We'll nuke Iran - Bush promises Israel

Thu, 01/10/2008 - 16:08 - Wire Services

US President George W. Bush promised Israel's opposition leader Binyamin Netanyahu that the United States will join the Jewish state in a nuclear strike against Iran, Israel Radio reported today.

Former Prime Minister Netanyahu, opposition Likud party's hardline chairman who opposes the US-backed Annapolis peace process, reiterated to President Bush his stance, that a pre-emptive nuclear strike against Iran's nuclear installations was the only way to stop the Islamic nation's nuclear weapons ambitions.

"I told him my position and Bush agreed," Netanyahu told Israel Radio.

During their 45-minute meeting at King David hotel in Jerusalem Netanyahu also told Bush that "Jerusalem belongs to the Jewish people and will remain under Israeli sovereignty for eternity."

President Bush issued a stark warning to Iran over Strait of Hormuz incident, saying that "all options are on the table to protect our assets."

"There will be serious consequences if they attack our ships, pure and simple," Bush said during the joint news conference with Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Olmert in Jerusalem. "And my advice to them is, don't do it."

Bush criticized those who interpret the National Intelligence Estimate, which found that Iran gave up its nuclear weapons program in 2003, as a sign that Iran was no longer a threat.

"Let me remind you what the NIE actually said," Bush stold reporters. "It said that as far as the intelligence community could tell, at one time the Iranians had a military -- covert military program that was suspended in 2003 because of international pressure. My attitude is that a non-transparent country, a country which has yet to disclose what it was up to, can easily restart a program."

idiots

It seems pretty obvious that Iran does not need a nuke to pull off a nuclear strike against Israel. All they need is a missile strike into Dimona---looks like stalemate situation to me.

WW III on the way

Look for dumbya and darth to pull a false flag attack on our ships in the Persian Gulf to "justify" a savage mass murder campaign against innocent people in Iran and quite possibly kick off WW III as Russia has said that any attack on Iran will be viewed as an attack on Russia.

The positive result (for dumbya and darth) of this attack will be the immediate suspension of the idea of elections being held in

Nov. "We're at "war," and the country must rally behind dumbya the decider" for the foreseeable future.

Agreed

Indeed the spots on this leopard are pretty apparent. It is not completely clear the men behind the curtain, but at this point it is a legal matter. The judicial system will need to delve into following this administration's trail of "plausible" deniability (as if) to determine justice.

America IS Americans

Don't hold you breath waiting for Americans to "take back" their country. All you have to do to get an American agitated is blame a brown person or a slav - they will always believe it. And since they are the most violent people on Earth (along with their Israeli cousins), that is always how they deal with their agitation.

Americans are the original Zionists, and Naive Americans the original Palestinians. You think the Zionists control you? Hell no, they're simply learning how to commit genocide and get away with it!

I suggest that while the monster is on vacation, lets impeach him and Cheney. We can strip them of their airplanes and Secret Service and let them stand trial for war crimes. Watch while I lip synch, "Some where over the rainbow, bluebirds sing."

Emigration

The time has come to throw up one's hands and recognize that the U.S. of A. is no longer the nation it was just a few short years ago and that since our countrymen are all anesthetised now is the time to emigrate to saner shores. My recommendation is Canada, one of the sanest countries on the planet. The people are friendly and non-aggressive, the cities are clean, safe and charming and there's plenty of space. As soon as I retire, that's where my family and I are going. If you don't like really cold weather, consider southern Ontario between Buffalo and Detroit. Toronto is a world-class city and not nearly as cold as Montreal, for example. Or there's always the west coast, Vancouver, for example. For sheer beauty and tranquility, there's Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island (altho' the latter can get pretty cold in winter. Anyway, learn a little French to really fit in.

Boiling frog?

As a foreigner from western Europe with a keen interest in the United States, I am often wondering how this once great country is slowly but surely becoming a fascist imperialistic regime bent on wars without end. How can 300 million Americans let that happen without a fight? You stand apathetically while your constitutional rights are being assaulted, while your leadership engage in profiteering wars, while your purchasing power keeps diminishing and your debt keeps increasing, while your education and health care system keep getting worse, the list goes on.

What will it take to wake you up?

stupidity is forever, ignorance can be repaired.

Our american democracy got boiled like a frog because americans are stupid and childish, and can not learn anything of the true nature of the civilized world, the reasons are many, here are a few for consideration: Rember veitnam the nam,remember love it or leave it as a response to the peace and love movement?Remember the kent state and others remember nixon not in jail,remember the alamo? the alamo is now in mexico aka south texas, stolen elections,dissinformation,stolen money by the ton,no laws requiring a income tax but they pay it anyway, some send in more than they must because they want to give the govnt a little help? PLEASE! if that aint stupid nothing is, people here will still tell you that the U.S.A. has and is the best quality of life on earth and "freedom" even thou they have NEVER BEEN OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY!!! and cant get a passport anyway!We need the UN election teams here for anything like an honest election this time.

