“US Senators to arrive in israel for indoctrination”

It's not my title - this is how Calcutta News and Malaysia Sun decided to describe the following story from Ynet News:

A delegation of American senators is scheduled to arrive in Israel on Sunday. The senators are members of a joint Senate-Knesset committee headed by Senator Jon Kyl, who is close to President George W. Bush and Vice President Dick Cheney.

Member of Knesset Yuval Steinitz (Likud) is hosting the delegation. Together with Senator Kyl, he established the committee four years ago to strengthen defense cooperation between the two countries.

"We formed the committee four years ago, when I was Chairman of the Knesset's Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee. It is the only joint committee between the American Congress and another country," said Steinitz.

"We think that it is important that the members of the delegation feel the connection and understand Israel better. They are mostly non-Jewish and we want them to feel some obligation to the country," he added.

Excuse me??? Their only 'obligation' is to the people (not the corporations) of the United States of America.

And if they don't like it - on behalf of their constituents, I accept their resignation.

"The ability of the Senate and the Congress to promote issues is just as important as that of the American administration.

They will be briefed by Mossad Officials about Iran, Hizbullah and global Jihad," he said.

"The committee has had major achievements and we hope that this visit will lead to additional feats," he concluded.

Like, for example, a green light from Congress to invade Iran even as the US continues to take a beating in Iraq.

That would be a pretty incredible feat.

One of the committee's successes to date is receiving funding for a project to develop a rocket-interception system.

Meanwhile, back in the United States, people sleep on sidewalks and collect food stamps, just to stay alive.

The two-day visit includes meetings with Opposition Chairman MK Benjamin Netanyahu, Foreign Minister Tzipi Livni and Chief of the Mossad. Later on they will also meet Deputy President and Knesset Speaker Dalia Itzik and Prime Minister Ehud Olmert.

The visit will end with dinner with Coalition Chairman MK Avigdor Itzhaky, MK Tzachi Hangebi, Nobel Prize Laureate Prof. Robert Auman and Nathan Sharansky.

Why end it at all?

Why don't they just stay there?

It seems that that's where they belong.

Going Incognito

I love how they mention a planned meeting with Tzipi Livni and "Chief of the Mossad". Who in Hell is that supposed to mean, Geronimo ? I know, don't tell me. Meir "Da Gun" Dagan is now working strictly incognito. And he's just the swellest kind of spy a gaggle of obligated senators would ever want to meet!

A Real Smoking Gun

Here's the kind of company our traveling Knesset will be keeping this Sunday: { from Trish Schuh, Arab American News }
{-Comparing the Hariri car bombing to the mysterious car bombings in Iraq, "Asia Times" said: "What remains is the evidence of Baghdad in Beirut... The iron-clad certainty, on both sides [Sunni and Shi'a resistance in Iraq], is that these have been perpetrated not by "terrorists" as the U.S. claims, but rather by Israeli black ops or CIA-connected American mercenaries, with the intent of fueling tensions and advancing the prospect of civil war. Now if only someone would come up with a Beirut smoking gun."}

"The Gun" — as Meir Dagan is nicknamed — could be it.

The Israeli website DEBKFiles wrote that the above-named South Lebanon Army mercenary Mahmoud Rafea, had been assassinating/spying in Lebanon for Israel since 1989 when he was recruited by current Mossad director Meir Dagan.

In 2002, Meir Dagan was reappointed by Ariel Sharon to reprise the Mossad's covert operations in Lebanon, notably targeted killings abroad. Coinciding with Dagan's appointment, official Israeli policy was expanded to allow assassinations in friendly ally nations (including the U.S.) using Kidon death squads from the Metsada Division. It was a job for which Dagan had ample experience. ("The Australian," 9/24/04 & UPI 1/15/03)

Under Ariel Sharon in 1970, Dagan commanded a secret assassination unit of the Israeli Security Agency called Sayaret Rimon that eliminated over 750 Palestinians in the Gaza Strip. In 1982, he helped command Israel's invasion of Lebanon. His main assignment was to manage undercover infiltrators and to train Lebanese collaborators for the pro-Israel South Lebanon Army.

