Subject: Zionist Big Brother's tentacles wrap around Adelaide Institute's Fredrick Toben at London Heathrow airport

Dear Radical Reader:

Call it Big Brother as Orwell did; call it the Beast as John did; call it the Serpent or the generation of vipers as Jesus did. Call it what you will it is still the same creature and whatever disguise it shapeshifts into, for whatever nefarious purpose it has planned, it will always be the same in essence: the principle of evil; dark and foul, satanic and vicious and wholly opposed to the divine principles of Love, Light, Freedom of the Thought and knowledge of the one God of all Creation.

In our times this noxious entity, known to the world as Political Zionism, has gained a firm a grip over Germany and some of the other European Union 'nations' and is persistently working on doing likewise in every sovereign country of the world. It is the hybrid, bastard child of the Illuminati of Adam Weishaupt that through surreptitious design, aided and abetted and ultimately controlled by the international financial cartel of the Rothschilds eventually manifested on the world's stage in 1897 as the twin-headed serpent Zionism. Since its outward appearance in Basle, Switzerland it has coiled itself around Western nations over the past century via its Marxist/Communist/Socialist network and its absolute control of the 'mainstream' media.

As all dark entities do, it works its wonders behind the scenes and images that fill the eye of its ghastly head – the device known as the "television". Subterfuge, deception, blackmail and murder compose its modus operandi and these treasonous principles of destruction now permeate all "international" levels of governance to the point where no one who might have offended the Beast is safe any longer to travel freely around the world.

Such is the case with the Adelaide Institute's Fredrick Toben, now held hostage by British authorities hiding behind this fraudulent Zionist/Cheka-like legislation euphemistically labeled the "European Arrest Warrant"; a phoney piece of Zionist legislation brought to the surface of this putrid pond of mind-control legislation now emerged out of the 9/11 false flag event of 2001. It's but one of many collateral criminal acts spawned in order to apprehend, jail and silence anyone who dares to expose the pathological practises of these power-crazed maniacs who are doing their damndest to censor public debate of essential issues and fulfil their agenda of turning the world into one global gulag for all but the Zionist perpetrators of this gargantuan hoax of hoaxes.

Also bear in mind that one of the key phrases employed by the Zionists is the term "Holocaust Denier". Along with others like "anti-Semite", "neo-Nazi", "Jew-hater", etc., it is designed to give a picture of someone who actually believes that no Jews died in the work camps of WW2. This is a blatant lie of course for no one who challenges the figures or the myth of the "gas chambers" has ever denied that a portion of Jews died in the camps. The Zionists would have the world believe that to question is to deny. That is pure mind-control propaganda and readers must be cognizant of this fact in reading any and all accusations by the Zionist-controlled media that someone is a "holocaust denier".

It might also be good to bear in mind that it was these same Zionist/Bolshevik/Communists who, in the early 1920's, after successfully murdering the Tzar of Russia and his whole family, then did a massive disappearing act on approximately 15 million Russian peasants (most Christians) and sent them to the Gulag Archipelago to sink into silence and oblivion.

The world ought to be outraged to the max over Toben's arrest. If the Zionists who have perpetrated this crime are successful in jailing Mr. Toben again it will be the final signal to the world that these scumbag traitors to freedom and democracy are not only totally out of control but are winning the battle to enslave the world to their despicable agenda.

We must all do what we can to raise our voices in global protest against this mendacious move on the part of "Germany" to set a precedent that will legitimate these heinous Zionist actions. Do something. Anything.

Extradition bid raises fears of 'thought crime' offences

Commentary: Frances Gibb

Crown Prosecution Service lawyers will put the case on behalf of the German authorities tomorrow that Fredrick Toben, an Australian doctor, should be extradited for offences allegedly committed in Germany.

The case is the latest example of the global reach of criminal laws - and of their impact between one European country and another.

The extradition request is being made under the European Arrest Warrant, a fast-track procedure to allow criminal suspects to be sent between European states.

The warrant, which came into force in January 2004, abolished the principle of "dual criminality" that existed under old extradition laws. This means that someone in Britain can be extradited for something that is not a crime here - as long as it is a criminal offence in the state requesting extradition.

The reform was rushed through in part as a response to terrorism after September 11. Ministers also argued that it would speed up a cumbersome and slow extradition process, helping criminals to be brought more swiftly to justice.

