

Senate Seeks to Create Caesar

May 8th, 2011 by TMH

By: Terresa Monroe-Hamilton

The Apotheosis Of Barack Obama

~~Senatus Populusque Romanus~~ — Imperius Rex et Populusque Americanus

While all of America is distracted and focused on the death of Osama bin Laden, our President and his minions have been fast at work laying the groundwork for S. 679: Presidential Appointment Efficiency and Streamlining Act of 2011 to speed through the Senate and then make its way into the House and then to the President to sign. Yes, the other hand is quickly forming into a dictatorial fist that is about to smash our Constitution.

As you will recall, the beginning of the end of liberty in Rome commenced with Augustus Caesar who compromised the authority of the Senate through the force of arms and basically the Senate became a facade. America is poised with this proposed bill, to morph immediately from a Republic into an empire with the privileged eunuchs of the Senate as window dressing and a dictator – the first American Caesar – at the country's helm.

And leading the progressive charge is Chuck Schumer (D-NY). No big surprise there. Schumer is an elitist Marxist and a first class progressive who hates America almost as much as he loves power. He introduced S. 679 on March 30th, 2011. He was joined by a gaggle of progressives from the left and the right. This is something I have been warning Americans about for a long time. If we are to survive as a nation, we must rid ourselves of ALL progressives or our nation is doomed and freedom will be swept into the dustbin of history. Schumer's esteemed list of constitutional traitors is as follows:

- Sen. Lamar Alexander (R-TN)
- Sen. Jeff Bingaman (D-NM)
- Sen. Richard Blumenthal (D-CT)
- Sen. Scott Brown (R-MA)
- Sen. Thomas Carper (D-DE)
- Sen. Susan Collins (R-ME)
- Sen. Richard Durbin (D-IL)
- Sen. Mike Johanns (R-NE)
- Sen. Jon Kyl (R-AZ)
- Sen. Joseph Lieberman (I-CT)

- Sen. Richard Lugar (R-IN)
- Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY)
- Sen. John Reed (D-RI)
- Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV)
- Sen. Sheldon Whitehouse (D-RI)

From The Heritage Foundation, here is a succinct explanation of the bill:

The bill reduces the number of presidential appointments that require the consent of the Senate and establishes within the executive branch a Working Group on Streamlining Paperwork for Executive Nominations. Individuals nominated to senior executive offices suffer slow and detailed background investigations and mounds of duplicative paperwork before a President sends their nominations to the Senate. After nomination, many nominees suffer time-consuming inaction or time-consuming and excruciating action as the Senate proceeds (or does not) with consideration of the nomination. The sponsors of S. 679 have identified a valid problem, but proposed the wrong solution. Congress should not enact S. 679.

In essence they want to give the President the sole power to appoint people to positions of his choosing within our government. Obama would be free to do this without the approval of the Senate. Senate approval of such positions is mandated by the U.S. Constitution in Article II, Section 2 under the “Appointments Clause”:

... shall nominate, and by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law: but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments. (emphasis added)

This bill will do away with the checks and balances that separate an American form of government from those such as Venezuela and Brazil. Already we have power mongers such as Cass Sunstein our Regulatory Czar (more commonly known as the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs and more aptly titled the Office of Government Propaganda) running amok across the US using agencies such as the EPA as a weapon of regulation and control. There is not a single area in our country that Sunstein does not have his claws sunk deep into. It should scare the crap out of Americans, but all I hear are crickets. The silence of capitulation seals our fate as surely as the thunderous applause of approval – so ends the Republic.

More from The Heritage Foundation:

When the delegates of the states gathered in Philadelphia in the summer of 1787 and wrote the Constitution, they distributed the powers of the federal government among two Houses of Congress, a President, and a judiciary, and required in many cases that two of them work together to exercise a particular constitutional power. That separation of powers protects the liberties of the American people by preventing any one officer of the government from aggregating too much power.