Dagan commanded the Lebanon Liaison Unit (Yakal or Yaagal Border Unit) which was notorious for its cross-border raids into Lebanon to kidnap opponents, as well as its secret prison Camp 1391, where detainees were tortured and disappeared. "Haaretz" alleged Camp 1391 was the prototype for America's Guantanamo facility.

Dagan also operated the IDF Military Intelligence Unit 504, whose expertise was assassination, sabotage and spy running in Lebanon. The Israel Defense Forces call such spy saboteurs "mista'aravim"— "soldiers disguised as Arabs." Used for clandestine reconnaissance and to frame enemies in false flag operations, these IDF soldiers impersonating Arabs and their proxies are "trained to act and think like Arabs", and to blend in to the target population with appropriate manners and language. (In 2002, this writer encountered at least one such Israeli 'student' who claimed to be in Beirut "learning to think like 'the enemy'".)

One Mista'aravim specialty is the donning of Arab garb. In 1973, Israel's "Spring of Youth Operation" conducted by the IDF Sayaret Matkal in Beirut included future Prime Minister Ehud Barak dressed as an Arab woman while conducting a death squad hit. Mista'aravim provocateurs camouflaged as Palestinians are still used in the West Bank and Iraq. "Jane's Foreign Report" said Mossad's Dagan had advised U.S. officials in September 2002 on how Israeli special ops could help the U.S. war effort in Iraq. Mista'aravim methods were exemplified in Basra where British SAS troops dressed as Arabs in a vehicle loaded with explosives were seized before detonating a car bomb. According to Israeli intelligence expert Ephraim Kahana, Sayaret Matkal is modeled on Britain's SAS. Excellent work, do you have more information on this matter?! It is most intriguing, and what is your source(s)?

We need a dedicated section on MOSSAD Operations as well, to 'illuminat(i)' on this matter further!

People, names, places, dates, events, etc.

We need to expose not only those 'higher up' but also the 'foot soldiers' who carry out these greivous actions as well.

Thanks TGR, for your constant attention. It's getting a bit past my bedtime, but in the meantime, I certainly didn't mean to slight some of the other distinguished attendees at our 'Sunday Brunch'. Here's a few more, with some background on their collegial activities as of July of last year, prior to the Lebanon invasion. (courtesy of Wayne Madsen Report) July 22/23, 2006 -- The Israeli invasion of Lebanon was planned between top Israeli officials and members of the Bush administration. On June 17 and 18, former Israeli Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu and Likud Knesset member Natan Sharansky met with Vice President Dick Cheney at the American Enterprise Institute conference in Beaver Creek, Colorado. There, the impending Israeli invasions of both Gaza and Lebanon were discussed. After receiving Cheney's full backing for the invasion of Gaza and Lebanon, Netanyahu flew back to Israel and participated in a special "Ex-Prime Ministers" meeting, in which he conveyed the Bush administration's support for the carrying out of the "Clean Break" policy -- the trashing of all past Middle East peace accords, including Oslo. Present at the meeting, in addition to Netanyahu, were current Prime Minister Ehud Olmert and former Prime Ministers Ehud Barak and Shimon Peres. Former Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir is very old and suffers from dementia and Ariel Sharon remains in a coma after a series of strokes.

[Lebanon and Gaza invasions planned last month in Colorado meetings between Netanyahu, Sharansky, and Cheney.]

After the AEI meeting, Sharansky, who has the ear of Bush, met with the Heritage Foundation in Washington and then attended a June 29 seminar at Philadelphia's Main Line Haverford School sponsored by the Middle East Forum led by Daniel Pipes. Sharansky appeared with Pennsylvania Senator Rick Santorum who this past Thursday was beating the war drums against Syria, Iran, and "Islamofascism" in a fiery speech at the National Press Club attended by a cheering section composed of members of the neocon Israel Project, on whose board Santorum serves along with Georgia Sen. Saxby Chambliss and Virginia GOP Rep. Tom Davis....kinda makes ya wonder what else might be on that Sunday Menu, don't it ?

It's about US-Israel versus the world. Took me a while to develop.

In the presentation I blacked out the young people's faces posing with a particular politician and placed a red arrow pointing at "AIPAC" in the background. Photo of John McCain with the "United States of Israel" flags is damning as well.

True traitors - the corrupt Congressmembers besides other prominent figures - will face the music one day.
