Israel to attack Syria \(and drag US into it!\)?

Following just received from Gen (Ret) James David who is mentioned on the cover of the third edition of former Republican Congressman Paul Findley's 'They Dare to Speak Out' book about the power/influence of the pro-Israel lobby (AIPAC and similar) on the US political system and media (keep in mind that Israel attacking Hezbollah in Syria and Lebanon would be in accordance with the 'A Clean Break'/war for Israel agenda that the Iraq invasion was based on as well): A Clean Break: <http://tinyurl.com/cleanbreak>

Israel planning to attack Hezbollah arms depots in Syria

From: General James David

Take note, as to whom the U.S. criticizes in this latest article (the parts highlighted.) It's not Israel that the U.S. criticizes; it's Syria. Here we have Israel planning to attack Syria and the U.S. criticizes Syria!!!! Will things ever change?

Let me repeat what I have said in the past. Israel cannot exist without attacking someone. War is in their blood. And the U.S. should be held responsible for this disease. After all, if it were not for the U.S. supplying Israel with over $3 billion a year in the most sophisticated weapons Israel would not be the monster it is today.

Israel is not satisfied until they eliminate every one of its Arab neighbors, falsely portraying themselves as the victims while promoting this lunatic idea that the Arabs intend to "wipe Israel off the map." For your information, there hasn't been anything even resembling Israel being wiped off the map, while we have seen in just the last few years, all of Gaza nearly wiped off the map and the same thing true with Southern Lebanon.

Now if Syria or Hezbollah made a pre-emptive attack on Israel right now, especially with this latest intelligence on Israel's military buildup on Syria's border, who do you think would be blamed for the attack? Of course, Syria and Hezbollah would be blamed. Israel would be given the green light to retaliate and the U.S. would support Israel all the way. After all, the State Department will say, "Israel has a right to defend themselves." They never say the same about Hamas or Hezbollah when they fire first at Israeli tanks built up on the borders. I guess they don't have this same right.

Israel is planning to attack Hezbollah arms depots and weapons manufacturing plants in Syria, the Kuwaiti newspaper Al Rai reported on Saturday.

The report is based on Western sources who asserted that Israel has increased its military force level along the northern border in the Golan Heights and Mount Dov areas.

The report cited European sources who claimed that recent Israeli unmanned aerial drone flights over Lebanon and Syria signal Israel's intentions to carry out operations in the area.

According to the report, Israel plans to attack Hezbollah weapons depots, including ones deep inside Syria that store long-range rockets.

The Al Rai report said that the situation on the Israel-Syria border is tense and that Syria could respond immediately to any Israeli attack and not demonstrate the restraint that it did after the Israeli Air Force bombed a suspected nuclear reactor in Syria in the fall of 2007.

According to the report, Syria's military is on high alert and is strengthening its anti-aircraft defenses along the border with Israel and at strategic sites within Syria.

Western diplomats to Assad: Don't interfere in Israel-PA talks

Also on Saturday, the Al-Quds Al-Arabi newspaper reported that western nations, including the United States, have in recent days asked Syria to refrain from negatively interfering with the upcoming direct peace talks between Israel and the Palestinian Authority, set to open next week in Washington.

According to the report, American officials expressed their firm opposition to Syrian President Bashar Assad taking any position or exerting any influence on the talks, as they fear that another failure of peace talks between Israel and the Palestinians could lead to even graver consequences than did past failed talks.

The report said that Assad was also asked to restrain Palestinian militant organizations that operate on Syrian territory, including Hamas and Islamic Jihad.
