Marine who served in Iraq fatally shot

Published January 19, 2007, 12:29 AM CST

The family of a Chicago ex-Marine was still in shock Thursday night, less than a day after he was shot to death in the parking lot of a bar in Hammond.

Isaias Cintron, 24, who returned from a four-year stint with the Marines in November after serving in Iraq as a combat engineer, pulled into the parking lot of the Portside Inn on Indianapolis Boulevard about 1:30 a.m. when gunfire erupted from another car, said his father, Tomas Cintron.

"They just opened fire on the car indiscriminately," Cintron said. "My son was killed."

Hammond police were not available for comment late Thursday, but Cintron said police "had no idea" what the motive was. He said three men who were with his son said there had been no confrontations leading up to the attack.

Cintron's father said his son grew up on Chicago's Southeast Side and attended Kennedy-King College for two years before enlisting in the Marines.

...the Marine cowards rape and murder and sometimes they are found by the brave Iraqi resistance.

We love it!!!