The Framers of the Constitution did not give the President the kingly power to appoint the senior officers of the government by himself. Instead, they allowed the President to name an individual for a senior office, but then required the President to obtain the Senate’s consent before appointing the individual to office. Thus, they required the cooperation of the President and the Senate to put someone in high office.

I know Americans have not forgotten about Obama’s string of Czars. Czars that he was supposed to downsize or get rid of. Czars, which in my personal viewpoint, were and still are illegal under the Constitution. But progressives never go away, they just shift... As has done so many of Obama’s Czars. With this sweeping bill, over 200 positions will no longer require Senate approval. Obama will dictate who are his powerful lieutenants and who will control America. The Senate will merely be a sham to parrot Obama’s dictates. With this bill, checks and balances will be effectively nullified.

What does that portend you say? One day, your right to own a gun will be gone, just regulated away. Businesses will be nationalized even more than they are now. Heavy regulation will ensue concerning communications and the Internet. Many, many private businesses will wither and die. You will be told what and how much to eat – food and gas rationing will become the norm. Poverty and squalor will become equal for all as wealth is redistributed to other nations. If there are elections, they will be a joke and pointless. There will be a few powerful elites and then the masses. Guess which camp you and I will be in?

Our best hope at this juncture is that this abomination will be stopped in the House. We must weed out the progressives and we must win in 2012. This country will not survive another four years of progressive policies. Not as a Republic and not as a free entity anyway.

The bitter irony on display here, is that the same jackals that have barked and snarled and feigned horror at “American Imperialism,” are the very ones who now howl their support for a true American empire. All hail Caesar!

Share and Enjoy:

Posted in American Stuff, Authors, Constitution, Founding Fathers, History, Military, Politics, Question\(s\) of the Day, Survival, Teresa Monroe-Hamilton, Terrorism | 44 Comments

44 Comments to “Senate Seeks to Create Caesar”

1. on 08 May 2011 at 6:07 pm 1TrevorLoudon.com: New Zeal Blog » Senate Seeks to Create Caesar

[...] Seeks to Create Caesar Submitted by Teresa on May 8, 2011 – 10:06 pm EST No Comment Share NoisyRoom By: Teresa [...]

2. on 08 May 2011 at 6:14 pm 2Senate Seeks to Create Caesar

[...] Tweet NoisyRoom [...]

3. on 08 May 2011 at 7:03 pm 3NAJ

Excellent article! Thanks for bringing this to everyone’s attention. We’ve got to push against the passage of this bill!!

4. on 08 May 2011 at 10:57 pm 4President Obama wants sole power to appoint people « The Radio Patriot

[...] Senate Seeks to Create Caesar [...]

5. on 09 May 2011 at 3:00 am 5Sissy Willis

Sickening to see Scott Brown, for whom I — as a red stater behind enemy lines here in Massachusetts — worked my heart and soul out to win what we naively called, then, The People’s Seat, formerly known as The Kennedy Seat.

GREAT post. I am calling Brown’s office later on this morning, have notified him via twitter.

6. on 09 May 2011 at 3:18 am 6While YOU were busy with the Bin Laden News: The Senate Seeks to Create Caesar « Romanticpoet's Weblog

[...] NoisyRoom [...]

7. on 09 May 2011 at 3:36 am 7Simon

I have a hard time seeing this as anything but an overreaction. Teresa claims that “Senate approval of such positions is mandated by the U.S. Constitution in Article II, Section 2 under the ‘Appointments Clause” and then—as if to save me the bother—immediately quotes language from Article II that says otherwise. The appointments clause allows “Congress ... [to] vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone,” and all the officers involved in this bill meet the inferior officer test of Edmond v. United States, so what’s the problem again?

8. on 09 May 2011 at 3:37 am 8Leroy M. Boser

This bill is rediculus! If the senate doesn’t have confirmation oversite then what does it have. What’s next? Supreme Court appointees whithout senate review?

