U.S. Chemtrail Boss Fired

There is a small group of Reverse Speech practitioners who still do RS on public officials. You can imagine how dangerous this could be, given our current administration, and 1940 Germany-like environment. Since I use RS from time to time for other purposes, I guess I'm in the loop. I was sent a couple of short audio files related to the CIA boss's resignation because, of all things, my interest in Chemtrails. I had been thinking of tackling the job myself, because George Tenet has always been the man in charge of the US portion of the chemtrail program. In fact, his tenure nicely matches the active, visible part of the program with a year of preparation at the beginning. It seemed strange he would leave before the final act.

Some background: In high circles, the Chemtrail program, including parts no one is noticing and the main event which is yet to come, is known as project STARWARS. This is a clever choice. Anyone running across a STARWARS file would tend to assume it had something to do with the military space program, even though the nickname was only a media creation. Instead, STARWARS appears to have been chosen through some fascination with the original motion picture and it's fabulous portrayal of ultimate evil. You will recall Darth Vader, the Death Star, and the weapon that explodes entire planets.

Remember? 3, 2, 1

In reality, the STARWARS designation is conveniently ambiguous, offering no clue as to the target, method, or purpose.

Anyway, it didn't make sense to me that George Tenet, who unconsciously describes himself as a "venal man" (look it up), would bail out in the home stretch. I wanted to know what really happened. In the end, the answer came in the mail. It was his little speech to CIA employees, coupled with Bush's announcement of the resignation, each with speech reversals I could easily verify from the original sound.

Tenet's reversals included thoughts of the person who typed up the resignation letter, a reference to something in Indonesia (sorry - no idea, not even if past or present), odds and ends of a personal nature, and a number of statements about his situation. Those about his departure included that Bush had "announced it" so there was "no last minute" (reprieve - my word), "Fire Your Butt, He Sure Did!" and "No warning".

There is thus no question at all that Tenet was fired abruptly, without warning, and that it was a serious shock both to him and his family. Unfortunately, his reversals don't mention the reason, as far as I can tell. He may simply not know!

In the Bush announcement there is no clue either. Bush is hard to work with because of what I can only assume is some kind of brain damage. His reversals are rather sparse, and come very quickly. Even his subconscious appears to be seriously illiterate, often marked by a juvenile form of cowboy slang. Regarding Tenet's firing, this Bush reversal came as he said that he would miss him: "and I say move out!"

Bush and Tenet both mention Houston, Bush in an odd way. Presumably Houston refers to Daddy, the string puller. While the President fired Tenet, it seems probably that he was simply told to do so by "Houston". It certainly wasn't a hot enough issue for him to still be thinking about it while he made the announcement. I was surprised at that, but a lot of stuff you would expect to find in Bush's mind just isn't there. He's quite a strange bird.

The Chemtrail program, STARWARS, was definitely on his mind, though. After all, he had just fired it's director and as I mentioned, I feel the climax is not far away. In fact, he mentions the office of director four times. The first time, referring solely to Tenet's resignation, we hear "A nice stroke" and "Yay, yay, Houston". The other three times all reflect on the necessary transition of control for project STARWARS. They are:

- 1) The THING!. Starwars. Poison the Earth.
- 2) For Starwars need the Fed.
- 3) For Starwars.

The matching (forward) speech setting for these is:

- 1) Tenet will serve as Director until..
- 2) Then the deputy Director will..
- 3) become acting Director.

One would assume, then, that becoming a Fed-watcher will offer clues about what is coming. I notice that the Fed is already making major moves in the money supply and have heard speculation that they want the government out of the mortgage business (Fanny Mae and Freddy Mac) as fast as possible.

Why was Tenet fired? We may never know. There is speculation that the legal requirement to launch an official investigation into the public "outing" of a valuable CIA agent placed him in an adversarial position with the White House. On the other hand, he may simply be a man who knows too much. It will be interesting to see what happens to him.

One important note: the planet-busting weapon in the movie, and the phrase "poison the earth" (also once picked up in a STARWARS reversal from Bill Clinton - they may have attended the same briefing) should NOT be taken literally. Project STARWARS, like everything else on the national and international stage, is about money and the power that money brings. As always, this means that people are the target, and the ones being poisoned, not the planet itself. At least not by design. The planet-buster may simply be a good metaphor for the social and economic upheaval that may follow the climax.

