Israeli embassies and consulates

This thread is for posting pics of Israeli embassies and consulates that exist around the world. For this who are unfamiliar with what an embassy is, this the official residence of where the ambassdor for a country goes to when being there. They also serve as being representative of the country they are built for as well as being built by architects of that country. Embassies are mainly located in a country's capital. Meanwhile, consulates are home to consuls to reside in another country to represent them for commercial reasons. In other words, they are sort of like branches to the embassies, but on a smaller scale, and they are located in other cities in a country. So now, let's see where Israel is represented around the world. To start it of, here is the Israeli embassy and consulates in the US.

Washington, DC:embassy

NYC:consulate

Chicago: consulate

Boston: consulate

Houston:consulate

Unfortunately, a number of Israeli embassies and consulates have been plagued with anti-Israel protests, but I didn't make this thread to talk politics, it was show to pics of Israeli consulates and embassies around the world. BTW, I will admit that for NYC and Houston, those aren't the best shots. I did remember somewhere that there was a pic that actually showed the Israeli consulate in NYC, but it no longer shows up. In that pic, look for the glassy building on the left-hand side and right behind the streetlamp that is holding the traffic light. As for the Houston, I couldn't find a pic of it exactly, but it should be one of the buildings in Greenway Plaza, though it may not be in that one. Nevertheless, don't worry about the protesters in these shots or any others that will placed here.

There are other consulates in the US and Canada that are in Atlanta, LA, Miami, Montreal, Philadelphia, and San Francisco.

I didn't know that some of them have closed, while the Israeli embassy in Buenos Aires was destroyed in 1992, and was left as a memorial since then rather than being rebuilt. 😞

If any Israeli embassy has been known to be surrounded with hate, the one in Dublin has been known for it.

The Israeli Embassy in Oslo, Norway is said to be most guarded at all of them.
