

Login

user:

pass:

Remember me register

RU EN ES

User Menu

Home Page

- «Mirror of the World»
- Support the Site
- Contacts
- Iraq-War board rules

Articles

- Iraq News
- Around the World
- Historical analysis &

facts

- Current analysis
- Economics
- Hot News
- Rankings

Forums

RSS feeds

 RSS feed for articles and news

Weather

Baghdad
	MO, 17/03 +25..+27 °C N, 6 m/s
Basrah
	MO, 17/03 +28..+30 °C NW, 5 m/s

Calendar-Filter

< Mar > < 2008 >

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

Today

Spitzer taken down by Mossad?

By: Crack_Smoke_Republican on: 15.03.2008 [01:54] (444 reads)

(9908 bytes) [nc]

Spitzer taken down by Mossad?

By Jerry Mazza

Online Journal Associate Editor

Mar 14, 2008, 00:36

Eliot Spitzer took on Wall Street like no other attorney general before him. As the Washington Post reported in 2004, "His targets in the past have included everyone from big Wall Street investment banks and the $7.5 trillion mutual fund industry to polluting power plants and supermarket chains that underpaid delivery workers."

Additionally, Wayne Madsen reports subscription required that "Defense sources have confirmed our March 11, 2008, report that Emperors Club VIP, the prostitution firm that entangled New York's outgoing Governor Eliot Spitzer in a call girl ring, is viewed by US intelligence as a front for Israel's intelligence agency, the Mossad.

"The sources claim that Spitzer was 'outed' for his aggressiveness in attacking money launderers connected to Russian-Israeli organized crime syndicates and other Wall Street malfeasance."

In an earlier report, Madsen mentioned that "There is also speculation that although Spitzer was implicated in the large international investigation of the Emperor's VIP Club's prostitution business, GOP dirty tricks operative Roger Stone figures in the case as a collateral agent provocateur. Stone has a history of badgering Eliot Spitzer and his elderly father, New York real estate magnate Bernard Spitzer."

Madsen went on to say, "There is also intense speculation about the identities of the other clients of the Emperor's VIP Club call girls service. A February 5, 2006, article by Ben Smith in The New York Observer describes a close relationship between Eliot Spitzer and former Bill Clinton aide Dick Morris. Spitzer told the newspaper that Dick Morris' dad was his dad's lawyer. In 2006, the Democratic National Convention was shocked to learn that Morris, then Clinton's top political consultant, paid $200 an hour to a Virginia prostitute named Sherry Rowlands. The revelations about Morris came mere hours before Clinton was to deliver his acceptance speech at the convention.

"Rowlands revealed that Morris once let her listen in on a phone conversation with Clinton. She said that Hillary Clinton was upset at the phone call, that she 'was not well,' and the president asked Morris not to use the White House private residence phone number in the future.

"Morris' relationship with Rowlands reportedly involved toe sucking trysts on the part of Morris. The criminal complaint filed against the Emperor's Club referred to aberrant sexual practices, considered 'unsafe,' by Spitzer and a prostitute identified as Kristen."

Who is Kristen?

The New York Times reports in Woman at the Center of Governor's Downfall, "She left a broken home on the Jersey Shore at 17 and came to New York City to work the nightclubs as a rhythm and blues singer. Now, at 22, she is the unwitting, and as yet unseen, star of the seamy drama that is the downfall of Gov. Eliot Spitzer of New York . . .

"Kristen, the prostitute described in a federal affidavit as having had a rendezvous with Mr. Spitzer on Feb. 13 at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, has spent the last few days in her ninth-floor apartment in the Flatiron district of Manhattan. On Monday, she made a brief appearance in federal court, where a lawyer was appointed to represent her. She is expected to be a witness in the case against four people charged with operating a prostitution ring called the Emperor's Club V.I.P.

"In a series of telephone interviews on Tuesday night, she said she had slept very little over the past week, with all the stress of the case.

"I just don't want to be thought of as a monster," the woman said as she told the tiniest tidbits of her story.

"Born Ashley Youmans but now known as Ashley Alexandra Dupré, she spoke softly and with good humor as she added with significant understatement: 'This has been a very difficult time. It is complicated.'"

