

They're Killing The Orthodox Of Israel

Another sad call from Israel. The lady lets me know that Rina Kushland was stabbed in the liver. After three operations she was going to pull through. But because Rina is a hareidi lady there was no publicity and the police aren't seeking her assailants. Rina was my brave partner in protest. She stood by me at Rabin's 10th anniversary rally, passing out those explosive flyers. A few days later, I drove her from a rally in Netanya to her home in Kiryat Sefer. Unfortunately, there were two flat tires arranged for me and she got home in a tow truck.

But war has been declared on the religious of Israel and especially those fighting for their homes. Rina was just a lovely victim. Look what happened to the religious from Jan. 19 - Jan. 29:

Rabbi Yitzhak Ginsburg was the first to suffer from an errant car. It veered off the road and killed his grandson. Rav Ginsburg is a Chabad firebrand, arrested falsely after the Rabin murder as an indirect conspirator. Lately, he put up a highly unpopular yeshivah in the Frankist capital of Ramat Aviv Gimel.

The last "accident" was to the grandchild of Rabbi Moti Elon. His family includes the hapless Margalit Har Shefi, set up to be a conspirator in the Rabin murder. She has never returned to genuine humanity since her 9 month prison sentence.

Strange that both asterisks in the Rabin murder fiasco suffered such similar losses. But they were the start of the strange political revenge taking place against their people. Ami Popper killed seven Arabs. He is married to the sister of the Kahana Chai thinker Lenny Goldberg, and he fathered three children on his furloughs. We can only guess that he was hypnotized to drive a car without a license and swerve it into traffic north of Eilat, killing his wife and two sons. The Arabs had long wanted their vengeance against Popper and the Prison Services, we assume, decided to pitch in.

The Eilat killing ground worked out so well because just six days earlier, a truck driver for reasons unfathomable to his interrogators, switched lanes at the last second and smashed into a van full of prominent Chabad youth. Two of the three dead were the sons of learning institute directors.

Now me for a passing moment. I ran from Israel last May when a car appeared from nowhere and smacked into my door full speed. I was invited to an Independence Day party outside Modiin by a lady who later sent me an insane letter from Hadassah Hospital:

"why didnt you take me seriously, barry?
i am carrying on your legacy not the way you did of course i dont have your qualifactions
i have a tambourine"

My friend Baruch called from Israel. He spoke to my lawyer and my insurance company. Both insisted they can't go on because the police won't release my accident report.

But today, all is different. Every victim is orthodox. On Jan.27, in Ramat Bet Shemesh, a Hareidi woman was found dead in a field. She was snatched and buried before we knew what killed her.

There is murder in the Knesset! We know that on Dec.18/05, Ariel Sharon shared tea with Shimon Peres in the Knesset and then suffered a stroke. This time, orthodox politician Nisim Zeev took a sip of water from the table of the Knesset Foreign Affairs Committee. He immediately vomited and then passed out. At Hadassah Hospital, poison was found in goodly amounts throughout his body.

"I was poisoned," he exclaimed.

...in Israel's final solution to the religious problem, I add.

NOTES

Jan-28-07 / 9 Shevat 5767

(IsraelNN.com) An external physical examination carried out on a hareidi-religious woman in Hadassah Ein Karem Hospital has ruled out foul play. The body has been taken to burial.

The woman's body had been found Saturday in a field near her home in Ramat Beit Shemesh, not far from Jerusalem. Members of the hareidi-religious community whisked her body away and hid it from police, for fear an autopsy would be carried out. Post-mortem surgery is contrary to Jewish orthodox law.

The external examination of the body was the product of a compromise reached between haredi-religious rabbis and the police.

MK Ze'ev: "Someone Poisoned Me"

16:40 Jan 24, '07 / 5 Shevat 5767

(IsraelINN.com) MK Nisim Ze'ev (Shas) felt ill Wednesday after drinking water during a parliamentary committee session, and suspects he was poisoned. Ze'ev drank several sips of water from a thermos placed on the table during a meeting of the Foreign Affairs and Security Committee, when he felt ill and dizzy and began vomiting. "I immediately told the committee chairman that there had been an attempt to poison me and that someone needs to investigate if there was an attempt to poison the committee members," Ze'ev told Ynet.

Ze'ev was whisked away from the Knesset by an ambulance. He says the initial tests showed a high level of poisonous materials in his body. Four officers from the Police Criminal Detection Laboratory came to the Knesset and took...

Yediot Ahrono - in its third editorial - refers to a recent case in which a mass murderer, who was out of prison on furlough, caused a deadly traffic accident en route to a holiday in Eilat with his family, and criticizes the fact that he was allowed out of prison at all.

The tidings of the tragic event in Eilat has shocked and bewildered Chabad communities in Israel, shocked at the results of the fatal accident claiming the lives of three Chabad bochrin on their way to mivtzaim in Eilat. Nadia Matar is Israel's last protest leader. She sent me a lovely letter. But her spirit is flagging. Tell her about who she's actually fighting, then join her:

I agree with what you wrote below

but it seems you are more optimistic than me-you wrote: "within an hour 250,000 Jews would come to support the coup"- you are dreaming my friend-

After Gush katif I have come to the realization as to how sick and pathologic the national religious camp and its "leaders" are- and how the religious "mamlachti" education has turned most of our camp into puppets that bow down to the State and its symbols -even if the State is trying to destroy the Torah, the Land and the People. So exactly where would the 250,000 people you are talking about come from- I do not know?

What gives me hope and strength to continue is

a) working with those youth who have not been corrupted by the system- those so-called "hilltop youth" . What can I tell you. They are so pure. So real. So honest .They are our future. I just hope the country lasts till they will be a little older to take over.

b) the thought that Calev Ben Yefune and Yehoshua Bin Nun were in a worst position that we are now. They were only two spies in the desert against the entire national & religious leadership. I always think about that: mamash only 2 people who have the guts to say: the Land of Israel is good, let's go and take over. How must they have felt when the people almost stoned them to death. What strength they must have had not to bow down to the "ambiance" of weeping in the camp? And years later, we remember davka those two and not the 10 other weak leaders. So what gives me strength is to know that in our times we DO have more than 2 Calev Ben Yefuneh and Yehoshua Bin Nun. We are hundreds...maybe thousands. But certainly not 250,000. Not yet...unfortunately.

I received a terrific book; Awakening To Our Awful Situation by Jack Monnett. It contains an intro by the terrific analyst Joel Skousen, and offers free a 2 hour DVD on the real 9-11 by Dr. Steven Jones of BYU. The book summarized the world in peril with great skill. Oh yes, Mormons will read many parts I didn't. To order jack@monnettbooks.com
