05/07/2010 Airports in Britain, Germany and the United Arab Emirates have refused to offer fuel to Iranian passenger jets after unilateral sanctions imposed by Washington, ISNA news agency said on Monday.

IRNA, the official state news agency, said in a separate report that Kuwaiti airports have also declined to offer fuel to Iranian passenger planes. "Since last week, after the passing of the unilateral law by America and the sanctions against Iran, airports in England, Germany, the UAE have refused to give fuel to Iranian planes," ISNA quoted Mehdi Aliyari, secretary of Iranian Airlines Union, as saying.

The measures, on top of new United Nations and European sanctions, aim to choke off Iran's access to imports of refined petroleum products like gasoline and jet fuel and curb its access to the international banking system.

Same thing happened to Japan with the US stopping fuel, forcing the Japs to attack the US fleet in Pearl Harbour which was the source of the stoppage. These attacks on Iran are designed to force Iran to make counter attacks and thus make the war look like Iran aggression.

OBAMA IS PUSHING THIRD WORLD WAR

by CANUKISTAN_VIEW on 06.07.2010 [02:11 ]

AS THE MONETARY AND FINANCIAL CRISIS ARE FAR FROM OVER. The sucker rally is now over and we go now to the next major leg down.

HARPER IN THE LAST G8 MEETING ADMITTED CANDIDLY THAT THE FEAR IS FOR A CATAclysm AND HE IS DAM RIGHT ON THIS ONE

THE EMPIRES AND USA KEEP SPENDING THE MONEY THEY DO NOT HAVE AND THIS MEANS THE FRAUD, STEALING, PILLAGE, GENOCIDE, IS ON

They are loosing their asses in Iraq and Afghanistan - They are bleeding financially - Their citizens STILL

ARE NOT PAYING A PENNY AS LONG AS RUSSIA CHINA, BRAZIL, INDIA AND OTHER TRAITORS KEEP BUYING US DOLLARS.

IF THESE TRAITORS EVER CHANGE THEIR MIND THEY WILL BE BUSTED AND EUROPEANS AND USAns WILL START PAYING TAXES LIKE NEVER BEFORE.

IF YOU CAN BUY SILVER COINS AND SILVERWARE - GOLD/SILVER RATIO WAS 16 FOR OVER 500 YEARS AND IS WRITTEN IN B&W IN THE USA CONSTITUTION. If you believe the price of gold is about right then silver should be today about $75/ounce - Today price is $17.66.

To get an idea of gold price upswing, think about this line. The highest silver price was achieved in the 1400s and was around $800/ounce. Using the historical gold/silver ratio you get $12,000/ounce. YOU MAY AGREE OR DISAGREE WITH THE FUTURE PRICE BUT MAN, YOU CANNOT CHANGE 500 YEARS OF HISTORY.

THIS OBSCENE ECONOMIC UNBALANCES IS WHAT IS TRIGGERING THE CRISIS. Mexico and Bolivia MUST STOP PRODUCING SILVER OR TAX IT 500%.

WHEN THE THIRD WORLD GOES UP FOR BETTER PRICES ON THEIR COMMODITIES THE IMPERIAL EUROPE AND USA GOES INTO ECONOMIC CRISIS BECAUSE MONEY GOES IN OPPOSITE DIRECTION - FROM CONSUMER TO PRODUCERS - AS A RESULT EACH TIME WE HAVE A SECULAR MARKET FOR THE COMMODITIES INEVITABLY THE EMPIRES GO TO WORLD WARS TO AVOID GOING BELLY UP. THIS TIME IS NO DIFFERENT.

IT IS FOR THIS REASON THAT WAY BACK IN 2001, I STARTED POSTING HERE ABOUT THE COMING CRISIS. I knew then the beginning of this major secular market.

NOW THE CRISIS IS HERE AND THE QUESTION IS: DID WE GET THROUGH THE WORST? AND THE ANSWER IS NOOOOOOOOOOO

THE EURO AND THE US DOLLAR WILL START LOOSING AAA RISK RATING BY THE END OF THIS YEAR - OCTOBER 2010 OR EARLY SPRING 2011.

THIS PROCESS WILL CONTINUE UNTIL 2015 OR 2016 WHEN SOVEREIGN BOND FROM USA AND EUROPE WILL BE RATED AS "C" OR JUNK BOND. Historically this process takes approximately 60 months.

YOU DON'T BELIEVE ME? GIVE A CALL TO WARREN BUFFET AND THEN TO THE US TREASURE AND ASK THEM WHO PAY HIGHER INTEREST ON THEIR BONDS? The answer is the USA government because TODAY AND TOMORROW is a HIGHER RISK INVESTMENT. Got it?

