protection... get over with the crap about who's democrat or republican it's just limiting your view on the issue.. you don't choose your side by picking a label and acting by it, but following what you feel inside.

So now at least you know all those in Congress who put American over Israeli interests: 21 out of 397. And so it was once again confirmed: the US is Israel's bitch, pimping it's way to a nuclear holocaust. Ain't democracy a wonderful thing?

All this talk of "FREEDOM" what with Iraq's new found freedom and the freedom Iran will soon enjoy-just as soon as we nuke the living shit out of them-I am drawn to those famous words spoken by M.L.K...."Free at last, Free at last, Thank God Almighty the Oil's free at last" At least I think thats what he said before he was killed.
