As more and more people in the United States learn about Congressman Ron Paul (R-Texas), they are absolutely stunned that anyone elected to the U.S. Congress could actually NOT be a paid puppet of the lobbyists.

When you hear Dr. Paul speak on the U.S. Federal Reserve, you will find that he is absolutely aligned with the same principles espoused and intended by the founding fathers of the United States.

The Federal Reserve System is actually the cause of inflation and one of the primary reasons why your financial future is unstable, insecure, and likely to include inflations, recessions and depressions. In this short video, Dr. Paul explains why its secretive practices and economic manipulations are bad news for the United States.

Dr. Mercola's Comment:

Dr. Paul is one of my heroes. He is a shining example of how one solitary voice can inspire and bring necessary change. He is nearly single-handedly leading the charge to address the perversion that multi-national corporations have done to the U.S. government.

Not only has Dr. Paul been making quite an impression during the recent Republican presidential debates, he's also introduced a bill that would strongly and positively affect Mercola.com and many other natural health organizations and advocates, and the field of natural health in general.

The Health Freedom Protection Act would prevent the FDA from censoring truthful claims about the curative or preventative effect of dietary supplements, a popular issue for Americans -- but not necessarily for Congressmen, especially for those receiving donations from the multi-national drug company cartel.

One of the more recent flashpoints in the debate over dietary supplements occurred eight years ago, after studies emerged that tart cherries may do more good than aspirin or other anti-inflammatory drugs when it comes to pain relief. When cherry growers began to cite this research, the FDA came down hard on 29 of them, threatening legal action if they didn't remove the scientific evidence about cherries from their Web sites.

At the very same time the FDA was harassing cherry farmers, the agency was approving the heart-stopping drug Vioxx, which was pulled from the American market in 2004. Think about that -- truthful studies about cherries could not be referred to, but deadly and dangerous drug alternatives could be advertised everywhere.

The support for Dr. Paul is like nothing I have ever seen before. I read nearly three dozen blogs every day and about 5,000 posts a week so I have a good sense of what people are feeling. The support for Dr. Paul has been almost universally positive for his effort.

When I posted an article about him in last week's newsletter he had over a 97 percent positive comment rating. This is rare, and I believe it's because he speaks the TRUTH and that resonates at a deep level with those who seek it. It is my sincere hope that enough of a groundswell can be generated through the Internet to give him a chance to be the next president. You never know, stranger things have happened.

Ron Paul is a true patriot. There is not one other politician that will even mention what he has the balls to. Look for the major media(bought and paid for) to start painting him as a whacko.

The federal reserve is not a federal institution... no more than the federal express is. It is unconstitutional to delegate the power to create money to this private monopoly.

Unfortunately like many monetary reformists... I do not think he understands exactly how to fix the problem. He thinks that fiat money is the problem because of rampant inflation.

The problem is that fiat money is not the cause of inflation. The problem is interest. It increases unemployment, decreases production, and is purported to decrease inflation. What controls the money supply however, is not even interest but the federal reserve discount rate. What controls inflation is debt itself. When a debt is paid back the money is destroyed which keeps it from being inflationary. Currenty the money supply exceeds the debt itself. This is only possible because some money (not all) is created without debt. Usually money is created only through loans (when a debt is attached). An example of this are open market operations.

The real problem with the monetary system is that it makes us economic slaves. Consider a typical 200k loan given for the mortgage on a house. You will end up paying back about 400k. This money was created by the bank from nothing. They simply edited their electronical ledgers at the stroke of a few keys. Out of this 200k extra you paid in interest, the work they do is little, the risk they bear is minimal... and the amount that actually goes to depositors is small. (they do not actually lend out depositors funds as you may happen to think. A loan is new money, an addition to the money supply)

I am not sure if you watched the video but they really don't teach these things in school. I was a student in macroeconomics myself in college. Where do they teach you that the granting of power of congress to the federal reserve to create money, is unconstitutional? "Those powers not explicitly granted to the congress by the constitution are inherently denied to the congress and thus the authority to establish a central bank was never given" Where do they teach you that the Federal reserve is really a private cartel? And that their interests are inimical to ours?

Yes the money supply is also controlled by the buying and selling of securities in the open market. However the discount rate is also a tool that is used, one of three. The other is changing the reserve ratio. The point though was to illustrate that interest rates are not what controls the money supply.

Interest is not the sole cause of unemployment but it is a factor. When interest rates go up, spending decreases, saving increases... and production goes down. Unemployment rises. What exactly is it that you disagree with?

And finally, while the current monetary system does allow us a means of exchange, and the promotion of capital... saying that it is properly functioning and working as it should be to me, is like saying that a corrupt politician is better than no politician. It's better than the alternative which is chaos. But I will take the honest politician tyvm .

