

- Home
- About
- Appeals
- Readers Emails
- Request for a Lawyer
- Terrorists
- Thanks

 Search

Kawther Salam

The Daily Life of Kawther Salam

Feed on

Posts

Comments

« Israeli War Criminals in Jenin & Lebanon

(click on pictures to see them bigger)

Israeli War Criminals in Patagonia

Jan 30th, 2009 by kawther.salam

The Israeli war criminals who participated in the so-called “Operation Cast Lead”, the offensive launched by the Israeli Occupation Forces (IOF) on the Gaza Strip between 27 December and 18 January 2009, in which they killed and murdered

1350 and injured over 5000, in addition to the demolition of thousands of homes, industrial and commercial facilities, and the displacement of tens of thousands of Palestinian citizens who were left without a home, continue traveling in large groups and even in complete military units to Patagonia in the south of Chile and Argentina, for bad and unknown purposes.

If you are a lawyer and aware to catch some of these criminals to bring them before the justice, then you should speak with the authorities in order to make them aware and if possible to arrest these Israeli war criminals, and provide their names to the Interpol or to the local police in order to catch them during their stay in Patagonia in Chile and Argentina stealing, selling drugs, doing military and scientific research, spying, and who knows what other military missions in the wilderness, possibly training and preparing to invade their neighboring countries, which have a vegetation and geography similar to Patagonia.

Last week, a lawyer from Chile wrote me congratulating me for my journalistic work and informing me about the presence of so many Israeli soldiers which he encountered while in the south, whom he describes as impolite and rude.

In Patagonia in Chile and Argentina you can see the IOF criminals piled everywhere, like heaps of garbage. In 2004 I saw the huge number of the Israeli troops spreading in the south of Chile. Some were carrying electronic equipment in their backpacks and under their T-shirts, as if they were on an official mission. I saw these Israeli criminals on ships, in the bus, on the streets of all towns and villages, at the coffee shops, in the restaurants, in hotels and ... everywhere, right and left. Some of them identified me, and I also identified some of them who had been stationed in Hebron, but I kept my distance. I had to push away an Israeli officer who he tried to talk to me on a ship south of Villa O’Higgins, and the other tourists did the same as me; when we arrived at Candelario Mancilla, the officer told his commander about me. There were a group of Israeli officers and commanders waiting for him in Candelario Mancilla. They all were obviously in a military mission in Chile and not for tourism. This was my impression.

I know the IOF criminals and officers well, I know the Israeli troops. I know the Israeli military occupation. The IOF soldiers do not respect the nature. They are indeed the enemy of nature. The soldiers only know how to destroy, to assassinate, to kill, to cut trees and to raze beautiful green fields to the ground. They only know about mass destruction of human beings. During “Operation Cast Lead” in Gaza, the IOF soldiers burnt and destroyed trees, the birds, and even the stones before murdering the human beings. So what are these soldiers doing in the south of Chile and Argentina? Why they are targeting this incredibly beautiful part of earth?

Why are the Israeli war criminals still sending their troops, their special forces from different units, Golani, Givati, Death squads, Shimshon, Paratroopers, military Intelligence ... etc. to Patagonia? What is the next step and plan of these war criminals in Patagonia? Does the IOF plan to destroy the nature and to build more Jewish settlements in Chile and Argentina? Does the IOF train during their continuous presence in Patagonia? What disaster will the Israeli criminal forces bring to the kind Chilean people, and why? Is Patagonia planned to become a new or alternative homeland for the Jews?

The Chilean people also ask these questions. They are also aware of tomorrow. The stench of the Israeli troops in Patagonia is causing congestion in the nose of the Chilean people. The patience of the Chileans is wearing thin before the unlimited tours of the IOF in Patagonia.

The Chilean people do not like the rude manners of the Israeli soldiers in their country, and many do not hesitate to talk about them. “Nobody likes the Israeli soldiers in Chile and Argentina”. They are full of drugs, they are thieves, they are rude, impolite, and are criminals, friends of what belongs to others. They steal towels, the soap, the equipment of hotels, they steal in supermarkets, stores, they try to leave without paying bills. When a batch of them arrived at a village where I was staying, 18 chicken disappeared from one house in one afternoon, a small fortune in a region where weather is hard and people are anything but rich. “We prefer to stay without clients and keep on our things instead of renting these criminals the rooms in our hotels” the Chilean people would talk with deep bitterness and sadness about the presence of these Israeli troops in their country.

