One More Lone Gunman who wasn't Alone.

Dog Poet Transmitting.....

'May your noses always be cold and wet'.

You would think they would have the numbers straight by now. I keep seeing the number 76 and then I see where it is over a hundred or in the high 90's. There's so much being written about it at the moment that you can't keep up with it and, as the writer in the link just given points out, it's certainly taken the focus off of Rupert Murdoch and all of the evil shits who enabled him. As I scan the whole affair with my intuitive sense, I see this is the primary intent of the whole thing. I get the feeling they have cadres of deluded malcontents, intricately programmed for the moment of need whenever it arises.

What must be going on behind the scenes and in the minds of the players in the higher spheres of social and political discourse? Surely they know, this time they know and there can be little doubt at any level that Israel, her banking commandoes and special ops terror forces, are lizard-neck deep in the horror of this event and in most of the related horrors of these times.

My thought is that the force of The Apocalypse is making itself felt upon all of the operations of obfuscation and fascist control around the globe. They know about things on the horizon that are still concealed from the eyes of majority population. They know that critical mass has entered into the playing field of its maximum expression. In times of great historical change, there is a wall clock that counts off the moments to the inevitable. It hangs in the meeting rooms of the halls of power. It ticks away in the minds of those who have perpetrated so much rage and ruin upon the populace of so many countries, for the purpose of economic gain and an ever widening net of global control.

It is going to collapse around their heads. It can't go any other way. It's destiny. After decades of mass murder, applied genocide and phony peace talks, the declaration of a Palestinian State looms on the near horizon. They're not going to be able to stop it. The Palestinians have no other options. They're up against the wall and the force of the Aquarian Age is on their side, regardless of the cost in the process. They have little left to lose and they keep losing that. Israel is on the wrong side of history and everything they do, exposes them for what they are, a bloodthirsty cabal of non-Semitic interlopers, seeking to forge the historical record and write themselves into ancient locations that they never occupied in the first place.

Three things have made the activities of these psychopaths so successful. One of them is the fabrication of an event that every known record disproves. The other is their control of the banking world and the third is their control of the media. All of these efforts were in the planning and operations phase for a very long time. Once they felt secure in their position they came out of the closet and have begun a systematic takeover of human consciousness. I should mention that their hijacking of the Christian fundamentalist, cartoon absurdist religion has also stood them in good stead, with a massive chorus of lemmings and cannon fodder at their disposal; "the enemy of my enemy is my friend".

What are the things that are crumbling away as we approach maximum dénouement? The truth about a certain fabricated event is slowly making itself known worldwide. The whole of the Arab world knows about it now. The banking system is collapsing and thanks to the internet, the media stranglehold on the world's perception of events is losing its force and capacity for containment. It's all coming apart and this leaves the bad guys with few options. The rogue elements in the CIA and MI6, which take their marching orders from Tel Aviv, are scrambling like panicking rats up and down the guy lines of a doomed ship of fools. Everything they do is turning against them.

What is the guaranteed response from the perpetrators, given that all of their plots are imploding? The guaranteed response is more false flags, with an eye toward a more horrendous massacre in Gaza, with an excuse based upon the changes at the border crossing in Egypt. This is to be in tandem with an assault on Iran. These inhuman killers need maximum distraction to take the attention off of the daily exposure of their terrible acts against the rest of us. Things like the fall of Dark Lord Rupert cannot be allowed to continue and this means the near certainty of some much greater and more horrific false flags at important points in Europe and the US. This is how it sorts out in my thoughts at the moment.

We're right in the eye of the storm at the moment and we've been there for awhile. It's a big storm and it passes slowly. Soon enough the eye is going to pass by and the rampaging winds and fury of the attendant rain is going to come down with a vengeance. It's going to be very selective. The weather and everything else is an agent of the cosmos and employed in the best interests of all of us who are present in this time. It doesn't look good at the moment and it hasn't looked good for a long time but that's just appearances and that's all this world really is anyway, appearances and appearances lie.