Yes, I know, you want to hear the reversals. There are a LOT of hot reversals drifting around these days, but nobody wants to become a target. Anonymous or "free" websites generally won't allow posting of sound files, thanks to the hysteria in the music industry. I understand that an offshore provider might be useful, but there can be bandwidth problems. All I can tell you is that the folks who have them really DO want to share them, they are already sending them around on CD-ROMs, so I'm confident a way will be found. How safe it will be is a different question.

Since I myself have a copy of these particular files, I could upload them to any chemtrail-friendly site that has a bit of spare bandwidth.

Mine are .wav files, but I can compress them to the format for Windows Media Player. Contact me via the board's mail system.

Amazing Ken. Reverse speech technology has always freaked me out. It absolutely fascinates me, but scares me at the same time. I think the reason why it does, is because I feel this odd feeling as if its tapping into a parallel universe or something. You know who would be really interesting to test with RS, is Condoleezza Rice. I'm telling ya, that lady is holding back a lot of information...I can see it in her eyes. Especially, when she was speaking to the public about possible future attacks in the US.

Ken,

Please also compress to an MP3 audio file as well, so Mac users don't have to install Windows Media Player for Mac if they don't want to. MP3 is just more universal, read by all OS's. Make it 64 kbps, since it is speech, if you would.

Thanks

I used to use RealPlayer but other methods produce a much smaller file. Not sure I have an MP3 encoder, but I'll track one down. This would also be dependent on how many files someone would be willing to host. Will keep you posted.

A great resource S.G., thanks. I'll try 'em out.

Over the weekend I'll have time to reduce the files to only what's needed, then compress them. They should be only "snippets", small enough to put in an e-mail, even.

Haven't heard from anyone yet on where they could be hosted so everyone can hear them.

Ken: How interesting! Thanks for sharing your notes and for taking the time to research those speeches. I'm NOT surprised that even in reverse Dumbya's subconscious is fairly blank. There is no reason why it wouldn't be! One thing most people don't realize is that conscious/subconscious, asleep/awake, backwards/forwards – it's all the same! Just another angle or way of looking at the same thing! One thing I don't understand is WHY do you think he refers to Bush Sr. as Houston?

Thanks, Jersey,

Bush Sr. has maintained a home in Houston for a long time. I chose that interpretation for its simplicity.

You are very right to ask about it. The reversals themselves do not establish the actual identity of "Houston". It could just as easily be 1) an cartel or group centered in Houston, 2) A person named Houston, or 3) the name for a plan or program.

Since it appeared in the speech of both men I make the assumption that Houston is a key player or factor in the issue at hand.

OK - that explanation makes sense especially for Tenet to call Bush Sr. Houston. I probably should have been more specific and asked why senseless Dumbya would call his Daddy Houston. But even in that regard, if he does not have a close or personal relationship with his father (I don't know if that's true or not) then he could call him by another term of endearment - like Houston.

BTW, do you have anymore Reverse Speech disclosures you could share? I'd sure be interested in reading them! Thanks!

1961 According to the Realist, CIA official Fletcher Prouty delivers three Navy ships to agents in Guatemala to be used in the Bay of Pigs invasion. Prouty claims he delivered the ships to a CIA agent named George Bush. Agent Bush named the ships the Barbara, Houston and Zapata.

Bay of Pigs invasion fails. Right-wingers blame Kennedy for failure to provide air cover. CIA loses 15 men, another 1100 are imprisoned.

George Bush invites Rep. TL. Ashley -- a fellow Skull & Boner -- down to Texas for a party in order to meet "an attractive girl." Bush writes that "she may be accompanied by an Austrian ski instructor but I think we can probably flush him at the local dance hall." Bush notes that he's had to unlist his phone because "Jane Morgan keeps calling me all the time." [From a letter in the Ashley archives uncovered by Spy magazine.]

Zapata annual report boasts that the company has paid no taxes since it was founded.

How interesting! I did not know that. He names them after his wife, his offshore oil company, and "himself"???