Here is what the Chilean lawyer wrote to me.

Dear Kawther:

I am a 41-year old lawyer from Chile and I would like to briefly write just to congratulate you on your brave work.

Recently I went with some friends of mine to do some trekking in Patagonia (Torres del Paine National Park) and, besides enjoying the beauty of the nature that we have the privilege of owning in Chile and Argentina (quite a contrast in comparison to the Atacama desert up in the North), I was extremely surprised and disgusted by encountering so many Israeli soldiers, unpolite and rude on top of that. As you know, besides many immigrants (including Jews) we have 500,000 citizens of Palestinian descent (I myself even had a girlfriend whose 4 grandparents were all originally from Palestine). Of course, after three generations they are as Chilean as any other descendants of Germans, Spaniards or Croatians. But the Jews of course never truly blend in and keep their loyalty rather elsewhere.

By investigating this strange phenomena on the internet, I came up with your blog:

<http://www.kawther.info/K20040416A.html>

Although posted in 2004, the information today remains as valid as ever. There is no doubt in my mind that the Israelis must certainly consider the possibility that someday those whom they have humiliated and slaughtered and who have nothing to lose might eventually obtain and drop the bomb on them. I recall the President of Iran suggesting the Israelis to relocate to Alaska (perhaps the U.S. should indeed consider this if they are continuing that far with their support). But I am afraid that the Israelis are eyeing our Patagonia as their future “promised land” (so, if they are the self-proclaimed “chosen people”, what does that make US?). That is why their partners such as Tompkins wish to prevent by all means the Chilean society and government from effectively occupying the far south of our country and from building roads or power plants. They say that we have to “preserve the nature”.. Ok, but for the benefit of exactly WHO would that be, huh?

All that can be done is to make as many Chileans as possible aware of this menace...

By the way, I have made a donation through <http://www.un.org/unrwa/> and I have also convinced many friends in Chile to do so as well.

Kind regards and best of luck always!!

Medardo

Dear Kawther:

Thank you for your reply.

Since you are a journalist, you might like to know that both candidates for the next Chilean Presidential election in December (Mrs. Eduardo Frei and tycoon Mr. Sebastian Piñera) support ENDESA's project to build a huge power plant in Patagonia (“HIDROAYSEN”, see www.hidroaysen.cl), desperately opposed by Douglas Tompkins and his friends. Former President Eduardo Frei is a foe of Tompkins and it was under his first government (1994-2000) that ENDESA purchased the land that currently cuts Tompkin's estate “Pumalin” in two (in order to prevent him from uniting both pieces of land into one huge strip that would in turn have cut and separated Chile in two pieces). If Frei is elected, Tompkins is in for a hard time (he even has immigration issues, since it was discovered that even though he has been for years here, he only has a “tourist” visa)...

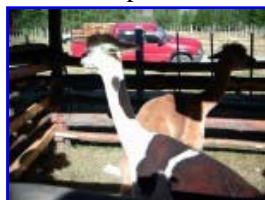

Cheers,

Medardo

Dear Kawther,

Saw your story @ Jeff Rense website 1-30-09, dealing with Patagonia and the IDF. I became interested in your plight & blog. To put it mildly, I very much despise these monsters and all of their antennas i.e. ADL AIPAC ect. I am so sorry for you and your countryman and all the suffering endured.

I know the power of the Zionists, I have personally been defamed by the ADL about 10 years ago. I am ashamed that the US government is controlled by ZOG Zionist Occupied Government. To witness the blatant, lopsided policy of Israel first makes me sad and angry. The Zionists can defame under the blanket of "antisemitry" & deep pockets, which they fill with plunder & Piracy. But your situation is different. There has to be a remedy and lawyers who will help. I have a couple of ideas that I will work on.

I live in North Carolina, USA. I do some legal resurch and will put out some feelers linked to your blog/website.

I am happy I have the privilege to talk to a very brave lady. Keep up your hard work!!!!!!

Scott

---

Please, search PLAN ANDINIA to understand why the presence of soldiers in patagonia. I'll want to help you but I dont speak english. Sorry, and please go ahead !!!

Alejandro from Argentina

---

Kawther,

I think that the bad behavior of Israelis abroad is a good indicator of how they feel towards the non-Jewish world. They view the entire world through the lens of the Holocaust and the Holocaust provides them with justification for anything and everything they do to other people or even other Jews who are not sufficiently Zionist in outlook. Whether the Holocaust happened or not is not important. They believe it happened and that is that.