Everything we hear these days is a lie and every lie is calculated to obscure a particular truth. Whenever you read something in the media, you can take it as the gospel truth that it is a lie and then you can look at what's not being said and be pretty certain that that is what is really going on. Give it a few days or a few weeks and the real story will start to emerge in the blogosphere and then a series of seemingly oppositional talking heads in the mainstream will debate the follow-up lies that are meant to distract from the emergent truth. This is what has happened with the bank bailouts and the theft of public resources from every location they can be stolen from. The comic spectacle of truly insane greed is a wonder to behold. They are out of control and how does this play up against their relentless push for control? It creates a dichotomy that they cannot escape, explain or understand because their capacity for all of these things is being compromised from locations within and without that keep them in a harness of blindness, as they are marched toward their date with the cosmic comeuppance.

I know that a lot of people can't see this because of the apprehension that is coming down on them in these times and because of the power of false appearances that makes such a large shadow thrown by such puny figures. The degree of force that is needed to wake people up is going to be the determinant of how intense it gets. If you don't need a two by four in the back of the head, it is likely you won't be getting one. On the other hand, if you do, well, you do the math. Of course, you won't be doing any math because you are already buying into the manufactured figures of those who are performing these deceptions upon you; that is why the two by four is necessary. There's nothing anyone can say to anyone who is not in a position to hear it and that is why The Apocalypse is necessary to begin with.

Lao Tzu makes several comments about how one's grasp should never exceed their reach and why an army should never march too far beyond the supply wagons. He makes a good case for all kinds of prudent behavior and his sutras have lasted as an irrefutable teaching until this day. This is because those who do refute them, wind up object lessons of them. Those who do practice and embrace these truths are not often heard about because they don't go around looking like they swallowed the sun and the moon.

Dog poet,

I can never thank you enough for what you've done to help open my eyes to reality. You're a gem, and I'm not sure where I'd be without your words, which help me balance all those other words pouring into my small brain from too many directions.

I like reading many blogs, but this particular one resonates with me, and it's also where weird truths, and even stranger happenings are discussed openly – I won't find that many places.

Thanks for taking the time to continue educating me and the rest of your readers. We're on your side for sure.

As you described in another fine composition, almost exactly, every core thought roaming about in my mind for the past few days (although not in as creative or orderly form as you write them into this world) - hey hey!

And let's not forget that Qaddafi's grandchildren were killed by NATO forces the same day bin Laden was supposedly bagged by Navy SEALs.

Here's an article by the great Gordon Duff, that has many twists and turns in it and is imo not so much about Gaddafi but once again about the insidiousness of Zionazis Rothschilds.

Reading this, remember that Israel sent mercenaries to Libya to help Gaddafi. Libya does NOT have an independent bank but is rather a Rothschild controlled creature(I have been saying this), and how the US is owned on all sides(well that goes w/o saying...)

Playing all sides against each other, Israel and their minions will end up walking into a sword of their own making.

Questions about the role of government, the ethics of finance, and the insanity of letting a war and security machine run amok. Specific questions about agencies arming insurgency in Mexico or who could have done the anthrax.

Many people in Europes are getting cold feet over the union and want to reassert nationality - and with that ask who does government justly work for?

An odd thing about that "eye of the storm" thing is they way that the rampaging winds and fury seem to be passing right by...as long as I maintain my devotion to the source that is.

Every time I make the mistake of thinking I know what I'm doing, the divine lets just a bit of it slam into me. I admit I'm not very bright but I am starting to notice the pattern. Hopefully I can get to the point where the brush of the rushing wind is all I need to get me back in the flow, we'll see, or not.

It is downright amazing how little the distractions seem to matter at all to me. The continuing pattern of the fall is unmistakable, and the details just aren't important. The nature of the distraction seems self evident, and "proof" is not required when the divine is showing the path.

As always, the voiceover provides a scathing commentary to the disintegration.

Thank you D-poet for your perspective, it is allways mentally enriching. But somehow I have the feeling that this Norway incident is a different breed of fish...

I am myself a Norwegian. This incident is something that not just has happened IN my county, but TO my country. And it seems all of it comes from within. In other words there are noone other to directly 'blaim' than ourselves. But this time I will not be taking part in the 'blamegame'. The reason beeing that everything points the same way: lone sosiopath with the possibilitys created by an open, advanced and rich society.

