Amid controversy over state legislatures in the U.S. requiring young girls to take Gardasil, Merck's new vaccine for human papillomavirus (HPV), severe side effects are being reported.

1,637 adverse reactions have been reported by Judicial Watch, a public interest watchdog, including three girls who died shortly after receiving the immunization. Judicial Watch obtained the reports from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration using the Freedom of Information Act.

In Australia, 25 girls who had just received their first injection of the vaccine experienced headache, nausea, and dizziness. In some cases, the problems were so severe that they were hospitalized. Shares of the vaccine's Australian developer, CSL, fell after the incident was reported in the news.

British Medical Journal June 9, 2007;334:1182-1183

Dr. Mercola's Comment:

Should young girls be required to take Gardasil by the government when possible side effects include hospitalization and death? There have also been reports from the National Vaccine Information Center about fainting and dizziness reported by dozens of patients as side effects of Gardasil, and there are even some concerns that Gardasil may cause infertility.

These are steep risks for a vaccine that only sometimes protects against HPV, which is virtually 100 percent avoidable without an expensive and potentially fatal vaccine.

Please realize that Merck has manipulated the medical and political system to FORCE children to get this dangerous vaccine for their own bottom line profit. The potential promised reduction of cervical cancer is the bait they use.

Remember Merck, the manufacturer of this vaccine, is the same company that made Vioxx that killed over 60,000 people.

It is also important to understand that this year, some 11,000 women will be diagnosed with cervical cancer, which can be caused by HPV, and about 3,700 will die from it. In comparison, 16 times more American women will be diagnosed with breast cancer (178,480), and 11 times more will die from it (40,460).

As Merck's own literature says, it is important to realize that Gardasil does not protect women against some "non-vaccine" HPV types. So, even if girls accept the risks and get vaccinated, they can still get HPV.

Finally, although more than 6 million women contract HPV each year, a woman's immune system is often strong enough to clear up the infection on its own. About 90 percent of HPV infections simply clear up within two years.

Remember, it is NOT the infection that is the issue as much as it is the person's immune system. You can be exposed to these bacteria and viruses and if you are living a healthy lifestyle your body's immune system will typically know how to address the infection.

I wonder when people is going to wake up? I know most do not have any information on alternative health routes, and they will never know if they continue to turn a deaf ear to people like mercolians. I have put the alternate health info in some's lap and still they won't check it out, they continue to laugh and scold. Our dudes in D.C. cannot even turn an eye towards an important health issue it seems. We will have to create our own FDA (Factual Drug Analysis) and flood the info into the American public like a runaway plague. But, I'm still certian most will laugh and listen to their doctors.

I don't even have an high school education, much less eight or ten years medical teachings. I cleared up my daughter's moderate to severe cervical dysplasia in just a couple of weeks. Her doc said HPV was present then. That's what seeing and believing can do. But, I did have some advice from a lady doctor in Oregon on the matter.

This may be the first item in my new--public awareness campaign.

Most every state has a vaccine watchdog group. I know CT's is ctvia.org. They may be able to help you with your state to help stop with mandatory vaccines. Many still have mercury (thimerosal), in them. Write to our federal legislators and tell them you DON'T want this vaccine, or any other, mandatory!

Vicki Marie--I used supreme greens, or any good organic whole food greens will do---coral cal daily, 8 glasss a day or more in natural spring water---Mercola's japanese chorella---grape seed extract---soil based probiotics--Echinacea---digestive enzymes, food enzymes--and we took everything according to directions on package. Also, we stayed away from as much junk foods as possible. We ate organic if we could get it, lots of fruits and veggies, watermelon and cantaloupe and so forth. Dr. Mercola had an article on building up and keeping your immune system strong, and that is exactly what we did. The immune system will most likely take care of it if you keep it strong and don't delute with junky and processed foods, pop or white sugar.

These are some of the quotes that have come out in news articles after the HPV vaccine reaction recently.

Experts are convincing the public that reactions to vaccines are not only normal, but desirable, as this means the childs immune system is working properly - "its a good thing".

Dr G says "I believe at this point, anxiety and reaction to the needle is most likely to be the problem"...there is no cause for alarm, and it is unlikely that the reactions were a side effect of the vaccine: "My belief is on good national and international advise that this vaccine is safe".....

And now for the doosey.....

Prof S says: "The reassuring news however, is that over 2 million doses of this vaccine have already been administered in the US and there is no increased adverse events profile seen with the vaccine in comparison to other similar types of vaccines, which is very reassuring news for Australian girls".....

Yep death is not an increased adverse event to vaccine....