I believe that Israelis understand that they are among the world's most disliked peoples.. Through the power of the Rothschilds and other banking families, they exert control over Europe and America. But aside from the evangelical Christians, who want to convert them, they really do not have friends in most places. Not having friends, they try to control the people around them and in the end, they create more enemies. The silence their enemies, but they never convert them and they know it.

As for why they are in Chile: A few possibilities: In the near term, they believe that the threat to Israel comes from Iran and Syria in the form of a nuclear war and the deadly radioactive aftermath. They could also be afraid of America collapsing financially, as many people believe it will. We can give the Israelis as much money as they ask for, but if the dollar is worthless, it does not help them. The Israeli military machine is mainly Made in America and without America's support, it will be difficult to maintain it.

Who else has a big check book and holds Israel near and dear to their hearts? Britain's aristocracy is a big supporter of Israel, but Britain is in deep trouble financially. I like to think that the Rothschilds could support Israel financially, but in the long run, that might ruin them. And who knows what they are spending already?

In the long term, a possible threat to Israel comes from sea level change. Israel, as small as it is, could get much smaller if the sea level rises. I have read the maximum possible rise is 210 feet or 65 meters. If the sea level rises 210 feet, Israel and much of the surrounding countries will be destabilized and full of refugees. Even a 14 meter rise will have big impact on Israel.

For one reason or another, they may have to leave Israel.. Jews are known for planning far ahead: Israel is proof of that.. I believe they are in the initial stages of planning and evaluating various areas around the globe for evacuation centers. The timeframe they are looking at could be over 500 years ahead. There is disagreement over how fast the the sea is rising, but in the long run, they will probably have to go. The question is where.

I believe that they would look for places that have the following attributes:

1. Relatively unpopulated or with a unarmed population that could be intimidated, overpowered or liquidated.. (Chile's population is 16 million, that might not be easy)
2. Easy to defend. Chile has many mountains.
- 3 High above any projected sea level
4. Accessible by sea or air. Patches of land that could be converted into air strips.
- 5 Not surrounded by Arabs, as is Israel..
6. A country were most people do not have weapons.
- 7 Water for drinking and agriculture

If I were a Chilean intelligence officer, I would consider it to be of the highest priority to closely monitor any and all Israelis.

I would develop a civilian network to report on their every move. Sales of land to Chilean Jews, Israeli and other foreigners should be closely watched, especially in remote areas. .But I would be careful, chances are the Israelis already have their agents in place high up in the Chilean government as they do in many countries, especially America

Respectfully,

---

Here are free opinions published in the Chile Discussion Forum related to my article “Israeli War Criminals in Patagonia”.

Chile Forum in English for Gringos, Expatriates, and Travelers to Exchange Ideas and Information about Chile, South America.

Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

---

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby JvG on Fri Jan 30, 2009 1:50 am

While doing some web browsing today I came accross the following story:

http://www.kawther.info/wpr/2009/01/30/ ... -patagonia

The author is a Palestinian woman who noticed considerable amounts of Israeli Occupation Forces in the south of Chile and Argentina in 2004, and also at the present time. The question is Why..... 😊

Does anyone know about this, or is this just in internet legend? 😊

According to an article I read a couple of years ago, Israel might be making contingency plans to relocate a portion of their population to Patagonia if the situation in the middle east becomes impossible.

If the story were true, the political situation in Chile could be much different than at present.

---

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby j. Ro on Fri Jan 30, 2009 2:10 am

Probably looking for ex-SS. Heavy German influence in the south of South America and after WW2 some Nazi's escaped

Europe to the Patagonia.

Unless Israel, Chile and Argentina are in cahoots they won't be moving to South America. The Chilean and Argentinean Armies would be a formidable force for Israel. Probably the only time you would see them working together.

---

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby eeuunikkeiexpat on Fri Jan 30, 2009 2:14 am

Yeah, I've been reading first-hand excerpts from hostel owners to travelers for a while on Thorn Tree and such.

Remember that Chile and Argentina are in the class of small but relatively developed countries that would be open to technology transfer from states like Israel. I would not be surprised if there were an unwritten agreement that Israeli soldiers on leave doing their traditional rite of passage might be free to engage in other matters.

Who knows?

---

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby MikieO on Fri Jan 30, 2009 2:22 am

Well, the IDF as usual have well placed friends;

“The former clothing mogul has spent more than $10 million on “Pumalin Park,” the largest privately-owned nature preserve in the world. Tompkins has been working to get the land declared a nature sanctuary by the government, and he wants to then donate it to a Chilean foundation, which would manage it. It's an altruistic plan, but it has stirred great controversy in Chile.