This is not an accident there are no accidents just other peoples plans that they do not tell you about. the schools and churches (so called churches and schools are just our madrases) here are the starting points for this stupidity without end. the american century is over and has been for a long time,our love affair with the filthy rich is still in full cry, the big rich have moved to safe havens in London and elsewhere like the owners of cambell soup company,americas filthy rich are the most stingy givers on earth after the jews ,and everyone knows this but will never admit the truth, never! america has been and is now in a race to the bottom in every way and every arena,Life ,Liberty, pursuit of HAPPINESS,jobs , space ,science,quality of life, money,ect ect and especially freedom forget it, we as americans are NOT special we will have to go all the way to the bottom like/with britney spears before we can ever even thing about forming a free and open good place to live again. This time maybe we will stay on the bottom as the stupid foolish, misslead and deceived children we are. Perhaps a close look at packistan will reflect the new american century, like janice joplin said freedom is just another word for nothing left to lose.

thanks for the rant spot lets all go to the mall and buy some more HANNA MONTANA cd,s lol!

Bush is the King of Terror

Nostradamus prophesied that one who would fit the bill for a "King of Terror" would appear in 1999 and resurrect the king of the Mongols (Genghis Khan). the Mongol Empire consisted of the same regions Bush is invading and attacking. He became the republican nominee for President in 1999 and so many other criteria that a 300 page book was written about it, it really is amazing...check it out. Go to the website as there is a daily blog with some pretty amazing updates about everything talked about here as a whole bunch of other unbelievable material. Really interesting.

Nostradamus was a quack, he

Nostradamus was a quack, he simply predicted as many things as he could (without giving too many specifics, mind you) in the hopes that some of them would come true. People, being the gullible fools that they are, would then find some general connections between what he said and what is currently happening and decide that he is some great prophet who could accurately predict the future.

Fake story

This story was supposedly written by "Wire Services," but Presscue.com is the only place where it appears. None of the hundreds of news sites indexed by Google News are carrying this story. (See <http://tinyurl.com/yoo4ht>)

It's a fake, folks.

Even if it's true that 1) the article accurately described Netanyahu's stance (doubtful), and that 2) Bush indicated some sort of "agreement" with it (even more doubtful), it's quite a stretch to conclude that Bush has "promised to nuke Iran."

Everyone has known Israel has Nukes since Vanunu's photos, 1986

"Naturally the common people don't want war; neither in Russia, nor in England, nor in America, nor in Germany. That is understood. But after all, it is the leaders of the country who determine policy, and it is always a simple matter to drag the people along, whether it is a democracy, or a fascist dictatorship, or a parliament, or a communist dictatorship. ...Voice or no voice, the people can always be brought to the bidding of the leaders. That is easy. All you have to do is to tell them they are being attacked, and denounce the pacifists for lack of patriotism and exposing the country to danger. It works the same in any country." -Hermann Göring, Nazi Reichsmarschall.

Long live Israel!

Dear old Israel, please spare it O Lord! Let America defend her loyal little ally in the Middle East from the forces of Islamofascist evil. Satanic clouds of darkness gather over America. God gave the Jews two countries as a consolation for the Holocaust: he gave them Little Zion (Israel) and Great Zion (America).

The only trouble is, most Americans seem to be unaware that America has been given to us Jews, and that all non-Jews in America are only allowed to live here on our sufferance.

Please understand this, you misguided Gentiles, America is now Jewish territory. It belongs to the Jews! So you have to defend the Jews in the Middle East and help us destrroy our enemies: Iraq, Iran, Syria, Egypt and all those countries of darkness where Satan rules. Love Israel and be willing to lay down your life for it.

Correction

I am from Tel Aviv, and I listen to Israel Radio. Benjamin Netanyahu and Bush did not agree on "nuking" Iran. President Bush only agreed with Netanyahu's stance that a pre-emptive strike against Iran's nuclear facilities was necessary.

After Ahmadinajad told the world that "Israel should be wiped off the face of the Earth", I think all of you would agree that Israel's very existence depends on disarming a nuclear Iran. Thus, most of Israelis whole heartedly support pre-emptive strikes against Iran, and we are very happy that President Bush is on our side.

As for the commentators on this website, it is anti-semitic people like you who are responsible for the deaths of 6 million of my ancestors. You should all be ashamed of yourselves.

Pot Calling Kettle Black?

Rebecca, it would seem that lack of understanding caused death of your ancestors (though much fewer than you attempt to trumpet). Iran's leader spoke of Israel being removed from the map, much as Palestine IS removed from the map... do you understand the distinction here?

I do not even speak either of your languages but it is obvious to me that both sides in this "conflict" refuse to reason or use common sense. Snap out of it already!

Fri, 01/11/2008 - 16:20 — Phishy (not verified)

Mahmoud Ahmadinejad didn't say that

Mahmoud Ahmadinejad did not say ""Israel should be wiped off the face of the Earth"

He said :

"Imam ghoft een rezhim-e ishghalgar-e qods bayad az safheh-ye ruzgar mahv shavad."