9. on 09 May 2011 at 4:12 am 9The Morning Links \(5/9\) | From the Desk of Lady Liberty

[...] Obama is all over the television keeping us distracted. Distracted from what? From S. 679: Presidential Appointment Efficiency and Streamlining Act of 2011. He wants more unchecked power and it seems to me he’s forming a dictatorship. Bookmark this article. [...]

10. on 09 May 2011 at 5:29 am 10Obama Et al, Provoking Civil War? Or Crowning Obama King! | My Blog

[...] Amplify’d from noisyroom.net [...]

11. on 09 May 2011 at 6:45 am 11Ron Boss Sr

IMPEACH THE MENTALLY DERANGED (AS IN NERO) BARACK HUSSEIN OBAMA, PRETENDER TO THE OFFICE OF PRESIDENT.....!

12. on 09 May 2011 at 7:29 am 12Obama Et al, Provoking Civil War? Or Crowning Obama King! | beawaretoday

[...] Amplify’d from noisyroom.net [...]

13. on 09 May 2011 at 7:57 am 13Back! Not dead but wounded, Sirrah! | The Anchoress

[...] rather likes this “wartime president” thing. Relegates stories about the economy, jobs, strange maneuvers, stealth budgets, expanding and “gangster” government, fakery and so forth to the back [...]

14. on 09 May 2011 at 8:43 am 14Daily Dive-9 May 11 | adeliemanhot

[...] Senate Seeks to Create Caesar Senatus Populusque Romanus — Imperius Rex et Populusque Americanus While all of America is distracted and focused on the death of Osama bin Laden, our President and his minions have been fast at work laying the groundwork for S. 679: Presidential Appointment Efficiency and Streamlining Act of 2011 to speed through the Senate and then make its way into the House and then to the President to sign. Yes, the other hand is quickly forming into a dictatorial fist that is about to smash our Constitution. [...]

15. on 09 May 2011 at 9:37 am 15Will Senate confirmation disappear? - Conservative News and Views

[...] to the Congress. This is exactly the sort of power that S. 679 vests in the President. (See also “Senate Seeks to Create Caesar,” Noisy Room, May 8, [...]

16. on 09 May 2011 at 11:09 am 16Mt Top Patriot

There’s going to be a fight.
Liberty verses tyranny

17. on 09 May 2011 at 1:19 pm 17NoisyRoom.net » Blog Archive » Senate Seeks to Create Caesar |

[...] via NoisyRoom.net » Blog Archive » Senate Seeks to Create Caesar. [...]

18. on 09 May 2011 at 1:35 pm 18tom swift

It all depends on which offices the bill is about. Many of them, mainly cabinet posts and the various czars, have no constitutional status one way or the other. Congress approves (or otherwise) those appointees, but not because the Constitution give Congress authority to do so. The concept of “checks and balances” guides the Constitutional relationship BETWEEN the branches of government, or between the US government and other governments (hence the congressional approval for ambassadors), not the internal makeup of any one branch. So, for example, both the Executive and the Legislature can get their oars in when some of the bigger positions in the Judiciary are filled. So far, so good. But it does not follow, either logically or historically, that outside persons should be able to fiddle with the makeup of the Executive management team. As we see in real life – Congress had a bit to say about who’s in the present Cabinet, but they still ended up being a gaggle of clownish amateurs, not to mention tax cheats. So much for Congressional oversight even when it’s intact.

The problem with Augustus wasn’t his appointments; it was that there was no way to get rid of him (short of assassination or civil war), and no reliable way to influence the choice of the succeeding Emperor. Even so, some emperors were elected (in some fashion) by the Senate and/or the Eques. Sometimes that overtly oligarchic process worked out well, the best example perhaps being Nerva, the first of Gibbon’s “five good emperors” (to reach five rather than six, Gibbon didn’t count Lucius Verus, Marcus Aurelius’s co-emperor).

19. on 09 May 2011 at 1:45 pm 19Pretend Constitutionlists Who Haven’t Read The Document They Slaver Over « The Odd Blog

[...] Stupid wingnuts are stupid. [The President] by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law: but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone [...]. [...]