In a May press conference this year, Tompkins and his attorney, accompanied by leaders of Chile's largest environmental groups, presented information to counter a “harassment campaign” they say is being waged by the government. Among the numerous false accusations, they say, are rumors that Tompkins is pressuring locals to sell their land, building a nuclear base, planning a Jewish colony, developing a secret gold mine and financing political opposition.”

<http://forests.org/archive/samerica/thinkbig.htm>

---

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby Vicki and Greg Lansen on Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:40 am

In the link in the first post, the Palastinian woman says on her BLOG:

In Patagonia in Chile and Argentina you can see the IOF criminals piled everywhere, like heaps of garbage. In 2004 I saw the huge number of the Israeli troops spreading in the south of Chile. Some were carrying electronic equipment in their backpacks and under their T-shirts, as if they were on an official mission. I saw these Israeli criminals on ships, in the bus, on the streets of all towns and villages, at the coffee shops, in the restaurants, in hotels and ... everywhere, right and left. Some of them identified me, and I also identified some of them who had been stationed in Hebron, but I kept my distance. I had to push away an Israeli officer who he tried to talk to me on a ship south of Villa O'Higgins, and the other tourists did the same as me; when we arrived at Candelario Mancilla, the officer told his commander about me. There were a group of Israeli officers and commanders waiting for him in Candelario Mancilla. They all were obviously in a military mission in Chile and not for tourism. This was my impression.

I have great sympathy for the plight of Palistinian civilians, and the awful oppression they have been subjected to for a half a century. However, I think it is entirely possible she might be a little paranoid, as I might be had I lived through what she claims to have. Every year, the first waves of young backpackers to hit Patagonia, are Israelis. In their backpacks on on their persons, they carry digital cameras, netbooks, and GPS' devices, IPOD, MP3 players, along with tents, sleeping bags and cooking utensils. We always give backpackers ride when we are out on the road, and recently hosted two young men who were on their year of travel throughout Argentina, Chile and other south American countries and beyond. They had just finished their two-year mandatory military service and were clearly enjoying being bums, meeting kids from other countries and looking forward to heading all the way south to Ushia before flying on to New Zealand. In Puerto Rio Tranquilo, we stayed in a hostel that was filled entirely with young Israeli backpackers, most all of the age that they would have just recently finished their military service.

That's my observations on the Israeli invasion of Patagonia. I've not seen actual military units, equipment or uniformed soldiers in my travels. I suppose it is possible, but I would have to see something more than roving bands of goofy kids having a grand adventure. For a Palestinian civilian however, the wave of young Israeli travelers would seem intimidating.

User avatar

Vicki and Greg Larsen

Rank: Chile Forum Hero

---

Re: Why is the Israel's army in Patagonia?

Postby Laura55llc on Fri Jan 30, 2009 3:54 pm

Vicki, Thanks for the explanation. sounds very likely. Good to have on the spot Allchile reporters!

Re: Why is Israel's army in Patagonia

Postby Vicki and Greg Larsen on Fri Jan 30, 2009 4:10 pm

Just my opinion Helen! If you visit the link in the first post and read through the blog, both the blogger's posts, and the comments, you will quickly realize how deep the [b]hatred[/b] runs on both sides. I haven't done any online research to see if I can find anything about joint Israel-Chile military exercises, or cooperations, but it is just my gut feeling based upon reading her blog and seeing droves of backpackers here, and in my recent travels south. I realize that many of these young people were most likely involved in Israel's recent military actions, however to hold them each responsible would be like blaming a returning US veteran for the civilian deaths in Afghanistan or Iraq, for the actions of our leadership. My opinion is that because it's Israel making military moves, does not mean it is necessarily a solely a Jewish attack on Gaza and Hebron.

The woman writing the blog is very angry, and possibly rightly so, but to label young Jewish backpackers as war criminals and to associate iPods and MP3 players with a covert Israeli military invasion is a little far fetched. The young Israeli kids we had over for a night had just finished their two-year mandatory service and wanted nothing more than to not shave, hang out, travel, skinny dip in Lago General, raft, eat all my food, make fun of old Israeli hardliners and the Hasidic Jews who they called "Penguins" (their word, not mine) and laugh all night long. I don't get the impression there is some covert mission. But..who knows.