"She has not been charged. The lawyer appointed to represent her, Don D. Buchwald, told a magistrate judge in court on Monday that she had been subpoenaed to testify in a grand jury investigation. Asked to swear that she had accurately filled out and signed a financial affidavit, she responded affirmatively.

"A person with knowledge of the Emperor's Club operation confirmed that the woman interviewed by The New York Times was the woman identified as Kristen in the affidavit. Mr. Buchwald confirmed various details of Ms. Dupré's background but would not discuss the contents of the affidavit.

"Ms. Dupré said by telephone Tuesday night that she was worried about how she would pay her rent since the man she was living with 'walked out on me' after she discovered he had fathered two children. She said she was considering working at a friend's restaurant or, once her apartment lease expires, moving back with her family in New Jersey 'to relax.'

She did not say when she had started working for the Emperor's Club, or how often she had liaisons arranged through the ring. Asked when she met Governor Spitzer and how many times they had seen each other, Ms. Dupré said she had no comment.

"As of Wednesday morning, Ms. Dupré's MySpace page recounted her 'odyssey to New York from New Jersey through North Carolina, Miami, D.C., Virginia and Austin, Texas;' public records show that she lived in Monmouth County, N.J., in 2001, and in North Carolina in 2003. She owns a company, created in 2005, called Pasche New York, which her lawyer said was an entertainment business designed to further her singing career.

"Music is her first love, and on the MySpace page, Ms. Dupré mentions Patsy Cline, Frank Sinatra, Christina Aguilera and Lauryn Hill among a long list of influences, including her brother, Kyle. (She also lists Whitney Houston, Madonna, Mary J. Blige and Amy Winehouse as her top MySpace friends.) In the interview, she said she saw the Rolling Stones perform at Radio City Music Hall on their last tour after a friend gave her two tickets. 'They were amazing,' she said.

"On MySpace, her page says: 'I am all about my music and my music is all about me. It flows from what I've been through, what I've seen and how I feel.'

"She left 'a broken family' at age 17, having been abused, according to the MySpace page, and has used drugs and 'been broke and homeless.'

"'Learned what it was like to have everything and lose it, again and again,' she writes. "'Learned what it was like to wake up one day and have the people you care about most gone.'

"'But I made it,' she continues. 'I'm still here and I love who I am. If I never went through the hard times, I would not be able to appreciate the good ones. Cliché, yes, but I know it's true.'

"Ms. Dupré's mother, Carolyn Capalbo, 46, said that after her daughter finished sophomore year in high school, Ms. Dupré moved to North Carolina. 'She was a young kid with typical teenage rebellion issues, but we are extremely close now,' Ms. Capalbo said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

"In 2006, Ms. Dupré changed her legal name, according to records in Monmouth County Superior Court, from Ashley R. Youmans to Ashley Rae Maika DiPietro, taking her stepfather's surname since she regarded him as 'the only father I have known.' But in the interview, she referred to herself as Ashley Alexandra Dupré, which is how she is known on MySpace.

"On the Web page is a recording of what she describes as her latest track, 'What We Want,' a hip-hop-inflected rhythm-and-blues tune that asks, 'Can you handle me, boy?' and uses some dated slang, calling someone her 'boo.'

"'I know what you want, you got what I want,' she sings in the chorus. 'I know what you need. Can you handle me?'

"Her MySpace biography says she started singing professionally after a musician she was living with heard her singing the Aretha Franklin hit 'Respect' in the shower and burst into the bathroom with his lead guitarist. She says she toured and recorded with them, then moved to Manhattan in 2004 and "spent the first two years getting to know the music scene, networking in clubs and connecting with the industry.

"Now it's all about my music, it's all about expressing me.'

"In the affidavit, the woman the Emperor's Club called Kristen is described as 'an American, petite, very pretty brunette, 5 feet 5 inches, and 105 pounds.' She apparently was booked at about $1,000 an hour, placing her in the middle of the seven-diamond scale by which the prostitutes were paid up to $4,300 an hour.

"Ms. Capalbo said that she was 'shell-shocked' when her daughter called in the middle of last week and told her she had been working as an escort and was now in trouble with the law. She said she was not sure that Ms. Dupré realized who Mr. Spitzer was when he was her client.