20. on 09 May 2011 at 2:33 pm 20NAJ

The trolls are out in full force with their spinning. You must have hit an important nerve TMH. GREAT JOB!!! Keep up the excellent reporting!!!

21. on 09 May 2011 at 2:46 pm 21Senate Seeks to Create Caesar | a12iggymom's Blog

[...] Seeks to Create Caesar Posted on May 9, 2011 by a12iggymom Trevor Louden and NoisyRoom By: Terresa [...]

22. on 09 May 2011 at 3:28 pm 22Arfin Greebly

Irony:

The process “needs to be streamlined” because handling all the process and paperwork for this “overwhelming volume of appointees” takes too much of everyone’s time and effort.

No one seems to be interested in why we need more than a thousand executive appointments, including the ironically named “czars” (Caesars) whose authority is largely unchecked.

Right about the time someone came to me with [DramaQueen] OMG! We simply must do something about streamlining all these legions of appointments! It’s just so hard with all the Senate interference. [/DramaQueen], I would be reaching for my Plus-Five Clipboard of Doom to identify which parts of the government bloat need to be eliminated so that the appointment list comes back down to a humanly manageable level.

And the first appointments to be considered, after completely superfluous cabinet appointments (Secretary of Education, anyone?) would be any position whose title contains a word derived from the Latin “Caesar.” The term may have been “cute” when it was adopted, but trends toward “total government” have rendered it no longer funny.

No, absolutely do not make appointments easier for this president.

What the hell is wrong with people? Chucky Schumer, tyranny's emissary, offers this "solution" to slaving over a hot cauldron of totalitarian minion appointments, and all anybody can come up with is how "reasonable" it all sounds?

Gads.

~~ AG

23. on 09 May 2011 at 5:41 pm23val wynn

Like those of us watching this character since 07 didn't see this coming. No surprise! What is the surprise is how totally ignorant the masses are regarding our government. Kinda thought that when inflation started (high gas prices & food which are not counted in the gvt index for inflation) to hit the zombies in the pocket they'd start to Wake Up! Well I guess not. The progressive movement has worked behind the scenes for so many years & they now see the light at the end of the tunnel. Their strategy of divide & conquer brilliant. Even those of us who are 'Christians' let these scum bags shadow our hearts toward our fellow citizens who were easily duped. How lucky for us we weren't. But, what did we do with our intuition ? Nothing! We waited till the wolves had 3 walls blown down before we thought to start bracing for what will come next. Plato 350b.c. said 'The Penalty Good Men Will Pay for NOT being Interested in Politics, is to be Governed by Men WORSE than Themselves.' Now say your prayers and hope that our Lord will not turn away from us in our hour of need. God Bless America

24. on 09 May 2011 at 5:56 pm24The powers of the Executive Branch are expanding, more totalitarian, more dictatorial

[...] further reduce the number of federal positions that require approval by the Senate. This means the President would be able to appoint whomever he'd like to over 200 Federal government positions without being checked [...]

25. on 09 May 2011 at 7:26 pm25While all of America is distracted they have been fast at work laying the groundwork for S. 679: Presidential Appointment Efficiency and Streamlining Act of 2011 | United States National Blog

[...] Senate Seeks to Create Caesar [...]

26. on 09 May 2011 at 7:49 pm26Jeffery Dunhill

I agree that this bill is a travesty. What bothers me about this article is statements like, "a gaggle of progressives from the left and the right." Nonsense. If you want to demonize the left, or liberals, (or, "progressives") fine...but that's kind of hard to do when R's and D's attempt this kind of garbage in a bi-partisan way...there's nothing particularly "progressive" about this bill...nor the majority of its congressional proponents. I've seen this sort of labeling technique employed before...maybe the writer is unfamiliar with the term and uses it innocently (albeit incorrectly) but I doubt it. More likely, those of a conservative mindset, rather than accepting that their supposed representatives have sold them down the river, instead invent a fiction like a "right-wing progressive." Nope. That animal is a contradiction in terms. Just because you don't like something doesn't make it synonymous with everything else you don't like. And besides last time I checked there were about two truly "progressive" congressional representatives period. The rest are simply unscrupulous politicians regardless of party or rhetoric.

