

poorrichard's blog

THE NEW NEWS

Monday, August 9, 2010

BP Disaster = Catastrophic Climate Change?

What do you trust? Government, Paper or Gold?
"We may be entering a full new Ice Age."

August 9, 2010
by the Earl of Sterling henrymakow.com

An Italian theoretical physicist, Dr. Gianluigi ZangariDr. Gianluigi Zangari says the BP Oil Disaster has caused a dramatic weakening in the vorticity of the Gulf Stream and North Atlantic Current, and a reduction in North Atlantic water temperatures by 10 Celsius.

"The breaking of a crucial warm stream ... may generate a chain reaction of unpredictable critical phenomena and ... may have serious consequences on the dynamics of the Gulf Stream thermoregulation activity of the Global Climate."

The Gulf Stream's impact on climate is well known, keeping Iceland and Scotland comfortable in winter compared to the deep-freeze of Labrador at the same latitude. The Gulf Stream directly affects weather and climate patterns over the whole Northern Hemisphere, and perhaps even world wide.

GULF STREAM 'DYING'

The entire 'river of warm water' that flows from the Caribbean to the edges of Western Europe is dying due to the Corexit that the Obama Administration allowed BP to use to hide the scale of the BP Deepwater Horizon Oil Disaster.

The approximately two million gallons of Corexit, plus several million gallons of other dispersants, have caused the over two hundred million gallons of crude oil to mostly sink to the bottom of the ocean. This has hidden much of the oil, with the hopes that BP can seriously reduce the mandated federal fines from the oil disaster.

However, there is no current way to effectively 'clean up' the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, which is about half covered in crude oil. Additionally, the oil has flowed up the East Coast of America and into the North Atlantic Ocean, and there is no way to effectively clean up this 'sea bottom oil'.

This massive amount of crude oil, covering such an enormous area, has seriously affected the Loop Current, the Gulf Stream, and the North Atlantic Current system, by breaking up the boundary layers of the warm water flow.

There are several names to the thermo-regulation 'river of warm water' that keeps the Northern Hemisphere from going into a new Ice Age. The first section is named the "Loop Current" and it begins in the Caribbean, flows around the Yucatan Peninsula and goes into the Gulf of Mexico, then loops around the Gulf and exits on the east side and runs between Cuba and Florida.

At this point the current is called the "Florida Current" and it flows from the Keys up the East Coast of America (Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, and part of North Carolina) to the Outer Banks. At the Outer Banks the current heads east into the North Atlantic where it is known as the "Gulf Stream". Eventually the Gulf Stream becomes the North Atlantic Current, which itself eventually becomes the Norway Current and the Canary Current.

This 'river of warm water' does not begin with the Loop Current, it is part of a much larger system that includes the Atlantic South Equatorial Current which flows north along the coast of Brazil (the North Brazil Current), and becomes the Caribbean Current, and is renamed the Yucatan Current as it flows north into the Yucatan Channel. This entire system is one of the main global thermo-regulation processes that regulates the planet's temperatures.

Based on what has already happened (to the Loop Current and the Gulf Stream/North Atlantic Current/etc. and global weather patterns), and what is continuing to happen, we can project increased global climate changes that are both serious and near in terms of time. We may be entering a full new Ice Age.

There is no known way to clean up the massive amount of free crude oil, stripped of its lighter elements by dispersants, now on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico and in significant parts of the Atlantic Ocean (where the Gulf

Blog

-  Tinfoil Hat News
Who owns the media? - 26 minutes ago
-
-  Florida Oil Spill Law
Scientists: Oil in "MANY" of crab larvae collected; Dolphins could get fatal "megadoses" - The Associated Press reports, "The crab larvae discovery was an ominous sign that crude had already infiltrated the Gulf's vast food web — and could affe...
32 minutes ago
-
- Signs of the Times
Gates seeks to trim US military - The US defence department has unveiled a series of initiatives to reduce overhead, duplication and excess that will shed thousands of jobs and shut down an...
1 hour ago
-
- Desertpeace
DID WE START A TREND BY PORTRAYING LIEBERMAN AS A NAZI? - "He (Lieberman) is being portrayed as a neo-Nazi, which is ridiculous in the Jewish state. It really is despicable," said Adrian Aggasy, a lawyer for the L...
1 hour ago
-
- Niqnaq
i dreamed i was ice-fishing in my maidenform bra - Not really. But I dreamed I could fly once more, which is nice, because I thought I had lost the ability to fly in my dreams a year or two ago. This is qui...
1 hour ago
-
-  Russia Today
World leaders gather at Global Policy Forum in Yaroslavl - On September 9-10, 2010 the Russian city of Yaroslavl will host Global Policy Forum "The Modern State: Standards of Democracy and Criteria of Efficiency."
1 hour ago
-
-  OpEdNews
Tell Google: Donapos;t Be Evil - We alerted you on Thursday to a dangerous deal being struck between Google and Verizon that could end the Internet as we know it. So far, the public outcry...
1 hour ago
-
-  aangirfan
VOTE FOR THE 'GANGSTERS' OR VOTE TO BE RICH? - *fronta.cz/propaganda/fasisticka-Stream flows).

The use of Corexit and other dispersants by BP, with the full cooperation of the Obama Administration has created the most significant danger to the entire planet in recorded history. This is what happens when a great nation slips into being a Third World type of nation, where money alone is the key driving force in government actions.

As full knowledge of the scope of the oncoming mega-disaster to the planet becomes known, the Obama Administration will find itself in a political crisis way beyond Watergate (that cost Nixon his presidency) or the sex affair that almost cost Clinton his presidency. The effect on this years mid-term Congressional elections are apt to be dramatic.

<http://europebusines.blogspot.com/2010/08/special-post.html>

Posted by richard at 1:37 PM

Newer Post

Home

Older Post

italie  propagandaplakaty-letakydruha-svetovavalka* *Do certain people vote for the political parties linked to g...

2 hours ago

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED

CBS - Grade Obama's First Year in Office -

3 hours ago

Antiwar.com Original

To Spite Our Faces - Jeff Huber
on Time's new cover girl

3 hours ago

My Catbird Seat

Are US-Israel intelligence agencies blocking Palestinian civil rights to weaken Hezbollah? - By Dr. Franklin

Lamb Part X of a series on securing Civil Rights for Palestinian Refugees in Lebanon The State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Rese...

4 hours ago

Aletho News

US — Venezuela: The Empire Strikes Back (and Loses) - By James Petras | 08.09.2010

Introduction US policy toward Venezuela has taken many tactical turns, but the objective has been the same: to oust President ...

4 hours ago

cryptogon.com

U.S. Electricity Blackouts

Skyrocketing - Via: CNN:
Throughout New York City, about 52,000 of ConEd's 3.2 million customers lost power during the heat wave. Triple-digit temperatures forced residen...

5 hours ago

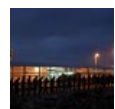

The Rebel

Outraged rabbi damages sports facility - An Israeli clergyman who had been outraged at females' trying auto racing has rendered the sports arena used for the purpose dysfunctional.

Rabbi Yehoid...

7 hours ago

SOUTH LEBANON

Words without Borders "dialog ue" violates Palestinian boycott call - Haidar Eid,

The Electronic Intifada, 9
August 2010 An initiative recently launched by the prestigious online literature magazine Words without Border...

7 hours ago

Ron Paul

Gary Johnson Forms Political Committee for Potential 2012
Run - By Peter Wallsten

Libertarianism is enjoying a recent renaissance in the Republican Party. Texas GOP