FT says BP stops supplying fuel to Iranian aircraft

Mon Jul 5, 2010 5:29pm EDT

LONDON July 5 (Reuters) - The Financial Times said oil major BP (BP.L) had stopped refuelling Iranian aircraft in response to far-reaching U.S sanctions to isolate Tehran economically.

The new U.S. sanctions penalize companies supplying Iran with gasoline, but U.S officials have not made clear whether they believe the new law bars firms from refuelling Iranian airliners.

A spokesman for BP declined to comment on the Financial Times report, published on Monday on its website, or on individual contracts with airlines.

"We fully comply with any international sanctions imposed in countries where we operate. We also make sure that our JV partners are aware of sanctions as well," A BP spokesman said in a statement.

The Financial Times gave no source for its report.

Iran complained on Monday that its planes had been denied fuel in Germany, Britain and the United Arab Emirates. ID:nLDE66418N

Sources in the Middle East and Europe said that if flights were indeed denied fuel, it would be a decision by private firms attempting to comply with a new U.S. sanctions law, rather than any ban imposed by the countries where the planes landed. Governments said they were not aware of any ban on fueling. (Reporting by Caroline Copley; Editing by Ralph Boulton)

@Canuk about Silver and "ask Buffet"...

So far, no luck in talking with Buffet...

I'm a big time Gold Bug and wrote a detailed study in December 2007 showing that it would soon reach $2,975.00. After the mad rush to print money in all countries around the world in a race to the bottom, this target is now $5,000.00+...

A few hundred years ago, there was hardly any industrial use for Silver and, like Gold, it was viewed as the safest store of value...

However, today Silver has become an industrial metal that is being consumed, while 95% of all Gold ever mined is still in existence as the purest form of money or currency...

As the world is about to plunge in a REAL DEPRESSION that will last at least 5 years, prices of most commodities, including Silver will go down...

The other drawback of Silver is its bulk and high storage cost, compared to Gold: that's why I'd rather stick to Gold and its derivatives, like DGP...

An Iranian Airbus passenger plane at a German airport.

Germany has dismissed reports that the country's airports have refused to refuel Iranian passenger planes in the wake of a fourth round of UN Security Council sanctions against Tehran.

"Providing fuel to the Iranian passenger airliners at Germany's airports is not considered as prohibited under United Nation's statutory conventions as well as European Union's sanction regulations," DPA news agency quoted a spokesperson for the Federal Ministry of Transportation on Monday.

On June 9, the UN Security Council imposed fresh sanctions against Iran over its peaceful nuclear program followed by unilateral measures by the European Union and later by the United States.

Iran, a signatory to the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, has dismissed the sanctions as lacking legal basis, arguing that its nuclear activities are under the full supervision of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA).

Obama's New Iran Sanctions: An Act of War

by Iron_Clay on 06.07.2010 [07:13 ]

Obama's New Iran Sanctions: An Act of War

When the UN refused to agree to the severe sanctions that the U.S. wanted, Obama responded with typical Bush flair and went solo. The new U.S. sanctions against Iran — signed into law by Obama on July 1st — are an unmistakable act of war.

If fully enforced, Iran's economy will be potentially destroyed. The New York Times outlines the central parts of the sanctions:

"The law signed by Mr. Obama imposes penalties on foreign entities that sell refined petroleum to Iran or assist Iran with its domestic refining capacity. It also requires that American and foreign businesses that seek contracts with the United States government certify that they do not engage in prohibited business with Iran." (July 1, 2010).

Iran must import the majority of its oil from foreign corporations and nations, since it does not have the technology needed to refine the fuel that it pumps from its soil. By cutting this refined oil off, the U.S. will be causing massive, irreparable damage to the Iranian economy — equaling an act of war.

In fact, war against Japan in WWII was sparked by very similar circumstances. Franklin Delano Roosevelt spearheaded a series of sanctions against Japan, which included the Export Control Act, giving the President the power to prohibit the export of a variety of materials to Japan, including oil. This gave Roosevelt the legal stance he needed to implement an oil embargo, an obvious act of war. Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor simply brought the war out of the economic realm into the military sphere.

Iran is facing the exact same situation. Whereas the Obama Administration calmly portrays economic sanctions as "peaceful" solutions to political problems, they are anything but. The strategy here is to economically attack Iran until it responds militarily, giving the U.S. a fake moral high ground to "defend" itself, since the other side supposedly attacked first.

But the U.S. is provoking militarily too. According to the New York Times: "The Obama administration is accelerating the deployment of new defenses against possible Iranian missile attacks in the Persian Gulf, placing special ships war ships off the Iranian coast and antimissile systems in at least four surrounding Arab countries, according to administration and military officials." (January 30, 2010).