---

Re: Why is the Israel's army in Patagonia?

Postby Laura55llc on Fri Jan 30, 2009 4:37 pm

Yes, lots of hatred there and a very sad situation. Chile has welcomed many immigrants from Palestine here in Chile. One of my neighbors father is from Palestine, immigrated many years ago. Really nice family. I did do a quick look online and don't really see any heinous Israel-Chile connections other than the recent cargo price fixing scandals and Chile selling weapons to Israel many years ago under Pinochet.

---

Re: Why is the Israel's army in Patagonia?

Postby eeuunikkeiexpat on Fri Jan 30, 2009 5:10 pm

Being the conspiracy minded type I am, I doubt you will read about any military technology transfer in the press as it definitely would be all black budget type stuff.

Some things that come to my warped mind: officially prohibited by the US missile delivery systems for the newly acquired F-16s and the old better to have it ready to come off the shelf components which when put together and unlocked by the benefactor make big boom.

I believe P has mentioned agro tech transfer in the past.

---

Re: Why is the Israel's army in Patagonia?

Postby admin on Fri Jan 30, 2009 5:44 pm

I use to backpack through the Mexico and Central America and would run in to way more Israeli x-military. They are not exactly secretive. I use to make a point (and most backpackers would) to move on to another hostile if there was a group of them camped out at it. They were notorious for being really really loud as they would party until say 3 A.M., and then just like the military barracks wake up at dawn and start yelling at each other. A lot of the hostile owners in Central America simply refused to rent to them, unless there was sufficient number to fill their hostile completely.

---

Re: Why is the Israel's army in Patagonia?

Postby el puelche on Fri Jan 30, 2009 7:30 pm

All of this is a load of BULLSHIT.

The palestinians and the israelis will be at it in heaven, if any of them make it. So What. There is definitely israeli prescence in Chile as there is palestinian. The fact of the matter is that a mass of palestinian protest on whatever issue will be met with a lukewarm welcome by the chilean left and thats that; a few cocktail meets and they will run out of cash and no one will continue to go. I am here to tell you that if there aren't more than a few hot palestinian chicks willing to sleep with the alpha chilean protest leaders, it won't go too far...a couple of one night stands is all...and if can they make breakfast will be a greater factor on if they stay longer or not...its brutal, but thats the way it is.

The israelis, for their part, can come all they want. They are always on duty and report what they see to the mossad, whether they are connected or not. Some take it more seriously and they will report and so I say let them. The Chilean FACH (Fuerzas Armadas Chilenas) have struck their own individual deals and their participation with israel is as they see fit. Patrol boats for the navy, F-16 upgrades for the airforce, armored scout cars and commando training/special ops for the army...and it stops there....yes its true that friends are made and official and non-official connections are made...but the Chilean FACH will never be able to provide or submit to what the israelis want and require in as much as security for their people in Chile...it just cannot happen and it won't...officially.

As any of you that have lived in Chile know, nothing gets by the Chilean paisano...it will be known and what is not best for Chile, will be found out...if Chilean security forces act on it or not will be as they see fit...and it won't go far unless the overwhelming advantage is not on the Chilean side of things...period.

En este causa, lo de Chile riena en forma suprema de todo y punto...no se preocupe de nada mas, y ciao.

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby Chuck J 3.0 on Fri Jan 30, 2009 10:06 pm

I heard Abe Foxman was in Santiago recently. That worries me. I'd hate to see Chile taken advantage of by the ADL/JDL /SPLC/AIPAC guilt machine. As for Israeli soldiers in Chile, that is a bad sign.

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby tombrad2 on Fri Jan 30, 2009 10:21 pm

Just another urban myth. Here in Arica you can find also lots of Israeli people backpacking because their government finances travel for them after they serve, I have met lot of those people and they have not "invassion" plans nor anything such, anyone who knows the basic of military knows that this idea is perposterous (o como se escriba).

Otherwise in cities like Arica and Punta Arenas, where there are the main of Chilean military power, there come to work regullary Israely technicians in training, maintenaince and installing weapon systems. Chilean military force has lot of weapons and logistic systems from Israel but the most of the Israelies you can see in north and south of Chile are plain backpackers, nothing else. Well this is just a more polite version of El Peulche words which I endores completely "a load of BULLSHIT

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby Chuck J 3.0 on Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:01 pm

tombrad2 wrote:J.... most of the Israelies you can see in north and south of Chile are plain backpackers, nothing else. ..