Critics pointed out, however, that people could find themselves charged with an offence they did not know existed because racism or xenophobia, for example, can be interpreted differently in different jurisdictions. The spectre of "thought crime", a person facing trial for broadcasting xenophobic or racist remarks such as denying the Holocaust on an internet chatroom in another country - as alleged against Dr Toben - was the very criticism raised against the warrant before it took effect.

At the time ministers undertook that if such "offences" took place in Britain, the perpetrators would not be extradited. However, in defence of the European Arrest Warrant it is argued that a country cannot ask for someone to be extradited on suspicion of committing a far-fetched offence that would never be a crime in most states.

Lord Filkin, then the Home Office Minister, said when the legislation went through Parliament that no one would be extradited for conduct that was legal in Britain.

'Holocaust denier' arrested at Heathrow

Dr Frederick Toben, an Australian citizen, is wanted in Germany for publishing anti-Semitic material on the internet

Dr Frederick Toben, an Australian citizen, is wanted in Germany for publishing anti-Semitic material on the internet

David Brown

A leading Holocaust denier was arrested as he flew into Britain yesterday, accused of running an internet site that insisted that the Nazis had not murdered millions of Jews.

Dr Fredrick Toben was held at Heathrow at the request of the German authorities for publishing "anti-Semitic and/or revisionist" material between 2000 and 2004.

Although Holocaust denial is not an offence in Britain, it is a serious crime in Germany and Dr Toben faces up to five years in prison. The Australian citizen was arrested under a European Arrest Warrant designed to fast-track extraditions.

Dr Toben, 64, was remanded in custody by City Westminster Magistrates' Court to appear again tomorrow.

He told the court that "the Germans are out to get me" and claimed he was the victim of "legal persecution". "It's a witch-trial mentality in Germany concerning this matter, which is not the case in England yet," Dr Toben said.

"You should let me go because this is persecution and you should not demean the court by accepting this application from [the German court]. The whole procedure is an abuse of process. I see this matter as a legal ambush. You would be subjecting me to a legal process you cannot defend yourself against."

Dr Toben was arrested in transit from America to Dubai, the court was told. Tina Whybrow, for the Crown, on behalf of the German authorities, said that he was accused of committing the offences in Australia, Germany and other countries.

Opposing bail, she said: "It is our assertion that this man would fail to surrender if you were to grant him bail."

When police boarded the aircraft Dr Toben had moved seats "to avoid detection" and told officers "you can't arrest me on British soil", he said.

The German-born historian is the founder and director of the Adelaide Institute, a Holocaust denial group. [this is Zionist propaganda. A.T.]

In a disclaimer on his website, he writes of his work: "If you wish to begin to doubt the Holocaust-Shoah narrative, you must be prepared for personal sacrifice, must be prepared for marriage and family break-up, loss of career, and go to prison."

He spent seven months in a German prison in 1999 awaiting trial for charges under Holocaust law which forbids incitement and "insulting the memory of the dead". He was found guilty and sentenced to ten months' jail but released a day later when a supporter posted bail, and fled the country.

Dr Toben also faces jail in Australia for breaching a Federal Court order in 2002 to remove material that it found "vilified Jewish people".

In August he denied 28 charges of contempt of court brought by the Council of Australian Jewry, which claimed that the website still contained "virulent antiSemitic" material including that there were no homicidal gas chambers at Auschwitz and that the Holocaust was "the world's filthiest blood libel".

In 2006 Dr Toben was among academics who attended a conference entitled "Review of the Holocaust: global vision" held by President Ahmadinejad of Iran. He was reported to have described evidence relating to gas chambers as "products of a feverish pathological mind filled with pure hatred, mostly directed against Germans and anything German".

Your Excellency,

As you will be aware the British police and Crown Prosecution Service have executed a Mannheim-originating warrant on an Australian national, the historian Dr. Fredrick Töben, who was arrested onboard an aeroplane at Heathrow while simply in transit from the USA to Dubai.

Even as he had no intention of entering Britain, he was seized off the aeroplane and brought into this country where his alleged crimes do not even constitute an offence.

For the first time, therefore, the European Arrest Warrant is being used in a manner that we in Britain were assured would not be applied in Britain, which has declined to adopt a "Holocaust denial" law, because it is contrary to British traditions of freedom of enquiry and expression.

The situation is summed up in today's Times

under the headline:
"Extradition bid raises fears of 'thought crime' offences".

I trust that the High Commission will provide consular assistance to Dr. Töben and will monitor this disturbing and unprecedented development so as to keep our fellow Australians informed of what they can expect from the UK legal system when travelling or in transit.

Yours truly
Michèle Renouf
