READER: CHANCE ENCOUNTER AT GAS STATION-NEW SPECIAL OPS VEHICLE-CAN DO ANYTHING

Hi Raye,

Wow, the things that can happen sometimes.

Check this out:

A few days ago as I was traveling between places, as happens I needed some gas.

I pulled into a gas station that is located right off a major highway here on the East Coast and is between a military academy and two military bases.

As I was pumping my gas a vehicle drove up that instantly caught my eye.

I have never seen a vehicle quite like this one. The front looked like a rounded Humvee and the back was roughly like the bed of a Dodge Ram truck. The bed was all one piece and atop it sat a satellite dish that was folded down.

By the looks of it, the dish could be raised and pointed into any direction desired.

The vehicle was all white and had an odd looking military license plate. The tires were very large like the ones on Monster Trucks but something was odd about them.

Then a man got out of it and began to gas it up. He looked at me studying his vehicle, so I smiled real pretty and said, "Hi, there. This is a pretty vehicle, I don't think I have ever seen one quite like this."

He smiled back and said, "Of course you haven't, she is fresh off the assembly line from Michigan and is the first of her kind".

He then proceeded to tell me all about her, he was very excited like a boy with a brand new special toy. It seems as if she is a prototype spy vehicle. He informed me the CIA had already put in orders for several, but that the FBI was waiting to see the prototype first before they placed their orders.

He said he had just picked her up from the port and that this was her first public fueling. He told me that she could access any satellite in orbit from any country, no matter what location she was in. Plus she could operate said satellite to do anything the satellite was capable of doing.

Cutting edge state of the art technology was used in developing her and she contained equipment that previously had only been on the drawing board.

She could tap into all electronic devices, anywhere, at anytime and could pick up radio waves within a 500 mile radius. If you used the satellite dish, she could pick up radio waves from the entire planet.

Also... her back seat folded up so that you had a bed like in the Semi Trucks.

He was very excited about her and spent a good 10 to 15 minutes giving me the low down on her.

He looked familiar and later I realized that I had seen him on TV, on a BBC documentary I had watched about Arms Dealers. He was one of them. I forgot... at some point he told me she was fully armed and armored like a tank.

I can only think that he shared all this info with me because he thought I was just some country housewife that didn't have a clue.

Plus he was obviously bursting at the seams to tell someone about his new baby. Surprise, not only am I not a country housewife but I also got a clue.

I am sending this to you because I know that you will know what to do with this info

A not so clueless American

Comment from Rayelan: If this is the latest version of the CIA and FBI war wagons, you can expect it to be armed with rocket launchers, 50 mm cannons, a false bottom full of machine guns, hand grenades, ammo, emergency rations and emergency radios.