27. on 09 May 2011 at 9:12 pm27NAJ

Jeffery, what do you call the 80+ members of the Congressional Progressive Caucus? Also, are there any Republicans who vote the majority of the time with self-proclaimed Progressives? If you ask Chuck Schumer (he introduced the bill) whether he's a Progressive, what do you think his answer will be? Former Senator Hillary Clinton said she's proud to be a Progressive, and she worked closely with Schumer because they shared the same views and were working toward the same agenda.

The bill is meant to usurp the authority and responsibility of the Senate to be a check-and-balance for the Executive Branch. Just like the healthcare reform bill is meant to usurp the authority and responsibility of We The People to purchase what we want from whoever we want... or not. Putting control in their hands to exert their will over others is consistent with the government officials who proudly call themselves "Progressives". But if there's another name for them, do tell.

28. on 10 May 2011 at 2:01 am28Bart

Charles Schumer is a Marxist? Boy, are you batshit.

29. on 10 May 2011 at 4:59 am29McGehee

Sadly, I'm not all that surprised to see a former Secretary of Education at the top of that list. Nor that it's a Republican.

As for Bart @ 28, I am profoundly moved by your detailed refutation of the claim that Sen. Schumer is a Marxist. I would like to subscribe to your newsletter.

30. on 10 May 2011 at 6:37 am30Wes

In stead of giving big government more power, let's reduce government power. Wake up America before it's too late!!!!

31. on 10 May 2011 at 6:49 am31Mike88

It is typical that Dick Durbin would sign on to this legislation he is another American hating Constitutional hating Senator and unfortunately he is from the Union controlled state of Illinois. God Dick Durbin is an embarrassment to the people of the state of Illinois. Unfortunately, the Unions that still control Illinois continue voting him into office to represent their interests. If there was ever a need for term limits for Senators and House members, Dick Durbin would be a prime example of why we need term limits, so we the people could limit the amount of damage these Senators could do over the period of time they serve in office.

32. on 10 May 2011 at 7:02 am32jon

America will not wake up until its too late, and the United Nations is beating on your door. By then 99 percent of America will be obese and out of work and unable to read or walk without the aid of crutches, orthopedic shoes or a power chair.

America has morally collapsed, now we have the government talking about a no train ride list, just like the no fly list with no due process as we try to assassinate world leaders, and bomb other countries without the approval of Congress!

33. on 10 May 2011 at 12:56 pm33Van buiten bont, van binnen stro.. « robertpostnl

[...] Het is een nieuwe stap richting een totale, en totalitaire, politiestaat. Ondertussen wordt buiten het zicht van het grote publiek, dat is afgeleid door het nieuws over de buitengerechtelijke executie van Osama Bin Laden en de daaropvolgende perikelen rond Pakistan, door dezelfde senator Schumer gewerkt aan een nieuwe wet, die de macht van de Amerikaanse president uitbreidt. [...]

34. on 10 May 2011 at 1:08 pm34SIRENS should be blazing!!!!...this is NOT a joke or a drill!! | a12iggymom's Blog

[...] As you will recall, the beginning of the end of liberty in Rome commenced with Augustus Caesar who compromised the authority of the Senate through the force of arms and basically the Senate became a facade. America is poised with this proposed bill, to morph immediately from a Republic into an empire with the privileged eunuchs of the Senate as window dressing and a dictator – the first American Caesar – at the country's helm. Full Piece [...]