+4 Points

Inflation by definition is an increase in the money supply without the same corresponding increase in production. Secondly, as I said.. interest does not control the money supply. The federal reserve discount rate does.

You know Russ, that is the one problem that I have with Ron Paul. He wants to privatize EVERYTHING (including the FAA)! In theory that sounds great, but reality is that the contracts get handed out to a few big boys who get even richer than they already are by committing acts of criminal negligence while delivering as little service as possible.

It is a shame that there is a time limit on how long you have to say something in the House of Representatives. Representative Ron Paul was very informative. If you want to read any information I would recommend Syndrome of Control and To Seduce a Nation both by Lindsey Williams. They agree with what Ron Paul says and goes into more detail. Ron Paul ROCKS! I love him. A patriot, a constitutionalist, and above all a man of honor and integrity(please research him if you have not already). I feel that he is a symbol of what is great about America! I also believe that he is perhaps our last hope to wrest the sword from the hands of the neo-cons, and sadly, the neo-cons(which includes Hillary believe it or not) will not go without a fight because they have so much invested in squashing the middle and lower classes and systematically destroying the autonomy of the U.S.. This is why Ron Paul needs our support. He will fight the FDA, abolish the IRS and Federal Reserve, believes in limiting government in peoples lives, will return our troops home and end the neo-con war agenda that has never brought us security and never will, and more. Folks, if you are aware and sick of the same old Bush/Clinton dynastic ruling, know what it really is doing to the U.S., especially the middle and lower classes, then do not just vote for Ron Paul but support him in whatever way you can! Long Live the Ron Paul Revolution!!

i just watched ron paul on yes...fox news cable . he was on the "your world" with neil cavuto. cavuto said he had received lots of mail to have him on the show so he put him on. ron paul did get a chance to talk about his views and was interrupted only a couple of times by cavuto to either clarify a point or to ask a question.. but otherwise he got a fair interview and got his message across to the viewers. it will be interesting to see if the other networks will give him a chance to speak.

Finally, a man of conscience who hasn't been bought off! To be sure, the "deflation" in the purchasing power of the "earned dollar," which translates into ones, "organic" wealth, principle or capital, is THE primary issue. capitalism," vs Corporate Collectivism which fraudulently postures AS capitalism. The question is asked, if a Corporate ENTITY is a "person," as arbitrarily decided by US Supreme Court Justice Waite in 1886, and if this "person" is owned by its shareholders, are the shareholders of this "person" thereby engaging in slavery? And further, are those who work for this legal "persona," also held in servitude or slavery in contravention of all lawfully constituted human rights codes which outlaw slavery? By nature, the Corporate FICTION has no life of it's own and serves only itself. Neither does a Corporate FICTION have any capacity for moral or ethical action of independent volition, only free will men and women do. In this world, there are two essential domains... The domain of slavery populated by servants, and the domain of freedom populated by masters. Servants are rewarded (or penalized) for their service (or lack thereof), whereas masters are compensated for their skills, labor and tools. The Corporate Collective, which includes the present US Government, is a "scientifically" orchestrated system of slavery, wherein the fruits of ones labor are plundered, by unlawful taxation and through fiat currency and credit capital = deflation in the purchasing power of the earned dollar. Cheap imports from China maintain the illusion that some purchasing power of the earned dollar is being preserved, but these dollars EXPLOIT labor.

Hello to the board.. I usually just read but for Ron Paul I'll post.. I think if the msm didn't blatantly ignore him he'd be much less of a 'long shot'. this man speaks the truth and that resonates with people... everyone I can show his video clips to expresses support and I've even gotten a couple die-hard bush supporters to get behind him. If folks on this board want to find out how to actively support (including the fact that he needs financial donations as the big interests don't contribute to him since he doesn't play footsie with them) go to meetup.com. You can look for Ron Paul campaign groups in your zip code area and if there are none then you could start one up as I did! The only way we can get this man elected is to stop discussing him with other supporters on the internet and get our butts out there with the sheeple that would never hear about him other wise.

I have known about Ron Paul for about 4 years. He is known in Congress as "Mr. Constitution". The mainstream media will not give him any press because he is not the choice of the people that really run this country and they are the Illuminati. Before Bill Clinton ran for president, he was invited to Brussels for an interview and the Banksters and approved him. Even though Ron Paul's debate video was viewed by over 12,000 people and Mitt Romney was only viewed by under 6,000; Mitt Romney is going to be on the Republican ticket. I am sure that he is a Mason, for which Masons are the pawns of the Illuminati. The Federal Reserve is the greatest fraud to ever fall upon mankind. Senator McFadden also was critical of the Federal Reserve back in 1934, just as Ron Paul is today, but it will fall upon deaf ears. Be forewarned, that the currency is going to change in 2010. When you turn in your FRN's in exchange for the Amero, it will be at a discount. In order to take on a new debt, you have to satisfy the old one first. The only survivors of this exchange are going to be the cash rich, owners of gold and silver and the subsidized poor. Anyone in debt, including mortgages will be the losers.

and TRUE Constitutional principles, he stands an excellent chance of being our next President. We can NEVER assume that he "cannot win", "is a long shot", "probably won't win", etc; people are consequently afraid to vote for someone good based on the above observations; the hideous alternative of "voting for the lesser of the two evils" raises its ugly head. (Remember that most of our Presidents seemingly came out of nowhere and were long shots before we heard about them!)

