New Electronic Equipment to be Deployed in 'Blow of Zolfaqar' War Games

TEHRAN (Fars News Agency)- Some of the newly made electronic equipment are to be deployed in the extensive war games codenamed 'Blow of Zolfaqar'.

According to FNA dispatches from the war games zone in the southeastern province of Sistan and Balouchestan, some of such military equipments to be used in the second stage of the maneuvers will include intelligence electronic, anti-electronic and communications systems, which can jam the enemy's communication systems.

Mobile radio transmission systems with a range of 100 kilometers are also to be used during the second stage in order to interrupt the tactical communications of the enemy and disseminate information to the people and the armed forces.

Reports also said that intelligent and controllable networks are also to be deployed by the electronic war units when conducting anti-electronic operations.
