IS IT TIME FOR REVOLUTION?

By Rev. Ted Pike
1 Mar 10

Joseph Stack was an angry accountant who expressed his protest of the IRS by becoming an aerial firebomb, hurtling his plane into Austin's IRS building. His suicide note—"Violence not only is the answer, it is the only answer"—perfectly expressed the fiery sentiments of the majority of talk radio callers to whom I recently spoke. This past week I went back on the radio to try to stir up calls against the Anti-Defamation League's new public school hate crimes bill, the Student Nondiscrimination Act, HR 4530. I encouraged tens of thousands to protest to the House Education and Labor Committee where this bill is being considered. I discovered a shocking new mood in heartland America: fury and widespread determination to end liberal tyranny in Washington but not by phoning Congress. Increasingly, violent revolution is the solution for some.

You can listen to my interview with Rick Adams. For an hour and a half, the phone lines are jammed largely by callers enthralled with the possibility of "watering the tree of liberty" through bloody revolution. They hope this might bring the national salvation which has eluded us. (Listen to the broadcast HERE)

I encountered the same mood on other programs. The common belief is that, since Washington will not heed the will of the people, we must "punish" the government by no longer talking to it (in other words, calling Congress in protest.) Since the government has mocked the will of the people, various forms of non-cooperation, isolation and even violent insurrection are all that is left for us.

As a result, out of my nearly eight hours of intense pleas for action, heard on at least 70 radio stations slanted to the right, fewer than 70 people came to our website www.truthtellers.org for the list of names to call! Evidently, even the perverse and frightening objective of the Student Nondiscrimination Act—to establish the federal government as the pro-homosexual educator and punisher of Christian opponents of homosexuality in American public schools—can't rouse many people to call the politicians who will decide whether it goes forward.

Useless to call Congress?

Disheartened and desperate conservatives, largely in the tea party movement, think Congress is now impervious to the will of grassroots America. But an important clarification must be made. The government is not necessarily our enemy. America's primary adversary is the agenda of very powerful lobbying groups—primarily Zionist and secular Jewish groups led by the Anti-Defamation League and assisted by the homosexual lobby. These forcefully pressure and often work together with our leaders, from President Obama to members of the House and Senate.

Orthodox rabbi Nachum Shifren, in his unprecedented expose of the power and globalist aspirations of the ADL, confirms that secular Judaism, the dominant form of Judaism in America, spearheads this agenda. (See Shifren's article The ADL vs. Faith and Freedom) The red-button issues most promoted by the American secular Jewish community include homosexual rights, immigration and healthcare “reform,” abortion rights, national financial bailouts, support of Israel’s occupation of Gaza, and wars to make the Mideast safe for Israel—including possible attack of Iran. ADL epitomizes secular world Jewry and is a prolific and untiring fountain of freedom-destroying legislation, including state, federal, and international hate laws. We almost invariably find ever increasing numbers of Jewish Senators and House members either introducing or promoting the latest ADL-engendered legislative poison. Their ranks are vastly disproportionate to the 1-2% presence of Jews in the American population.

The problem of government "insensitivity" is thus largely synonymous with the fact that liberal, secular Jewish supremacy is deeply entrenched in our nation's capitol, promoting its anti-Christian, un-American agenda. Some Republicans, but especially Democrats, are overtly complicit with this Zionist Occupied Government (ZOG). All are heavily pressured to support issues of which the Zionists will admit no compromise. Dissent means political ruin by the vengeful, all powerful Jewish lobby, including Jewish-dominated big media (See Jews Confirm Big Media Is Jewish).

The focus of tea party and right-wing anger, demonizing “the government,” is thus both simplistic and misdirected.

It is foolish to “punish” Congress by refusing to talk to it! The secular Jews and liberals running Congress would actually be delighted to be left alone to create a dictatorship oppressing us all. Are we going to give them what they want? Or will we make their road to tyranny as rough as possible through incessant telephone criticism when and where it is needed? Rep. Steve King says the most effective way to hold back the liberal legislative agenda is by calling, at the critical moment, members of those pivotal committees that decide which legislation dies or advances. This is that moment to destroy the Student Nondiscrimination Act, HR 4530 in the House Education and Labor Committee. Victories for Freedom in 2009

Has the ability of the people to impact Congress really gone the way of the dinosaur? It’s true, concerning financial bailout and healthcare reform, the Democrat Congress has not revealed a sincerely listening ear. But even though the hate bill became law, the people scored several powerful victories against hate crime legislation in this Congress. Even though it took a lot of urging from National Prayer Network, calls of protest against the hate bill finally soared just before its passage, even exceeding calls about the Sotomayor hearings and healthcare. Democrats in the Senate were terrified and quickly added the previously rejected Brownback amendment to the present hate law, strengthening protection from possible federal prosecution for pastors, talk show hosts, and authors. Last fall, Americans' phone calls did even more. They stopped dead in their tracks ADL's cyber-bullying and AWARE bills, which would federalize prosecution of those who criticize homosexuality in American public schools and establish massive pro-homosexual public education. This happened because patriots, again alerted by the National Prayer Network, flooded the Judiciary committee with protest. This outpouring encouraged Rep. Louie Gohmert in particular to assemble a cast of top-flight Constitutional and conservative experts to argue against these bills.

Despite the big talk of revolution, there is little possibility for successful military insurrection for a long time to come. The real danger now is that through violence unstable people or groups may give ADL, the Department of Homeland Security, liberal media and Obama Democrats exactly what they want: confirmation that the tea party and far right are not only potential but actual domestic terrorists. The government response will be martial law, oppressive directives and legislation much further stripping us of freedom.

Today, the telephone remains our strongest weapon. Some in the right may vie for the honor of firing what they believe will be "the shot heard round the world," precipitating a revolution that will solve America's problems. Actually, such violent fanaticism would give the most powerful enemies of freedom the opportunity they lust for. It would only reverberate in the clang of thousands of prison cells throughout this land.