Sheeple is a term of disparagement, a portmanteau created by combining the words "sheep" and "people"; a reference to herd mentality. It is often used to denote persons who acquiesce to authority, and thus undermine their own human individuality. The implication of sheeple is that as a collective, people believe whatever they are told, without processing it to be sure that it is an accurate representation of the real world around them. The term is generally used in a political or religious sense.

Check out our new National Anthem:

*"Oh yes, I am a sheeple, and oh so proud to be.
I am way too smart to believe in a conspiracy."*

It still fascinates me how "they" always focus on the symptom of a bigger problem. So "they" see HPV as a problem, so "they" develop something in order to wipe it out? Why not work backwards and try to figure out where it is coming from?

From all my reading and research, I have to somewhat disagree with the findings in this article. Not Dr. Mercola, but how they correlate HPV to cervical cancer. "Women are much more likely to get cervical cancer if they have been on the pill." Dr. Lee

A pap smear tests form cancerous or precancerous cells on the cervix. Therer are 5 classes: 1) normal 2) inflammation or irritation 3) cervical dysplasia 4)some pre or cancerous cells 5) invasive cancer. The problem with this test according to Dr. Lee is that there are a lot of false-positive's, giving a more serious rating than there already is.

According to Dr. Lee, positive findings in a pap smear happen from: traumatic sex, tampons, condoms, smoking, douches and spermicides on condoms. As well, progesterone deficiency can also contribute to cervical dysplasia secondary to making the cervix more susceptible to inflammation and irritation (secondary to the women being estrogen dominant).

So most MD's look at cervical dysplasia as the byproduct from HPV. In my opinion from treating so many women that are estrogen dominant, have low progesterone levels, smoke, have sex, use condoms, etc, what do you think the cause might be? I am not saying these are the only reasons, but why not consider them before taking a vaccine?

"We know that the use of oral contraceptives increases the risk of cervical dysplasia by AT LEAST 50% and the risk of cervical cancer by AT LEAST 25%." Dr. Lee

Just an aside to Sheila C's abnormal pap smear, taken after having had sex the night before: as a nurse-midwife, I always advised my clients to put NOTHING into their vaginas before having a pap smear. One should not have sex, douche, or use any intravaginal products for 24 hours before a pap smear, because it can alter the cellular sample, causing false positives. How many women have been informed of this by their health care providers? Many repeat paps could be avoided by following this simple preparation.

Mr. Rubin, I totally agree with you. The last two times my pap smear came back with irregular cells, I knew it was because my husband and I had sex (not traumatic, though) the night before the doctors appointment. And all I did was freak out the whole time until I went back and gotted checked again and everything was fine. I learned my lesson, don't have sex for a few days before the pap test.

We wiped out smallpox and polio. While I'm not trying to promote the vaccine in any way (because I'm dead against it), by sweeping everyone in the country with a vaccine, we are capable of eliminating a disease.

Unfortunately, despite the claims of Merck, and those who support giving the vaccine to girls, it's obvious that the intention behind the virus is not to eliminate those strains of HPV that contribute to cervical cancer because they're not giving it to all carriers of the virus (namely, boys).

June 16, 2007

After spending a significant amount of time looking up answers to my questions, I can honestly say that there is nothing - absolutely nothing - about this vaccine that makes it worthwhile.

Just a quick note - smallpox and polio were already on the decline when the vaccinations were developed.....we host a couple of vaccination videos on our dance website www.northernlightsdance.biz if you'd like to watch.

Jonas Polk, actually begged the backers of this vaccine to pull it from the market before it even got started. He realized it was a mistake. But his backers, already figuring the incredible profits that could be made from this ignored his pleas and went ahead anyway.....and that is the start of vaccinations - from the very beginning they've been a farce.

Drug companies lie, cheat, manipulate congress and data and create totally misleading commercials so that they can do ONE thing, sell more drugs at ANY COST!!.

These companies are run by billionaires who only care about making an extra billion dollars, and they don't care if they kill billions to do it or destroy the entire planet!!.

There is a group of about fifty or so billionaires, most of them bankers who's only goal is nothing less than world domination and control through economics and business. This is especially true of bankers!!.

July 03, 2007

Most people have a very hard time believing that people could be THAT greedy where they would kill tens or hundreds of thousands of people without a care, only to make more money when they already have billions of dollars. If you've ever met or known such people, you would know that this is par for the course.

Everyone should see the movie SICKO. While I've never been a fan of Michael Moore, this is not a political movie at all. I've known that national healthcare is better for years via the internet and talking to people from all over the world. I've been into Chinese martial arts and medicine for over 24 years and the only way to get and stay healthy is to take care of your OWN health, not WAIT till you get sick and hope that you have enough coverage!.

It requires learning and study, but it's WELL worth it as I've helped soo many over the years to do just that. Drugs and surgery are only good for emergency situations or serious injuries where alternative treatments would be too slow. 90% of the time, drugs and surgery are unnecessary!!.

