Judge Approves Bond Of $50,000 For Alabama Church Fire Suspects

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) _ Three college students accused of setting fire to a string of rural Alabama churches can be released from jail on $50,000 bond each, provided they stay away from alcohol, cars and home computers, a judge ruled Thursday.

In a brief order, U.S. Magistrate Judge Robert R. Armstrong Jr. said all three suspects must live with their parents in what amounts to house arrest with electronic monitoring as they await trial.

None of the three has a criminal record and all come from "normal, stable, caring, working-parent homes," the judge said in approving bond.

But, he wrote, all three are under 21 and "drink alcoholic beverages in amounts that would be excessive for adults."

The judge rejected prosecutors' plea that the three remain jailed until trial.

DeBusk and Moseley may have been homosexuals

He recalled DeBusk and Moseley having some strange weekends. "They'd show up at 7 in the morning covered in pine needles," he recalls. "They'd just have strange little hippie rituals in the woods."

"These kids were not some huckleberries from the South," said Renee Sakaguchi, a parent in Indian Springs Village, a tony suburb of rolling hills and horse farms where Cloyd grew up. "I'm going to have my sons read the [newspaper] articles and say: 'Look at what these boys had in front of them — and now look at what they have to look forward to.'

The charges seemed particularly difficult to swallow at Birmingham-Southern. The small campus attracts the children of Alabama's elite.

This should be a wake-up call for the other isolated denominational churches in the South, that the Southern Baptists were selected because of their outreach ministry to the Jewish people, but that they could be next. Instead of simply thanking the Lord for sparing them these burnings, they should arise together and support the SB in their struggle against the godless Jews who seek to wipe them all out.

These fires were blatant acts of terror based on hatred. We have every reason to believe the fires were religiously motivated, which of course, has not been mentioned in the Mainstream Media, possibly due to the boy's Talmudic backgrounds, or the fact that Moseley and Debusk, according to their friends, were self-proclaimed Satanists.

Why is the media playing this down? Attributing it to just some foolish childhood prank. Why have they gone silent, now that the "young men" are in custody? These three have caused millions of dollars in damage and have put entire communities in the state of fear. Could they have been influenced by recent hostile remarks made by ADL chairman Abe Foxman?

Abraham H. Foxman, ADL National Director, issued the following statement:

The idea of the Southern Baptist Convention using a so-called Jewish messianic group – which misrepresents two faiths – to target Jews for conversion is disgraceful, insulting and dangerous.

We are outraged over the continuing efforts by the Southern Baptist Convention to target Jews for conversion, especially by considering 'deputizing' a Jewish Messianic group, part of a deceptive movement that falsely claims they are interested in Jewish practices when the real goal is to convert Jews to Christianity. These efforts should be stopped once and for all.

Together with the establishment last year of an institute aimed at teaching Baptist leaders how to minister to Jews, the Southern Baptist leadership continues to show its disrespect and disregard for the validity of Judaism and the Jewish people.

According to the Charleston, S.C.,-based National Coalition for Burned Churches, from 1990 to 2000, some 1,507 churches burned and were labeled either arson, attempted arson, suspicious or undetermined. From 2000 to 2006, the coalition documented a "minimum" number of 600 church burnings.

Another suspect, Russell Debusk, is identified as a "Jr." which almost certainly means he is not Jewish, since Jews consider it an ill omen to name a child for someone still living. Their college, Birmingham-Southern, is a private Methodist college and the name Debusk shows up in Methodist Church records all over the South.