That's Farsi:

"That passage will mean nothing to most people, but one word might ring a bell: rezhim-e. It is the word "Regime", pronounced just like the English word with an extra "eh" sound at the end. Ahmadinejad did not refer to Israel the country or Israel the land mass, but the Israeli regime. This is a vastly significant distinction, as one cannot wipe a regime off the map. Ahmadinejad does not even refer to Israel by name, he instead uses the specific phrase "rezhim-e ishghalgar-e qods" (regime occupying Jerusalem).

So this raises the question.. what exactly did he want "wiped from the map"? The answer is: nothing. That's because the word "map" was never used. The Persian word for map, "nagsheh", is not contained anywhere in his original farsi quote, or, for that matter, anywhere in his entire speech. Nor was the western phrase "wipe out" ever said. Yet we are led to believe that Iran's President threatened to "wipe Israel off the map", despite never having uttered the words "map", "wipe out" or even "Israel".

Way to call anyone not wanting to nuke millions of civilians anti-semites. This is the death knoll of the zionist.

I feel deeply for the Jewish people, they have suffered more than any other people on this planet. I also believe they are entitled to a homeland.

I do NOT agree with them treating the palestinians like the jews were treated in German during the third reich.

You can't pull this anti-semetic bullshit with me, I know my history.

Iran is not threatening Isreal, if and when they do, the US will protect them as they have swarn to do. Nuking the shit out of a fucking desert is NOT the answer. Just because I disagree with some of the things the government of Isreal does doesn't make me an anti-semite.

Actually, why not dig into wha the term anti-semite actually means:

"The term Semite means a member of any of various ancient and modern peoples originating in southwestern Asia, including the Akkadians, Canaanites, Phoenicians, Hebrews, and Arabs. It was proposed at first to refer to the languages related to Hebrew by Ludwig Schl  zer, in Eichhorn's "Repertorium", vol. VIII (Leipzig, 1781), p. 161. Through Eichhorn the name then came into general usage (cf. his "Einleitung in das Alte Testament" (Leipzig, 1787), I, p. 45. In his "Gesch. der neuen Sprachenkunde", pt. I (G  ttingen, 1807) it had already become a fixed technical term. (The Catholic Encyclopedia, Volume XIII)

The word "Semitic" is an adjective derived from Shem, one of the three sons of Noah in the Bible (Genesis 5.32, 6.10, 10.21), or more precisely from the Greek derivative of that name, namely Σῆμ (Sēm); the noun form referring to a person is Semite. In modern English the negative form of the adjective, anti-Semitic, is almost always used to mean "anti-Jewish" specifically.

The concept of "Semitic" peoples is derived from Biblical accounts of the origins of the cultures known to the ancient Hebrews. Those closest to them in culture and language were generally deemed to be descended from their forefather Shem. Enemies were often said to be descendants of his cursed brother Ham. In Genesis 10:21-31 Shem is described as the father of Aram, Asshur, and others: the Biblical ancestors of the Arabs, Aramaeans, Assyrians, Babylonians, Chaldeans, Sabaeans, and Hebrews, etc., all of whose languages are closely related; the language family containing them was therefore named Semitic by linguists. However, the Canaanites and Amorites also spoke a language belonging to this family, and are therefore also termed Semitic in linguistics despite being described in Genesis as sons of Ham (See Sons of Noah). Shem is also described in Genesis as the father of the Elamites and the descendants of Lud, whose languages were not Semitic.

The hypothetical Proto-Semitic language, ancestral to historical Semitic languages in the Middle East, is thought to have been originally from either the Arabian Peninsula (particularly around Yemen) or the adjacent Ethiopian highlands, but its region of origin is still much debated and uncertain. The Semitic language family is also considered a component of the larger Afro-Asiatic macro-family of languages. Identification of the hypothetical proto-Semitic region of origin is therefore dependent on the larger geographic distributions of the other language families within Afro-Asiatic."

So if you are Jewish and do not speak one of the semetic languages YOU are an anti-semite.

RAcism has nothing to do with trying to avoid a bloody war that doesn't need to happen. Iran has no nuke program running, and couldn't even begin to build a viable bomb for 7 to 10 years. Isreal on the otherhand, HAS nukes, undelcared of course.

If Iran decided to attack Isreal MERELY because it is a jewish state, I would stand on the front lines to protect the innocents.

But lets just remember, Isreal has a history of terrorism and false flag attacks to gain ground. The government of Israel has admitted that they do not want to show full maps of the settlements as it would give them a bad rep with the rest of the world.

Go ahead and call me a racist or anti-semite because I believe all beings on earth deserve a fair shot a life.

Throwing the anti-semite accusation around just brings your 'argument' to a stand still as it's blatantly apparent : first, you know nothing of which you speak, second you have no legs left to stand on.

I disagree with the government of Isreal, but this has NOTHING to do with the fact it's a Jewish state, it has to do with the fact that they are systematically exterminating the palestinians, just as they were exterminated in the holocaust.

That said, I don't think Iran is a great and happy place, but they pose NO threat to anyone but themselves right now, and I'm 100% against another war to expand Isreal's borders.

Seperate your hatred for us NO -jews from the rest of this argument and maybe, just maybe, you won't come off looking like an illiteral twat.