The same article mentions that U.S. General Petraeus admitted that, "... the United States was now keeping Aegis cruisers on patrol in the Persian Gulf Iran's border at all times. Those cruisers are equipped with advanced radar and antimissile systems designed to intercept medium-range missiles." Iran, as well as the whole world, knows full well that "antimissile systems" are perfectly capable of going on the offensive — their real purpose.

Iran is completely surrounded by countries occupied by the U.S. military, whether it be the mass occupation in Iraq and Afghanistan, or the U.S. puppet states that house U.S. military bases in Arab nations (not to mention Zionist Israel, a U.S. cohort in its war aims against Iran). Contrary to the statements of President Obama, Iran is already well contained militarily.

It remains to be seen how closely U.S. allies will follow the new oil sanctions; they will be under tremendous pressure to do so. The European Union has already signaled that it will follow Obama's lead.

Ultimately, the march to war begun by Bush is picking up momentum under Obama. Congressional Democrats and Republicans gave the President their overwhelming support in passing these sanctions, proving that the two party system agrees to the necessity of more war.

Uniting the U.S. anti-war movement is crucial if current and future wars are to be stopped. A step in this direction will take place at the National Peace Conference, in Albany, New York, July 23-25.

RE: Obama's New Iran Sanctions: An Act of War

by Iron_Clay on 06.07.2010 [07:16 ]

I have been posting comments such as are in the text below on the net today and now someone else has come to exactly the same conclusion.

Quote from above:

In fact, war against Japan in WWII was sparked by very similar circumstances. Franklin Delano Roosevelt spearheaded a series of sanctions against Japan, which included the Export Control Act, giving the President the power to prohibit the export of a variety of materials to Japan, including oil. This gave Roosevelt the legal stance he needed to implement an oil embargo, an obvious act of war. Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor simply brought the war out of the economic realm into the military sphere.

The Jap's attack on Pearl Harbor simply would not have happened if the American fleet blocking Japan's oil wasn't based there.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his military had full knowledge of the Jap's heading to attack Pearl Harbor and did nothing to stop or warn of the attack ...WHY???

Why is simple ... Roosevelt wanted to provide his military the backing off the braindead American people to go to war and more than that ... TO USE NUCLEAR WEAPONS to show the rest of the world what they were capable of.

Those who know me and have read my rants over the years will know that I have said that I believe the US will allow an Israeli aircraft to bury a US carrier somewhere near Iran and that they will accuse Iran of that attack.

Iran has to be aware that these fuel blockades are to provoke such an attack and Iran has to have the brains not to do it ... therefore when you see this happen remember what I have said.

There will be likely less than 24 hours between the sinking of the US carrier and a full on nuclear war in the middle east.

Already there are no less than 3 carrier groups (which is something like 13 war ships each) close to Iran. Already there are at least 2 Israeli subs hiding close as well. Already there is at least 1 Israeli war ship with one of these carrier groups. Already there is a massive buildup of Israeli aircraft sitting in Saudi waiting to strike.

If you can ignore all these good on you ... go back to sleep.

You should be ready to move within hours to do a final stock-up off goods.
You should have your money out of the banks by now.
Ammo and fuels are the first things you should be stocking up on when this war begins.

Neal

Report seems to be wrong

by LittleHelper on 06.07.2010 [09:13 ]

Actually, that IRNA report seems to be wrong.
But it seems to be true, that BP doesn't serve Iranian airliners with fuel anymore.
I can only guess, why BP is doing this. Maybe due to the oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico they are in such a bad shape now in respect to their public relations, that they're catching every straw to regain a favorable public image.

@IC: there are no 3 carriers around Iran: it's the BS created by the likes of Debka and that you should NOT SPREAD around, since you well know where to find the TRUTH by now...

Would you believe: JUST ONE SINGLE CARRIER GROUP?

There is the usual Amphibious Assault (Expeditionary) Group led by the LHA Nassau and one rotation carrier (Truman) replacing another (Eisenhower) that has finished its 6 months tour of duty and is already in Turkey on its way back to the US...

ht tp://www.navy.mil/navydata/navy_legacy_hr.asp?id=146

This is NORMAL and unless there are at least 4 Carrier and 6 Expeditionary Groups in the general vicinity, NO ATTACK will take place on Iran...

The economic blockade is far more insidious and, depending how it is implemented may in future amount to an Act of War...

However, it's NOT a physical blockade and other countries are free to trade with Iran - albeit at some economic cost to them - so the issue is still in a grey area...

Iran, however is totally justified in taking whatever counter-measures it sees fit against the countries involved - which are obviously under IsraHell control - starting with withdrawing from the NPT, as soon as its nuclear power station is in operation...