"She is a very bright girl who can handle someone like the governor,' Ms. Capalbo said. 'But she also is a 22-year-old, not a 32-year-old or a 42-year-old, and she obviously got involved in something much larger than her.'"

Bottom line

We get the sense that what was at issue was more than a power politician's fling with a young prostitute, but potentially explosive issues for heavy Wall Street players, the economy, the full story of 9/11, the administration, and Republican dirty tricksters. Perhaps this explains the frozen look on Spitzer's face, seemingly scuttled in the line of duty, not just personal pleasure.

Jerry Mazza is a freelance writer living in New York. Reach him at gvmaz@verizon.net.

Copyright © 1998-2007 Online Journal
Email Online Journal Editor

http://onlinejournal.com/artman/publish/article_3065.shtml

5 comments

Only comments

Comments per page

Article and comments

They certainly put his career to bed..

by Crack_Smoke_Republican on 15.03.2008 [03:00]

in more ways than one.

Rather taken by the US intel

by Nopes on 15.03.2008 [03:47]

It had to be something much more important than just the use of prostitutes. Otherwise they wouldn't have gone after him and he wouldn't have resigned so quickly.

He was rather a part of Mossad, I bet. He was involved in that ring, he was not a target.

He was supposed to be "the first Jewish president". A spy being prepared to be president is not a good thing. And the US intel took him down. I don't have any problem with that.

Emperors Club VIP is Israeli run

by informatron on 15.03.2008 [04:04]

New York Gov. Eliot Spitzer, touted in the past as the first potential Jewish U.S. president, found his political career on the brink of collapse Monday after he was accused of paying for a romp with a high-priced call girl, in a prostitution ring allegedly led by a man found with an Israeli passport at his home.

The Associated Press reported that U.S. Magistrate Judge Michael H. Dolinger ordered Mark Brener, 62, of Cliffside Park, N.J., to be held without bail after the passport and $600,000 in cash were found in his apartment.

Brener's lawyer, Jennifer Brown, said her client was a U.S. citizen who had lived in the United States for 20 years.

h <http://www.haaretz.com/hasen/spages/963139.html>

What Haaretz does not say:

A laughing Spitzer gladly helped Silverstein collect 9/11 insurance monies:

h <http://www.cbsnews.com/stories/2007/05/24/business/realestate/main2845418.shtml>

What CBS doesn't say is

by chattaway on 15.03.2008 [05:14]

Swiss Re is a Rothschild company. The starting of the war in Iraq was organised in the same way as the First World War or the Second World War. It involved all aspects of the Zionist control machine. To do that it would have to have been pre planned and paid for. The insurance payment and the two payments at that negotiated by Spitzer were paid directly from the Rothschilds to the Israeli's represented by Silverstein and Lowy friends of Sharon et al.

This money I think was the payment to the Israeli contractors for doing the demolition job on the World Trade Center. It is money directly being paid by Rothschild to the Israelis directly linked to demolition.

Guiliani was ushered out of the Presidential race. Did you note that Diebold gave him 9.11% of the vote on two primaries if you think that was an accident I have coupled of Saddam's nukes to sell you.

The insurers made no real effort to challenge the case and when the steel specialist from Underwriters Laboratories Kevin Ryann was promptly fired when he pointed out the claim was fraudulent. How else do you explain this behaviour by Swiss Re and the sub underwriters in the original construction to challenge the payment in court. I bet money these insurers were never asked to pay out. No the court case was a show for the media as was the "argument with Silverstein" to cover the "contractors payment" in plain view. Spitzer was in the middle of these payments and I bet he is going to get out of town and go back to Israel before he becomes really "depressed" and has to take the ultimate way out.

I think that is it Nopes

by Crack_Smoke_Republican on 15.03.2008 [17:56]

"He was rather a part of Mossad, I bet. He was involved in that ring, he was not a target.

He was supposed to be "the first Jewish president". A spy being prepared to be president is not a good thing. And the US intel took him down. I don't have any problem with that. "

I would not be at all surprised if several second generation Jews in the US government were working for the Mossad as deep cover agents. I think the game plan was to have Hillary Clinton elected with Spitzer as the running mate - stock the administration with dual loyalist undercovers and then when the time is right, let their Trojan take over after the Pres is incapacitated.

Page: 1/1

Posting comments:

You should be registered AND logged in user to post comments here.