It really brings to reality the statement "The love of money is the root of all kinds of evil"

No info here on whether Gardasil contains Thimerosal (mercury preservative), formaldehyde, or other poison but it sure sounds like it -- certainly it's not the virus (either dead or "deactivated") doing this, since no one has any such reaction when they catch the virus 'naturally.'

It used to be said that couples who used "rhythm" are called, "parents." Now it can be said that parents who use "vaccinations" are called, "mourners." Nice work, Big Pharma.

We used to call folks who screw up everything they do, "jerk-offs." Maybe we should now call such people, "Merck-offs."

Can't we export this stuff to China, where it belongs? They've got over a BILLION too many people there, plenty of "expendable" "useless eaters" to victimize that no one there will miss except a couple close relatives -- and if the mothers weren't yet sterilized, they might then be allowed to bear a second legal child to replace the first deceased one, assuming Chicom law has such a provision. ...Hey, it's their law...!

Anyway, for American parents not suffering brain death caused by O-2 deprivation from Head-Up-The-Butt Syndrome, there's always the Constitutional "Religious Exemption" to vaccination. For all the sheeple parents, there's always that inexpensive Children's Insurance available to cover funeral expenses. (Get it BEFORE seeing the pediatrician!)

To vast degree, we are all responsible, those of us who do not vote, and those of us who vote to keep these career politicians in office. Money is the fuel for this type of mass corruption, as we have seen time, and time again. Our elected officials would sell their own children for a buck. Not to mention the fact few of us read, and when we go to the doctor's office, too many of us are afraid to ask real questions, or even make comments, concerning our own health problems.

I never thought about whether vaccines were good for you or not until my son was born. I used to be one of the "blind" who always just followed my government where ever it took me; assuming the government and drug companies had my best interest at heart. What a rude awakening I had! A friend mentioned this site and said I must go here before making any decisions about vaccines and I thank God every day that I did. When I refused vaccines for my newborn everyone told me about how sick he'd get by not getting them. He's now 5 months old and the healthiest baby anyone's ever seen. Getting vaccines is an insult to the immune system, and insulting it too much will make it pack up and leave for good. Everyones seen the gardasil commercial.."may help to prevent some of the types of hpv that may cause cervical cancer". ??? And the tiny letters underneath that say it only may prevent 4 stands of it when there's hundreds of strands? And may not fully prectect you against even those! And people are willing to disfigure and possibly kill their daughters for this? I'm just terrified what will come next!

Some facts about this vaccine

1) Merck outsourced some of its Gardasil trials to Contract Research Organizations (CROs) in the developing world, including JayaJan Pharmaceutical Research in India. CROs are part of a $14 billion industry that recruits subjects and runs trials for BigPharma. Conflicts of interest can arise when CROs are paid royalties only after a drug is approved rather than getting a set fee independent of results, or when CROs believe favorable findings will lead to future contracts. Merck spokesperson Amy Rose refused to specify how, or even if, the company oversees CROs. This information comes from the article HPV vaccine: Betting on a Mercky record by Terry J. Allen

2) Gardasil contains Polysorbate 80, which is linked to infertility in mice

3) Gardasil contains sodium borate (a common roach killer) In 2005 the National Library of Medicine (NLM) of the National Institutes of Health noted that sodium borate "is now known to be a dangerous poison, it is no longer commonly used in medical preparations."

4) Anyone receiving the full set of 3 vaccines would be receiving 675 mcg of aluminum. Aluminum is a toxic metal when injected into our bloodstreams and can adversely affect muscles, tissues, nerves and brain. There are also associations of Alzheimers with aluminum.

How dare they try to mandate this toxic soup into the arms of our little girls!

AHA! Just after I lamented that there was no info here on which poison is obviously in Gardasil, here it is! According to the U. of Maryland Med. Ctr. website under "Sodium Borate Poisoning":

Sodium borate poisoning can be acute or chronic. Acute, accidental sodium borate poisoning usually occurs when someone swallows powdered roach-killing products that contain the chemical.

Poisoning may also occur in those who are repeatedly exposed to sodium borate. In the past, boric acid was used to disinfect and treat wounds. Patients who received such treatment over and over again got sick, and some died. Because boric acid is now known to be a dangerous poison, it is no longer commonly used in medical preparations. However, boric acid is contained in some vaginal suppositories used for yeast infections, although this is NOT a standard treatment.