What the American public must also do is to make the "mainstream media" irrelevant, as these (overpaid for lying) fools try their best to make sure he goes nowhere! When you witness the dishonest, sleazy and CRIMINAL blackout of Dr.Paul's candidacy, you want to scream from the rooftops! A (once) free people must no longer tolerate this power over them - it smacks of Soviet style journalism and of Cuba, China and other totalitarian regimes! How can we possibly continue to support "news" organizations that DELIBERATELY lie and sabotage? Their own polls are making them quake in their boots because Ron Paul is at the top in very many of them – unless of course they adjust them downward! We must also make sure that there is no sabotage of the vote either! Americans must start counting their votes for verification. After all these years of finding truth on Dr. Mercola's website, it is a comfort to know that the good doctor is continuing his crusade of getting the truth out about the best candidate for the 2008 presidential race. Please, please, please Dr. Mercola keep posting as many articles about Dr. Ron Paul you can afford. Your website has a profound influence on some many people due to your insistence on truth and quality of life for you, your loved ones and anyone who takes the time to read your newsletters. Thank you so very much Dr. Mercola for taking the time and expense to help bring the truth to so many willing to learn to be free of all the deception mainstream media propaganda proliferates. For a real understanding of MONEY and the current state of AMERICA (and the rest of the world), I would strongly recommend reading the MOST POWERFUL BOOK EVER WRITTEN:

666 The Mark of America--Seat of the Beast

Although not in any way religious, this book "un-folds" the New Testament's book of Revelation as only the author (the apostle John) himself could reveal it.

There IS hope. The future is no longer bleak and foreboding. This book presents the way to peace and prosperity for each and every one of us (individually AND collectively).

Order through Amazon.com OR through 666america.com

888-499-9666.

A quote from the book: "Look carefully at the actual text and you will note that John did not write '666 is the mark of the beast', nor did he say '666 is the number of the beast'. He specifically wrote that the number 666 corresponded to the 'number of the beast, which is the number of a man, and HIS number is six hundred threescore and six.'... "Now the weight of GOLD that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred threescore and six talents of gold." (I Kings 10:14)

Finally..... the SECRETS of the book of Revelation are laid out plain and simple. For all to understand.

One need not be a Christian or believe in God to enjoy this incredible work.

This book brings HOPE and Solutions to our current situation. Freedom can only come from an understanding of REAL TRUTH. :-)

Ignorance forges the chains of our inequality and fear. The truth shall set us free. (At last!!!)

While I see nothing usually but raves for Ron Paul, I can't help seeing a Greg Stillson persona, most won't quite understand what I'm talking about and that's ok, I have my own secret fears.

Here is a story today that says his contributions have DOUBLED since he butted heads with Giuliani.

So as I said. Don't believe the mainstream propaganda. They are trying to smear him because they are scared of his message.

While RP was absolutely correct in his statements, I do not believe he did a good job defending himself against Rudy's idiotic attack. Those of us that are aware of the truth know what he was saying, but the majority of those watching the debates don't think for themselves and will accept the braindead explanation from RG and the yapping heads at FNC, CNN, etc that say he claimed we deserved Sept 11.

ChrisK I would suggest you read the books that Ron Paul gave Giuliani as a reading assignment. I think it would do you good as well.

"Among the books on Paul's reading list were: "Dying to Win," which argues that suicide bombers only mobilize against an occupying force; "Blowback," which examines the unintended consequences of U.S. foreign policy; and the 9/11 Commission Report, which says that Al Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden was angered by the presence of U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia."

Everything he said about them attacking us because we were over there is absolutely documented with facts. Don't listen to the mainstream media trying to paint an ugly picture. They are doing that on purpose because Ron Paul speaks the truth and is putting their agenda in jeopardy.

I assume you're saying this because of his performance in the debate last night. Boy, I was really liking everything Mr. Paul said until he came to the issue of Iraq/terrorism. I understand he may not have meant exactly how it came out or sounded, but he singlehandedly sacked his campaign with those comments. It's a shame he stumbled on that because he is a real conservative and I was cheering for him despite those thoughts.

Also, in an era of "American Idol-ization" he would be a tough candidate to get elected. He certainly has the convictions and beliefs of Reagan, but not so much the skill/poise/tv presence. Nonetheless, I wish he could get some of those other idiots in Congress to follow him.