35. on 10 May 2011 at 2:07 pm35atone

I've read the bill and I see nothnig that is dangerous to our rights. I think the conspiracy wackos need to jump on something and are just super paranoid. Wow people, just wow

36. on 10 May 2011 at 2:34 pm36America: Emperor Rising « The Virginia Rifleman

[...] Hail, Caesar! Those who are about to murder the Constitutionists salute you! [...]

37. on 10 May 2011 at 5:33 pm37Jim Forsythe

This bill is a stupid idea! Just look at the losers that Obama has already appointed. We should tighten up on the requirements – lot loosen up.

38. on 10 May 2011 at 7:44 pm38Bypassing the Constitution - Senate Bill 679 | What Would The Founders Think?

[...] Noisy Room has written an excellent article about this horrible piece of legislation making its way through the Senate. The article is based on some information from the Heritage Foundation. Please read it. God help us. [...]

39. on 10 May 2011 at 8:50 pm39UpChuck.Liberals

The real question is will Boehner roll over to get his tummy rubbed? How come this is making Atlas Shrugged seem more and more real. Who is John Galt?

40. on 10 May 2011 at 9:55 pm40Senate Seeks to Create Caesar | Accents Community

[...] View article: Senate Seeks to Create Caesar [...]

41. on 10 May 2011 at 10:28 pm41Watcher of Weasels » Watcher's Council Nominations – The Living Bones Edition

[...] The Noisy Room – Senate Seeks To Create Caesar [...]

42. on 10 May 2011 at 11:50 pm42Karl

Looks to me like all the presidents, politicians and judges are window dressing. We live under a dictator and his name is Evelyn Rothschilds. He was so bold on CNBC to come right out and say that the Senators will do whatever he tells them to do, as not following directions, those who don't would "learn." (as in John Kennedy learning what happens after signing a bill to toss the federal reserve banking ie Rothschilds strangle hold on American and the WORLD!)

Evelyn has his legal team working in Century City at Fox Rothschilds, LLP on 1800 Century Park East, and built had the arrogance to build the Headquarters Court of the World already back in 1994 in Jerusalem...the Jerusalem Supreme Court. Now that's confidence in agenda for his crazy "new world order."

I'm confident Rothschilds is in direct communication with Satan and the rumors that the family sets a place at the dinner table is not rumor but reality. 500 trillion USD buys a whole lot of power and influence and like I said before, what cupcake sits in the White House or in a senate seat is totally irrelevant...as they are all errand boys.

I wouldn't be surprised if Jacob and Evelyn actually choose Obama as president because he looks like a monkey. A perfect "look" to mock Americans. "Look at those America simpletons, they have a monkey leading them" (says Evelyn, lmao)

What surprises me is that no ambitious military guy has fragged the entire family and seized the assets, making himself king of the world?

Such hasn't happened because Satan is running the show until Jesus kicks the Devil to the curb. We truly are in a battle of principalities and powers. Choose to tell the Beast to "shove it". Reject the "mark" and save your souls. Put on the full armor of Christ and let's live out the rest of this crazy ride worry free. God Bless everyone!

43. on 11 May 2011 at 12:41 am 43Rabbit HOLE

I love it when I see the kool-aid drinkers who thought 'CHANGE YOU CAN BELIEVE IN' wouldn't morph into BUSH III here and turn into "NIGHTMARISH DICTATORSHIP YOU WISHED YOU COULD WAKE THE HELL UP FROM" now.

drop the party allegiances folks. both are merged at the hip, and this time we truly are too far down the rabbit hole to be polarized like that. wake up.

44. on 11 May 2011 at 1:14 am 44Senate Seeks to Create Caesar | ClipsNewsNetwork

[...] Monroe-HamiltonNoisyRoom.netMay 11, [...]

Trackback URI | Comments RSS

Leave a Comment Below

Name (required)

Mail (hidden) (required)

Website

Submit Comment

NoisyRoom.net © 2011 All Rights Reserved. Rainbow Style Theme by WordPress Themes

Back to Top

Indoor Lighting | Cyprus Villas | Walk in Baths | Vista Themes