I've failed to get people to realise what was going on, maybe because I was too long winded? So I just thought of a very easy way to understand what is going on.

The psy-ops of an attack on Iran, are the actions of a street robber, trying to get your attention with quick hand motions/bumping into you. The theft are the sanctions that result from it as your eyes are always in the wrong direction.

The best way is electoral reforms, make sure there is no corruption going on, organise and start taking more political action. Kick out all NGOs from the country and identify the zionists controlling you.

Russians are smart, good-looking people, I have confidence that some time in the future you will no longer tolerate the situation the bastards have placed you in. Just make sure you don't get fooled by another Lenin bastard who the bankers controlled to rape your lands and people.

Regarding the top news in question, RowanBerkeley has correctly identified the reason for this jet fuel ban. BP has to give something to get some leniency in return. They're going to need it.

your view of Lenin is good for imperialists only. THEY want us to have such a view. But the truth is that without Lenin there won't be Stalin, USSR, socialist system, end of colonialism and racism and rise of the new states. It would have been fascist, racist, colonial imperialism type of 19-th century.

Of course it is not so important as the problem we discuss here. I agree with your idea, but it will take 4-8 years to change Head of the Central bank according to legal procedures. Moreover, we need to control BOTH president and Duma (lower part of the Parliament), the system is rather thought through! But leave alone Russia, at least it is the third (yes, yes!) zionist Citadel after US and israhell. Why China and India those are not at all zionist play Usan game? Perhaps we could reach some people in this countries?

by Syrian on 08.07.2010 [01:48 ]

I realise my view of Lenin et al. creates some problems, but I'm just putting some facts together. The truth is, the bankers (in Russia's case, the infamous Warburg dynasty) don't care which system is in place as long as they have control of it. They destroyed the USSR because they wanted consolidation of their globalisation system. It's funny, a few years before the Russian revolution, they had silently taken over the USA as well, Russia's old allie.

I have travelled across China and I can tell you these people are not going to be taken over. They are far too "different", in both their train of thought and their physical appearance. Though many of the relevant families are "mixing" in, it'll take far too long and the Chinese are extremely "racist". A slight hint of foreign blood and they will not treat them the same way as usual. They had already learnt their lesson from the Qing dynasty.

Indians at the moment are doing their own thing, they are extremely aligned with the israhellis/USAns, but they're still independent. I haven't studied it in detail.

By the way, a long time ago an old Freemason told me that "Russia in our pocket", but I didn't believe him. Anyway, I think Russians need to concentrate on securing their information channels. Russia has a relatively small population and they're not complete imbeciles like the USA. Some form of organisation is possible, even if it would many years.

The most critical problem to solve is that of agriculture. This is the dagger in the pillow that the bastards have left for Russia. They will force you to face starvation if you don't give them what they want. It is no wonder then that Medvedev was in charge of it, to make sure Russia was going to remain weak in this department.

Russia needs a total refurbishment of its rulers.

This cannot be achieved by peaceful means only, for the simple reason is that when those ruling notice the coming changes they have the means to buy support by different means, especially with their control of the massmedia and people do sell their services because of the degenerated human nature.

A proper civil none obedience program in strategic vital operations of the society combined with a military action is the only way out.

Drunkared yeltsin did it with the help of the ziowest so it can be done again, otherwise, we will see a Russia slaughtered and sold piece by piece by the ruling chabad talmudist zionists who should be eliminated from all power positions in Russia.

thank you for understanding, friends. We could discuss details for long time but it will lead away from important substance (I know it because it happens for years here).

Important substance that always falls out from discussion is that almost all "oligarchic" property in RF is ILLEGAL! The corresponding "deals" were investigated by special control department 'Schyotnaya palata' and proved to be total fiction. First Chubais and Koch who were on the top of government in 1995 under Yeltsin "relocated" "free" state money on the assets of several local banks. Then they said "the state doesn't have enough money, we must borrow from our banks", and "borrowed" exactly the same amount as they allocated! But who will give money to such bastards as Chubais and Koch without guarantees?! So they guaranteed the credit with great amounts of property that dwarfed the credit thousands times. Then they didn't returned credit to oligarchs and they became the owners of this property! This deal is pure fiction!

It was described in several books in Russian by Yu.Yu.Boldyrev "O bochkah meda i lozhkah degtya" and B.I.Mironov "Chubais - vrag naroda". These brave men many times appealed to General Prosecution but in wane. Mironov even asked Gen. pros. to prosecute him for lie if there is a single fact that is not correct. They didn't.

But instead Chubais organized his fake assassination and tried to prosecute Mironov's son for it but lost in court for three times!

I tell this to show that ruling regime in Russia has its' "locus minoris resistentia"! The main problem is as always information blockade.