[and]

The main symptoms of boric acid poisoning is blue-green vomiting, diarrhea, and a bright red rash on the skin. Other symptoms may include:

- Fever
- Twitching of facial muscles , arms, hands, legs, and feet
- Convulsions
- Significantly decreased urine output (or none)
- Collapse
- Blisters
- Sloughing of skin
- Low blood pressure
- Drowsiness
- Lack of desire to do anything
- Coma

I saw this comming and was horrified. In the future you are all going to be again amazed when you see the results of the drug lupron being given to young girls I know I have done the research and I have a victim of the drug so it is first hand..It is the drug companies and the politicians who have put money before citizens lives.

Now we see the benefits of "Tort Reform," a means of protecting Big Pharma's profits, regardless of how they come by these profits. Never mind the fact people die as a result of these vast experiments, on humans for profits.

This is indicative, of the reasons Healthcare in general is so out of hand cost wise. As long as Healthcare remains in the hands of "For Profit Carpetbaggers, " many of our citizens will remain out of the loop. Instead of our society going back to the basics, and teaching good health habits from a very young age, we now have these miracle drugs to rely on. Trick is, is the drug going to kill you, or provide society with yet another crutch.

For virus research, Google Dr. Linus Pauling, and become pro-active about your health, and the health of your loved ones.

This is what I REALLY think, 1.) Watch "The Constant Gardener" this really says it all about big pharmaceuticals. 2.)Let us, we the people of the United States and the World for that matter get over all of the psycho beliefs that we cannot use condoms not only to prevent unwanted pregnancies BUT more importantly unwanted diseases. If people used barrier methods this would not even be an issue BUT the powers that be will not educate young people in this country and label this "Christian" thinking. If my child is not even having sex WHY am I forced to have her submit to this vaccine? Everything involved with this is evil, evil, evil...It is part of the convoluted system of the FDA that is RUINING us as a country. To write letters to your congressmen is futile. It seems to me that the only way out of this is to declare your religion onethat prohibits vaccines...These so called diseases were non-existent until "discovered" by big business.

The risk of Cervical Cancer is massively increased by promiscuous sex by the female. A monogamous lifetime relationship (isn't that what Marriage is?) drastically reduces the risk. You won't hear any of the Political Correct or Drug Dumb bring this point up.

Our oldest child is 25 and 19 is our next - they had a couple of vaccines each when they where younger - until I found out the horrid lies and the unacceptable ingredients that were found in vaccines - at the time (17 years ago - formeldehyde was in the damn things) Our three youngest 17 and two 15 yo have never had one shot - and I thank my lucky stars and God everyday for the information that came into our lives all those years ago.....Blessings to you and your family - and welcome to a site where you will learn much about "how to raise the healthiest children possible."

(I have to say, I don't agree with any animal products though - and many here feel differently).....I want world peace and I don't believe it is attainable if there is slaughter of animals - I think all these thousands of years - we've been missing the huge message of living in peace with all creatures. I think if we're going to see wonderful changes brought about, it needs to begin on the smallest scale - right down to the treatment of animals - good read - Diet for World Peace.

-3 Points    I just have a few problems with this article. What does the rate of breast cancer in women have to do with the rate of cervical cancer and whether or not this vaccine is safe?

Also, who's to say that the blood clots were not a coincidence? I agree that it is awfully unlikely that 3 girls died of blood clots after receiving the vaccine, but it could happen.

Incidentally, I am not allowing my 18 year old daughter to receive the vaccine(maybe allowing is not the right word to use regarding an 18 year old). We have talked about and she agrees that it is unnecessary and not worth the risks.

+5 Points    I thought it was pretty clear but apparently not. The point about cervical v. breast cancer was that cervical is not nearly as big a concern nor as common as breast cancer, yet we suddenly have this big push to legally mandate a vaccine against a supposed cause of a relatively uncommon cancer that relatively rarely results in death, when the supposed cause (HPV) is usually annihilated by the immune system anyway. BTW it has not been proven that HPV causes CC, only that it's "associated" with it -- since cancer can only develop where immune function has been reduced locally, it is equally likely (actually, more likely) that it is found in & around ("associated with") cancerous or precancerous tissue BECAUSE of such local immune suppression. It is also found where there is NO cancerous or precancerous tissue condition, about a hundred thousand times more often, and then is usually immune-eradicated anyway. Do the math.

But, what do you mean, "the blood clots"? WHAT blood clots?

Hopefully you pointed out to your 18 year old daughter that the way one gets HPV is equally risky and its consequences can be equally life-changing, life-threatening and even life-ending. If everyone remained celibate until becoming monogamous, all STD would become extinct within a single generation. Do the math. It's that simple.

The main reason we all go around saying "I wish I'd known then what I know now" is no one told us way back when. So tell her now, so she'll know too.

Lisa the article is merely putting the cervical cancer rate into perspective by comparing it with breast cancer rates. As for the coincidence of blood clots in girls that age immediately following vaccine – I don't think so!