Are you sure about that Tomas

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby tombrad2 on Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:21 pm

Absolutly 😊 I have meet many of them.

There are no military reason to fear from I.D.F. they have enough domestic/neighborhood problems to keep them busy for long time. There are a lot of "National Enquirer style" theories related with jews since long time, but they are one of our more valuable military partners and suppliers because their skills and experience combating in desert. 🇮🇱

Thanks to "Enmienda Kennedy" our military developed a lot of resources and abilities independent from the USA, thanks Ed, you did it!

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby eeuunikkeiexpat on Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:22 pm

Primary personal - R&R from mandatory service.

Secondary obligation - report to Mossad on any interesting observation and finding during their R&R.

I say it would be very naive to deny some of these youngsters also didn't have an intelligence task as primary over their R&R.

Remember the Israeli "art students" swarming USA gov facilities rounded up and ejected from the US after 9 1 1 (and amazingly reported by FOX but then smothered)?? Not to mention moving companies and dressing up as Arabs and others directly on the heels of the sex drugs and rock'n'roll fundie Arabs supposedly responsible for it in the States.

I'm not an intelligence expert but there must be some methodology involved by being loud, obvious and in noticeable groups while the more real and covert operatives do their thing.

Just my opinion as everyone has one or two (along with an azzhole

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby JvG on Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:40 pm

I am a few years from retirement, and am looking for a country that has few disputes with its neighbors and seems to be a nice place to live. The USA seems to go out of its way to serve the needs of Israel, even to its own detriment. Chile appears to me to be a nice out of the way place should a major war occur in the Northern Hemisphere. It appears that Chile gets along reasonably well with its neighbors. Bolivia appears to resent the loss of its coastline 130 years ago, but is not in a position to do much about it.

Should Patagonia be a home away from home for the Zionists, Chile could be affected politically, and life there might be different than it is now. I have read other articles in the past about large tracts of land being purchased in the South by those of a certain political and religious persuasion. I would be just as concerned if any other group would appear in large numbers. I do not wish to offend anyone.

About 25 years ago a group from India purchased a ranch in Oregon, and muscled their way into county politics. the town was renamed Rasnishpuram.

I was just curious what those of you living in Chile might have observed, or heard. This seems to be quite a lively topic.

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby tombrad2 on Fri Jan 30, 2009 11:53 pm

There it was during many years a vast territory controlled by a group of germans (many of them ex nazis) it was called "Colonia Dignidad" and operated under a welfare cover since the 50s to 90s, now the founder (Paul Sheffer) is in jail and all the organization declared illegal. The wurd thing is that they was protected by governmentes of any kind, from Christian Democrats to leftist Allende to righthist Pinochet. More than politic they was a very close group organized like a sect controlling their "followers" by slavery, tortures and sex abuse. It was very odd they had last so long

Re: Why is the Israels army in Patagonia?

Postby MikieO on Sat Jan 31, 2009 12:18 am

Hi Tom,

looks like the "Colonia Dignidad" moved to Israel!! 😊

http://www.news24.com/News24/World/News ... 87,00.html

Tags: No Tags Sphere: Related Content

Bookmark to:

Tags: Argentina, Candelario Mancilla, Chile, Israeli War Criminals, Patagonia, Villa O"Higgins

Posted in Chile, Israel, Occupation, Patagonia

Email This Post Print This Post

2 Responses to "Israeli War Criminals in Patagonia"

1. on 31 Jan 2009 at 03:48:30 ezequiel

gold mines

2. on 31 Jan 2009 at 07:59:15 Juan

Chilean intelligence? Don't make me laugh. We are currently governed by dumb rascals of the worst class, traitors who are more interested in personal profit and keeping power than getting the job done. As a hint, "fattie" Bachelet's gov't inaugurated with the highest proportion of jews in cabinet, second to Israel. Not that it kept it from being an abismally inept government.

Trackback URI | Comments RSS

Leave a Reply

Name (required)

Mail (hidden) (required)

Website

• About Me

After I was forced by the Israeli occupation forces to leave my home in Palestine, I fled to Vienna, Austria, where I currently live as a refugee.

I started my online diary in October 2001 while still living in Palestine, where I worked as a journalist.

More about this site (click)

Write Me ! (click)

• Translation / تـمـجـرت

• Should the Israeli forces besieging Gaza be prosecuted in The Hague for crimes against humanity?

Yes (89.0% | 1,812 Votes)

No (12.0% | 239 Votes)

Total Votes: 2,051

• Pages

- About