This is a major shock to us alll, but never before have I been more proud of beeng Norwegian than in theese last days. Especially when I see the reaction from the kids who survived this ordeal. If they, and their equals, are the fundament of our common future we have little to fear!

And if you want a further glimpse of the possible future, then you have to lift your gaze, take a few steps back, and see how the ordinary people of Norway reacts to this incident. The world may have something to learn here... If we react to the actions of psychopaths with their own thinking and action, we loose. What has the Norwegians done? They have racted diametrically oposite to what the psychopath wanted.

The psychopaths are fighting for our conciousness. Do not give it to them! Do not play their game!

WOW! Your two greatest quotes are below:

“Israel is on the wrong side of history and everything they do, exposes them for what they are, a bloodthirsty cabal of non-Semitic interlopers, seeking to forge the historical record and write themselves into ancient locations that they never occupied in the first place”

“I should mention that their hijacking of the Christian fundamentalist, cartoon absurdist religion has also stood them in good stead, with a massive chorus of lemmings and cannon fodder at their disposal; “the enemy of my enemy is my friend”.

I am so alone as a Christian in this country I call America. Every “fundamentalist” I talk too repeats the same old Pro Israel crap. I even had an opportunity to explain in SIMPLE terms that that these people we call jews are actually Khazars, Edomites, or European converts to one such “Fundamentalist”. It was like talking to a brick.

I further explained to him the atrocities by these monsters and that too was to no avail. He basically gave Israel a pass and explained that the Jews needed to protect themselves from the Palestinian “Terrorists”

Finally I explained to him that his bible he claims states support for Israel says no such thing. I explained to Him that the bible was annotated by one Cyrus Schofield for the purposeful manipulation of the masses to accept Zionism.

Only God can open these peoples minds.

I have been thinking about this all night and it would seem very possible. The main reason is that otherwise the real patsy (Breivik) might begin to reveal the truth once in custody.

That in turn means it's the patsy double who is in custody. Also explains why the (late) arriving swat team took the patsy double without a shot - he was one of theirs. This lays bare the corruption in Norwegian police security with Rothschild/zionist have you ever

run through a field
as fast as you can

at night in the dark trusting solely in your instincts

and some - thing

you can't explain ?

it's hard to describe the sensation of total abandonment

but you never forget it

absolute trust
equals
absolute freedom

that's all the math
i need to know

Yep, the 'fix' is in:

Could accused Norway killer land in

luxurious prison?

Confessed mass murderer Anders Behring Breivik may end up serving time in a newly built maximum-security prison that's considered among the world's most luxurious, according to The Telegraph.

The prison, Halden Fengsel, opened last year outside of Oslo and houses around 250 male inmates. But a Norwegian news outlet TV2 claims Breivik will more likely end up in Ila prison, which is less cushy than Halden, but still "a far cry" from the bare cells of American prisons.

The documentary photographer Alex Masi writes that the cells in Halden are equipped "with an en-suite bathroom, a flat-screen TV and various comforts. They measure 12 [square meters--about 129 square feet] and are divided up into units (10 to 12) which share a living room and kitchen," much like a college dorm. Time Magazine described the cells as resembling an Ikea showroom, complete with "stainless-steel countertops, wraparound sofas and birch-colored coffee tables."

The art budget for the facility came in at more than a million dollars, Masi says, while the cells are brightly painted and lack bars on the windows. Inmates take specialty cooking classes or choose from many other courses at an in-prison high school. They can jog around the 75-acre wooded facility or even climb on the prison's rock walls.

According to Time, prison guards are required to help each inmate make his sentence "as meaningful, enlightening and rehabilitating as possible." About half of the prison guards are women, since research has suggested that a corps of female guards can help reduce aggression among the prison population. The unarmed guards eat meals and play games with prisoners.

"Life without parole" is not an option.

P.S. It's worth clicking on the link to see this luxurious 'prison,' which is more tastefully decorated and cost more to furnish than my humble abode.
